Vol. LXIX. MAY 24, 1902. No. 1784

IN some instances banks report a falling off in the commercial demand for money, but are unable to say whether this is due to a decline in business or to better collections which keep merchants in funds and make them independent of the market. Whatever may be the reason for this, it is certain that there is more hesitation in undertaking new operations than has been observable for some time. This hesitation is natural in view of the advances in wages and the increase in the cost of materials. A continuation of demand for manufactured goods or a renewal if the demand has fallen off, would remove this hesitation very quickly, but it is evident that something is required to supply a new or a continuing impetus to business. This may come over-night, but until it does come, the situation will be an uncertain one. As to the Stock Market, it has only been in a natural condition this week on the days on which prices declined. The advances of Tuesday and Wednesday were forced by the initiative of a few aggressive speculators. The more conservative hesitate to move while prices are so high and the outcome of the anthracite strike and the prospective results of the agricultural year are as uncertain as they now are.

THE only features of the foreign markets worthy of notice are: The steady rise in Consols, which have advanced about five points since we first caled attention to their virtues, and the manipulation of American stocks from that side of the ocean. There is not a bit of doubt that Consols will sell at par in the near future, and good probabilities that they will sell considerably above it before a great while. These consummations may be delayed by a failure of the peace negotiations in South Africa, though such a contingency is unlikely, but they would be delayed only. To our mind the Boer War does not count for much in the situation; except in the way described last week, its issues have been very largely discounted. It is now a matter of money and investment sentiment. The important facts bearing on the future of Consols are, the steady accumulation of money and the growing preference of the public for high-class investment issues. An illustration, to be added to others previously given, of the heavy demand for government and municipal securities is furnished by the announcement that German subscriptions alone for the $25,000,000 Vienna loan offered for subscription in Germany, Austria, Switzerland, Belgium and Holland, amounted to $1,560,000,000. The city of Leipzig will soon bring out a loan of $2,500,000 at 3½ per cent. Because of proceeding matters, Rand Mines are active at intervals, the movement varying according to whether the news, if such it may be called, of the moment indicates success or failure of the peace deliberations and there is naturally a good deal of discussion as to the value of the different mines. Among others the "London Economist" is giving attention to the matter, and its standing and conservatism make its opinions and those of its correspondents valuable. It may interest some to know the mines the "Economist's" special commissioner on the grounds recommends and the conditions they comply with. He holds that: "The mines which the investors may look on as belonging to the very highest class of mining investment are few in number and must be located on one of the good patches of the Rand; must yield ore of rich, or medium value; have a good record over its previous history; be developed far ahead of present requirements; the ore so exposed must be up to the general average of the mine; the mines on each side of it must also be fully developed, showing that good ore may be reckoned on near their boundaries; and, finally, a point of great importance, the deep level of the mine in question must be a payable and thoroughly developed mine." Under these exacting requirements he says: "Of the 34 outcrop mines of the Central Rand, I can only pick out 12 miles as being in this very best class. To these, as being equally sound in all respects, I add Bonanza and Durban Roodepoort. The list of the safest Rand mines, therefore, consists of 14 properties, and is as folows: Robinson, Crown Reef, Ferreira, Wemmer, Salisbury, Jubilee, Henry Nourse, New Heriot, Geldenhuis Estate, Treasury, New Primrose, May Consolidated, Bonanza and Durban Roodepoort. An investor may to-day buy any of these shares, and, if he so wishes, hold them with safety till the mine is worked out."

Congress and Labor.

FOR the second time this session the House has passed a bill demanded in the interests of labor, which shows the influence possessed at the moment by labor leaders over that body. The bill passed this week is the Eight-Hour Bill; it provides for an eight-hour day on all government work, including that done by private contract. The bill was reported from the Committee on Labor, and passed without either division or debate. In much the same way the measure known as the Anti-Injunction Bill went through the House, earlier in the session. Of the two the latter is by far the most important concession to labor and the one that contains most of what is known as "politics."

In adopting the eight-hour principle for government work, the House has but followed the example of politicians in some of the States, but for the Anti-Injunction Bill the States afforded no precedent, and it more than the other reveals in the dominant party a desire to cater to the mass of voters, rather than provide a solution for a difficult problem. According to its sponsors, this bill is intended to place labor organizations in the position of individuals so far as the freedom of their acts is concerned and under its provisions the exercise of injunctions to restrain the doing of acts by such combinations, provided such acts are not intended to and do not injure persons or property, would be prevented. The majority report presented to Congress explained the purpose of the bill in the following words: "It will permit men in large bodies, in the employ of companies doing an interstate business, to combine or agree to quit work when by such action they do not knowingly endanger or destroy life or property." The bill is unspecific in its terms. The laboring public are allowed to presume that, if it were passed, strikes could be organized, and any measure short of physical violence employed to prevent the employer from filling the strikers' places, without his being able to obtain from the courts an injunction to restrain either one or the other of these acts. Yet the moment it was attempted to give effect to this presumption, the question would come up as to what was meant by knowingly endangering life or property; was it merely physical or bodily injury, or any injury, such as pecuniary loss or that arising from disuse of plant, etc.? The sudden stoppage of work would inevitably work damage to the employer and there are no circumstances under which labor combinations could order a stoppage without being conscious of this being the effect of their order. To say then that the employer shall not apply to the courts for a restraining order to prevent a violation of a contract, under such circumstances, would be an attempt to deprive him of his rights that could hardly receive judicial approval.

Moreover, the bill is reprehensible because it is one of the agencies that are diverting the discussion of the labor question from its proper channel—the consideration of the means by which employers and employed may be brought to see the wisdom of arranging their difficulties among themselves, without outside interference and without the partiality of legislatures. Until two years ago, this was decidedly the objective point, with the courts thoroughly impartial and ready to afford protection to one side as to the other. The interference of well-meaning, but ill-advised philantrophy has since resulted in drawing apart employers and men, and has caused them to seek extraneous and mainly sentimental aid in furthering their individual views, in preference to hammering out their troubles between themselves in the business-like way that their best friends were led to believe a year or so ago they had finally decided to do. It hardly needs pointing out that some of the labor troubles of this spring would never have occurred if the men had not relied upon outside interference to carry demands that their merits could never secure.

Naturally the Anti-Injunction Bill has aroused the opposition of manufacturers all over the country, and it is probably due to their representations that the Senate, though they have now had it before them for a month or more, show no inclination to pass it. The Senate will doubtless hear from the contractors on the subject of the Eight-Hour Bill, and be equally deliberate over that. They cannot fail to see that the attitude of labor is one, and probably the most important of the things that will create hesitation in all lines of business and perhaps bring to a conclusion the period of exceptional prosperity all have been enjoying in recent years.

The Real Estate Situation

For the last two weeks there has been a perceptible increase of activity on Washington Heights. This movement has not been anything like as great as it was last spring; but it appears to be of a somewhat different character. A year ago several large syndicates were busily engaged in accumulating long lines of vacant lots on the Heights, for the most part in central situations, with the obvious purpose of preparing against the day when a man could reach these regions from the City Hall in less than half an hour. This syndicate buying continued to a certain extent throughout the summer and the fall; but since then it has stopped almost entirely. The sales during the past two weeks were made in one or two cases by the syndicate, which did most of the purchasing a year ago, and while these sales are not being made direct to builders, the fact that active operators are the purchasers point towards a comparatively early beginning of the building movement. We have several times referred to the fact that at least by next fall a good deal of preliminary work should be beginning. It is too much to expect that the subway will be running by a year from next fall, but it will almost certainly be running by a year from next spring; and when its stations are opened for traffic, builders may be depended on to have plenty of house accommodations ready for them that want it. It may be expected that as on the West Side, the main business thoroughfare will receive at first the largest share of attention. In that instance the line of Columbus Ave. was well improved, while the other avenues and the side streets were comparatively neglected. This suggests the question: What avenue will be the main business thoroughfare on Washington Heights? At present Amsterdam Ave. undoubtedly occupies this position, because on Amsterdam Ave. runs the line of surface care, upon which people depend for their communications. But after the Subway is built it will be Broadway that for the most part will have this advantage, so that it is probable that the line of Broadway will be the line of improvement on Washington Heights. As for the kind of improvement it will obviously be a continuation of the sort of buildings which has been going up recently on Broadway west of the Park. It will possess a combined business and residential character, for the use of well-to-do people, such as has not been seen in New York until recently. Broadway, being the one diagonal avenue which New York is fortunate enough to possess, is secure in its position as throughout its whole length the chief business thoroughfare of Manhattan. On the West Side, it temporarily lost this distinction, but the Subway will give it an immense advantage over Columbus Ave., which will determine its primacy, and the same condition will prevail on Washington Heights.

Washington Heights.

More progress has been made during the past two years toward the transformation of Middle Fifth Ave. into a business thoroughfare, than during the previous decade. The process until recently was necessarily slow, because the number of firms, which could pay Fifth Ave. rentals, and sought Fifth Ave trade was small, and the best retail shops, that sold to a rich class of customers preferred the vicinity of Broadway and 23d St. But during the last two years there has been the liveliest kind of demand for space on Fifth Ave., between 26th and 47th Sts. The demand has come largely from important retail firms now or until recently situated in the vicinity of Broadway and 23d St. The three most recent and conspicuous examples of this movement are "Huyler's," which is altering an old brownstone building between 42d and 43d Sts.; the Gorham Manufacturing Co., which will open a large shop at 33d St. and Fifth Ave., opposite the Waldorf; and Appleton & Co., which will follow the example of Dodd, Mead & Co.,and rent a building nearer the Public Library. These instances, however, are merely the sequel of many more which have preceded them. Among the important firms which have either opened up new shops on Middle Fifth Ave., or have actually moved or made arrangements to move, are: Kaskel & Kaskel, The Aeolian Co., Knox and Dunlap the hatters, and a number of large interior decorating firms, and what is equally significant these removals are bringing with them an amount of reconstruction which is unusual on this part of the avenue. Ordinarily, in the past the old brownstone houses have not been altered any more than was necessary to adapt them to business purposes. But now the character of the alteration is frequently so radical as either to destroy the front of the old building, or perhaps, to substitute an entirely new building in its place. The consequence is that the appearance of the avenue is becoming much more business-like, animated and showy. It looks as if in the end the large retail firms at present situated on Union Square and Broadway, between 14th and 23d Sts., would all of them move to upper Fifth Ave., and that this part of Broadway would be absorbed by the expansion of the wholesale trade on Fifth Ave.

Middle Fifth Avenue.

There are no signs of any diminution in the number of improvements which are either being made or which are going to be made in the new wholesale district in and near Fifth Ave. Besides the five large buildings, which are being or are soon to be put up on Fifth Ave. itself, there are three others almost as large for the side streets. The lofts now in course of construction continue to be rented from the plans. Among the new lines of trade, which are beginning to show a tendency to move are the wholesale lace houses. One of the largest houses in that line, viz.: Goldenberg Bros., recently took space in the Constable Building; while another, P. K. Wilson & Sons, has rented three floors in the building now in course of construction at the corner of Fifth Ave. and 18th St. It by no means follows that the other lace houses will copy these examples, for the opinion in the trade is very much divided upon the advantages of shifting its habitation from the neighborhood of Broome St. to lower Fifth Ave. At the other end of the avenue also persistent and carefully calculated buying is still taking place. A number of purchases of flat property on and near Madison Ave., north of 85th St., are reported this week. These properties are obviously not being bought for the income which they yield, which is probably very small. They are being bought with the expectation that eventually they will be torn down to make way for handsome residences, and that in such an event they will be worth very much more than they are worth merely as flat property.

Other Parts of the Avenue.

AS to the Williamsburg or Delancey St. bridge approach, for news of which so many are anxiously waiting, the views expressed by President Cantor on another page, probably may be taken as those of the administration. As was stated in these columns some time ago, so far as the administration's intentions can be gathered, they are to open the approach by widening Delancey St. on the south side as far as the Bowery, whenever the progress on the work of the bridge itself makes it appear that the approach should be made. If such is their intention it is a pity that they do not declare it officially, and allow the property affected to accommodate itself to that arrangement.

THE spring number of "Municipal Affairs" contains a most interesting and significant analysis of the probable cost of the street railway system owned and operated by the Metropolitan Street Railway Co. The figures given are obviously subject to error, but the estimates have been so carefully made that they are worth close scrutiny. In brief it is calculated that the total cost value of the Metropolitan system is within $60,000,000. The net earnings of the company for the year ending June 30, 1900, were $8,083,300—amounting to 13.3 per cent. on the $60,000,000 previously reckoned as the cost value of the physical property. If the system were capitalized at $60,000,000, —divided into $30,000,000 4 per cent bonds. and $30,000,000 stock, the interest on the bonds and 8 per cent. on the stock would call for a total of $3,600,000 a year, leaving out of the $8,000,000 net earnings, the sum of $4,400,000, which would represent the yearly value of the franchises. The capitalized value of the franchise is at least $160,000,000 upon the basis of the original cost value, and probably exceeds $175,000,000 taking the present market value of the physical property. The writer of the article consequently reaches the conclusion that since the $4,400,000, which represents the yearly value of the franchise, is equal to 1 cent for every passenger carried, the company could probably, due allowance being made for the increase of business, charge a 3-cent fare and still earn fixed charges of 4 per cent on the bonds and 8 per cent. on the stock. These figures strongly suggest the desirability of a systematic and searching investigation into the question in all its aspects of the relation between the Metropolitan Street Railway Company and the city, such an investigation being undertaken by officials who would have full authority to examine persons and papers. Undoubtedly something can be done to recover for the people of New York part of the valuable property which has been unfortunately and needlessly given away in the past; but no fruitful action can be taken except on the basis of accurate and exhaustive information.

A NEW limit of cost for the Custom House building in this City has been fixed by the Senate Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds; this is $4,500,000 in place of $3,000,000. It is to be sincerely hoped that this will pass, because it is positively distressing to active New Yorkers to see the elaborate contractor's plant at Bowling Green lying idle. It makes them feel that the lack of enterprise of Congress is a reflection on their own enterprise, notwithstanding the rapidity with which they rush up big buildings built for private ownership. Similarly they would like to see something definitely done in regard to a new post office which must be built sooner or later, especially as they feel that the present housing of the post office in this city is not merely inadequate, but also rather contemptible for a city of the size and importance of this, to say nothing of the more important question of the health and comfort of the people who have to work therein.

Bids and Estimates.

INTERVIEWS WITH ARCHITECTS AND BUILDERS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

There is much common sense in the letter signed "Builder" in your last issue. To ask contractors to spend their time and ability in calculating the cost of a building without any intention of awarding the contract on its merits to the lowest bidder is plainly unfair. No builder should be asked to estimate in whom the architect had no confidence, or to whom he would not be willing to award the contract.

"Builder" is, however, unfortunate in his experiences, if he believes that this unfairness is due to a desire of the architect to secure a dishonest fee, or even due to the architect at all. Architects are not always the autocrats they are given the credit of being. An honest architect may be hampered by an owner or an owner's agent. For instance, recently an architect asked estimates with the avowed intention of giving "a fair field and no favor." As the bids were about to be submitted, the owner's real estate agent informed the architect that he intended to control the awarding of the contracts. The architect objected. The agent complained to the owner, who directed that the bids be submitted to his agent before awarding the contract, as he left his business affairs in the latter's hands. The bids were submitted, excepting one from a builder known to be in the favor of the agent. The agent then declared that only one of the bidders was competent to do the work—all were reliable men who had proved their ability by their work—and on the technical objection that the bids submitted were too high, proceeded on an entirely different course.

If all reliable builders would combine and refuse to estimate on any work unless the estimates were opened in their presence, and the contract, if the work proceeded, awarded to the lowest bidder, it would go far towards preventing the injustice complained of.

ARCHITECT.

The above letter was received this week from another architect, and it will be noticed, takes quite a different stand from the one published a week ago.

A Record and Guide representative has recently called upon a number of architects, builders, contractors and manufacturers of building materials, and we print herewith the result of these interviews.

Mr. Ernest Flagg makes it the rule in his office not to ask any one to estimate to whom he would not be willing to award the contract. In this way he is almost always able to take the lowest bid received, and thus avoids all trouble and criticism. If this plan were followed by all who have contracts to let, it would go far toward remedying existing evils, and so put a stop to the complaints so generally heard.

Mr. Walter Cook, of Babb, Cook & Willard, evinced great interest in the subject under discussion, and talked freely concerning the system of building now in practice, its faults and abuses, and some possible remedies for these abuses.

"I have always contended," said Mr. Cook, "that estimates should be paid for, that the owner should stand at least a share of the expense involved in preparing bids. In the case of a large building this cost amounts to several hundred dollars, and a builder should be compensated for his estimate for the same reason that an architect is paid for his plans and sketches. If a certain amount was demanded and paid as an evidence of good faith, a check would be put upon the promiscuous asking for bids. Where some architects now invite fifteen men to figure, the number would probably be reduced to five, even if such a small sum as $10 had to be paid to each invited bidder. These five men would obviously be the ones to whom the owner and architect would be willing to have the work go."

Mr. Cook has only one fault to find with the plan of opening the bids in the presence of the contractors, and then awarding the work strictly in accordance with the figures disclosed. "We will suppose," said he, "that bids are invited on a job to cost in the neighborhood of $500,000. When opened three of the bids are as follows: One for just $500,000; one for $499,700; and the third for $500,350. Now, on a building of this size the three bids are essentially the same, and the owner should not be obliged to accept the lowest of these three bids if for any reason he would rather have the higher man do the work."

The easiest and most satisfactory way, Mr. Cook thinks, would be to have the estimates paid for outright. In this way everyone would receive compensation for his time, and the owner would be perfectly free to make his own selection among the contractors. Moreover, fewer men would be asked to bid, and much unnecessary work now being done would be saved.

Mr. Robert Eidlitz, of Marc Eidlitz & Son, while admitting that the present system leads to abuse in a few cases, does not think there is often any real cause for dissatisfaction with the methods of the architects. It has been his experience that the lowest responsible bidder usually secures the contract. Mr. Eidlitz sees no great evils in the system as now in use, and desires no radical change.

A very prominent builder, whose name, which for obvious reasons we cannot use, condemns the system, but added that he himself was prospering because of some of its worst features.

"We have not," he said, "at present in our office a single contract which has not come to us partly through preference. In a number of instances I know that other men were invited to bid, simply that the owner might have something with which to compare my estimate, and if possible induce me to meet the price of a lower bidder. There was no fair play about it, and I was given the work over the heads of men who had submitted a figure lower than I was able to make.

"But on the other hand," he continued, "we are sometimes the catspaw. We have just finished an estimate on a big building for which our expenses have been nearly $1,000. From what I am able to learn I am quite convinced that at no time have we had a fair chance at the job, and our work will have to be charged to the profit and loss account."

Mr. S. Fischer Miller, Vice-President of the Tide-Water Building Co., when seen at his office, reviewed the situation very clearly, from his standpoint. In the opinion of Mr. Miller, contractors of established reputation have no cause for complaint of any kind, against the methods now in use, as practiced by the leading architects. When an owner or architect at the time he asks for bids, "reserves the right to reject any or all bids," for any reason which he may entertain, then those submitting figures for that particular piece of work have no just cause for disaffection if they do not secure the contract, even if they do happen to be the lowest bidders. Or if a contractor submits an estimate on a set of plans whereon he has not been invited to make a bid, and if for any reason the contract should go to a higher bidder, he has not, in Mr. Miller's judgment, any ground for complaint. It is perfectly legitimate for a man to crowd in his bid if he can, but he should and must be willing to run his chances and stand the attendant loss of time if he fails to secure the work. The complaints in the great majority of cases, Mr. Miller believes, come from men little known, and not from firms who have established for themselves names which stand for ability and square dealing.

Mr. Chas. T. Wills wishes to go on record as saying that in almost every case where there is complaint against architects, alleging unfair treatment of bids, it comes from irresponsible parties. He makes a strong plea for the purely personal element as a factor in awarding contracts, and does not look with favor upon any plan which would tend to eliminate or lessen it. If the contracts were in every case awarded to the lowest bidder, the high standard of work would at once fall off, there being no longer any incentive for a man to build up a reputation for work of superior quality.

A representative of the Louis Weber Building Co. says that to a large extent the troubles complained of exist. He thinks quite the ideal plan would be to have the owner and architect agree upon a certain number of reputable men, and ask only these to submit bids. At a time appointed let the estimates be made public in the presence of the competitors, and the contract let to the lowest among them.

Mr. Maher, of the firm of John Maher & Son, knows of many cases where contractors have been treated with great unfairness. The plan followed in their office is not to estimate on buildings unless they can assure themselves that they are going to get fair play.

A scheme in practice in a western city of some size has a number of seemingly desirable features. In this city the leading contractors have formed a little circle for their mutual benefit and protection. It is agreed that each shall add to his completed figures the sum of $500. Then the successful bidder divides the $500 among those who have estimated but failed to secure the contract. Thus the owner really pays a part of the cost of making the estimates. Of course, it is but a very small part, but seems to be a step in the right direction.

Mr. Rosenbaum, Vice-President of the Powhatan Clay Co., says that a great deal of "monkey business" unquestionably goes on behind the closed door of the contractor. By far the fairest way, in his opinion, would be to have the work of preparing an estimate paid for by the owner. He does not, however, see any prospect for an immediate betterment of the conditions.

Mr. Geo. N. Vanderbilt, Secretary of the Alfred Boote Co., said that the unfair use of bids was frequently met with in their business. A recent experience of his own was related as being a case in point. Their firm was asked to estimate on a job amounting to several thousand dollars. A few days later Mr. Vanderbilt learned that the work would go to another concern unless his bid was very much lower than that of the other company. He went to the contractor for whom the work was to be done, and said: "We hear that ——— is going to be given this contract, even if our figure should be a little below theirs. Is this a fact?" The contractor admitted that the company referred to was to get the contract unless the Boote Co. could hand in a bid a certain number of hundred dollars lower. Mr. Vanderbilt quite naturally refused to hand in a figure under such conditions.

Mr. Charles Siedler, President of the White Brick and Terra Cotta Co., showed great interest in the letters appearing in the Record and Guide, and most emphatically declared that the burden under which contractors of all grades are laboring by reason of the great amount of work entailed in making estimates has become intolerable. "From top to bottom," said Mr. Siedler, "the whole system as practiced in this city, is rotten. No other word describes it. Not only do architects misuse the bids of general contractors, but these same contractors in turn abuse the estimates of their sub-contractors, and these again betray the confidence of the men who furnish the materials for the building."

Mr. Siedler recounted case after case where the bids of his company had been shown to other bidders in order to influence their price, and this in spite of the fact that all estimates sent out from the office are stamped "all bids confidential." In his opinion at least a part of the burden of this laborious and costly work of estimating should fall on the man desiring the work done.

East Side Conditions.

THE BOWERY WAITING FOR THE BRIDGE APPROACH—THE NEW 40-FOOT TENEMENT.

"Bowery realty is stagnant just now," said George J. Kenny one day this week, "and I attribute this largely to the uncertainty about the Williamsburg Bridge approach. If the authorities will say what they are going to do in this matter, I think it would have a good effect upon Bowery property, but so long as it is not known how the approach will run, people will not do anything with the property that may be affected one way or the other by it.

"Speaking of the bridge reminds me that it has helped to bring about the tenement house building movement on the East Side, to which too little attention has been given, by the way. The removal of so many tenements to make way for the bridge approach east of Clinton st, and for small parks, has increased the demand for housing, and the tenement house law has directed the supply into larger tenements than can be erected on the 25-ft. lot. This building movement extends from north of East Houston st to, say, 23d st, east of the Bowery and 3d av. The movement began in that section south of 14th st, but has within the past six months extended north of that street to 23d st.

"This movement has created a demand for short plots with frontages of from 36 to 40 or so feet, and in meeting it the old-fashioned 3-sty dwellings on 19th, 20th and 21st sts, between 2d and 3d avs, are in demand. The blocks here are about 184 feet deep, and this gives the lot a depth of 92 feet; frontages run from 18.9 to 20 feet; so by the purchase of two lots about the right-sized plot is obtained for a modern 6-sty tenement, with a depth that allows as good results to be produced under the new law as would be possible on a 100-foot lot. The lots cost from $12,000 to $12,500, and the financial scheme upon which the tenement is undertaken is about this: Cost of two lots, say, $25,000; cost of building, $23,000; total, $48,000. The building will contain five 3 or 4-room tenements on a floor, or, say, 16 or 17 rooms. With 16 rooms to the floor, the total number of rooms in the building would be 96, for which the rental income ought to average $4 a month, or a total of $384. Possibly 17 rooms may be obtained on a floor, in which case the rental return will be proportionately increased. The gross income may, then, be calculated at from $4,800 to $5,000 a year. Charges and allowances will be: Taxes, $700; water, $125; gas, $75; janitor, $200; insurance, $35; coal, $65; expense account, repairs, etc., $250; vacancies, $250; making a total of $1,450. To this may be added $250 for vacancies, making a total for deductions of all kinds of $1,700. This taken from $5,000, leaves $3,300; or, charges and vacancies having been somewhat over-estimated, a return of something like 7% on the investment, without taking into account what may be done to increase income by taking a loan on mortgage."

Increase in the Labor Cost of Buildings.

This spring, when building and business is fairly booming from one end of the city to the other, and when from all sides we hear reports to the effect that this or that labor organization is going to make, or has made, a demand upon the employers for an increase in pay, or for shorter working hours, or both, it is of interest to cast a glance back along the records of the past forty years, and see to what an extent wages have increased during that time. In a table accompanying the text will be found the price per hour prevailing at different periods for various classes of skilled and unskilled labor employed in the building trades in this city. An examination of these figures will show that wages have advanced out of all proportion to the cost of living, to which important matter the prices paid seem to bear but little relation. In some cases the advance since 1860 amounts to nearly 200%, and in a number of the trades is the figure for that year more than doubled. The percentage of increase since 1869, the high-water mark up to that time, even after the wages for sake of comparison have been reduced to a gold basis, range from 47% in the case of carpenters, as high as 120% with the marble polishers. Between these extremes come the other trades; the plumbers and gas-fitters well up toward the top, with bricklayers, marble cutters and painters also showing a substantial increase. The average increase for the twelve classes of labor considered is found to be 71% for the period. And this does not by any means show all the advances which have been made. Iron and steelworkers have advanced in many cases 100% in the past three or four years, but there are of course no figures running back through a series of years with which they can be compared.

†Per cent. of increase from 1869 to 1902.
*Wages reduced to gold basis.

With this increase in wages has come a reduction of 20% in the length of the working day. Even supposing that the average artisan accomplishes as much in an 8-hour day as was formerly done in 10 hours, the employer has still to pay twice as much for having a thousand brick laid, or a square of plastering put on, as would have been necessary to do the same work twenty years ago.

What is the result of this? Manifestly there can be but one, viz., to greatly increase the cost of each building erected. What with the high prices prevailing for lumber, structural iron and steel, and, in short, for almost all materials used in building, added to this great advance in the item of labor, the amount of capital necessary to put up a building of even moderate size is very considerable.

A prominent contractor told a Record and Guide representative a few days ago that the proportion of the cost of labor to that of materials was increasing very rapidly. About 40% of the money put into a building is now spent for labor after all materials have been delivered. Another builder, without having consulted with the first, named the same proportion, 40%, as representing the cost of labor required in putting up a building. This percentage, he said, has been increasing with great rapidity of late years, and is already leading to the undoing of many contractors as well as owners. A man who buys a high-priced piece of real estate, erects thereon an expensive building, upon all of which he is obliged to pay a high rate of taxes, has got to manage well and be fortunate in securing good tenants in order to make his investment pay.

Not only is the labor cost of buildings very high at the present time, but there is every prospect that it will go higher in the near future. Carpenters, plumbers, painters and cement workers are demanding a further increase, and as the demand comes when the contractors are at a great disadvantage, in all probability the advance will be secured. Every year or two, when building is unusually brisk, the price is pushed up another notch, and is held there until another period of pressure comes, when again the operation is repeated. Small wonder is it then that builders are using labor and time-saving machinery wherever possible. There must, of course, be a limit to the prices which builders can afford to pay, and at least one contractor interviewed gave it as his opinion that the top notch had been reached in several branches of the trade.

Window Extensions—New Ordinance.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: I have read with a great deal of interest your article in the last number of the Record and Guide, criticising the proposed ordinance relating to the issuing of permits for the erection of bay windows, which was introduced by me and which is now being considered by the Committee on Buildings, of which I am chairman.

In the last paragraph of the article there appears this statement: "Certainly charges are not warranted specifically by provisions of law." If you will refer to the Greater New York Charter, under Section 50, defining the duties of the Board of Aldermen in regard to the use of streets, you will find the following: "All general ordinances relating to authorized structures, encroachments or obstructions in or upon the streets or sidewalks by persons other than the authorities of the City of New York, or other public authorities, shall fix a definite license fee for every such authorized structure, encroachment or obstruction, according to the character, extent and duration thereof, and shall provide for the issuing of revocable licenses therefor, which shall be according to an established form, and shall be regularly numbered and duly registered as shall be prescribed by the Board of Aldermen." Certainly charges are warranted specifically by the provisions of the above section of the Greater New York Charter. Furthermore, the Corporation Counsel has been consulted in regard to this matter, and in an opinion received from him he states as follows: "The language of Section 50 of the Charter is mandatory, and all such general ordinances must fix a definite license fee."

The article states that "The ordinance is also deficient in prescribing how the various forms of window projections should be constructed." The ordinance was not drawn up for this purpose; its purpose being to provide for the issuing of permits. One section of the ordinance distinctly states that all windows shall comply with the regulations of the Building Code, which is sufficient.

The article states that "Discriminating charges will be made which will operate unfairly," etc. This subject was given a great deal of consideration before the ordinance was introduced. It was first suggested to me that the fairest method of procedure would be to have the charge for the area covered by bay windows based on the assessed valuation of the property, but the assessed valuation of property in the City of New York is far from being equalized. A uniform price for each borough may work hardships in some few instances, but the amount would be so trivial that it should not be considered in the general working of the provisions of the ordinance. If a space occupied by a show window on 1st avenue, for instance, is not worth two dollars a square foot to the owner of the property, it is worth nothing at all.

It is true that the ordinance as introduced makes no reference to the jurisdiction of the Park Department over streets within 350 feet of park property. The writer is now awaiting a decision from the Corporation Counsel in regard to this very matter. In the first paragraph of Section 610 of the Charter, it would seem that the Board of Aldermen has the power to pass rules and regulations for the erection of bay windows within the Park Board's jurisdiction; while in Section 612 it would appear that the Park Board has this power. It is also a question whether the charter does not repeal Chapter 723 of the Laws of 1901 mentioned in your article. Should the Corporation Counsel decide that the Park Board has the jurisdiction, it will be my endeavor to amend the ordinance so that bay windows erected within its jurisdiction shall first be sanctioned by it before the permit is issued by the Commissioner of Public Works, thereby avoiding the very confusion which you state will exist should there be two departments in the city issuing permits for the erection of bay windows.

The article states in regard to show windows that "Owners have by immemorial custom a right to make these without payment for the privilege." The argument that because a man has in the past received for nothing something which he should have paid for, that he should be allowed to continue to do so, is no argument at all, and the sooner the city reaps the benefit from all the privileges which the owners of property have heretofore taken without due compensation, the better it will be for all concerned.

I might add in closing that it is the intention to include in this ordinance the granting of permits for the erection of marquises and similar obstructions, which, according to the provisions of the Charter, must be provided for by general ordinance, and which cannot be, as they were in the past, allowed by special ordinance for specific cases.

Trusting that with the above information you will correct the wrong impression that the article in last week's issue has given your readers, I remain. Very sincerely yours,

FRANKLIN B. WARE.

Alderman, 31st District, Chairman Committee on Buildings.

The provision of Section 50 of the Charter was known to the writer of the article referred to in the foregoing letter, but was not considered to apply to bay or show windows; but to have been framed to meet cases like that of the Pabst Hotel portico, and as applying to structures on the surface only. Certainly a bay or a show window can be considered an authorized structure in the street; but, if the section is to be so strictly construed, so may not only marquises, but stoops and even area railings, balconies and cornices when projecting over the sidewalk. If these are all charged for the owner or builder will have quite a respectable license item to include in the cost of a new building.

As to the charges proposed to be made for bay and show window extensions, we doubt whether the owner will be satisfied either with the rate or the principle on which it is to be applied, as Mr. Ware is. For our own part, we protest against the attempts that are constantly being made to squeeze more and more income for the city out of real estate, and our assertion that the proposed ordinance will, if passed, represent in the aggregate a heavy tax on realty, cannot be gainsaid. In most of these cases, it is a charge and not a fee that is exacted, and this, we surmise is done by stretching an original idea of recoupment to the city of the executive cost of granting permits or licenses, into one of income raising. The doubts regarding the powers existent for granting extension window privileges, as explained by Mr. Ware, justify our suggestion for legal scrutiny of the proposed ordinance, which we are glad to learn is being made. On the whole the differences between ourselves and Mr. Ware are mainly those of opinion only, and we believe our own views are shared by a very large majority of those who are most directly interested in the matter in dispute, and who will have to pay the bill, if Mr. Ware's view of the law and what should be done under it, is shared by his fellows on the Board of Aldermen.—Editor Record and Guide.

SHARING COMMISSIONS.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly give an opinion on the following in a full statement, and greatly oblige a subscriber. A has authority in writing from owner of a property to offer same for sale. A solicits the aid of B to work with him to sell same. B interests C to the same end. And C, after a time, submits to A and B an opportunity to sell to a purchaser, but after a long period of negotiations, and interview by A with the prospective purchaser, to whom A was introduced by C, the negotiations ended, and both B and C declare the purchaser has withdrawn, and the matter is entirely dropped by all parties, including A, B, and C., and C and B declaring they had no objections to A doing anything he pleases by going to see the former proposed purchaser, if he chose, which A never did after his first interview with C, all considering the matter as ended. Then, after a lapse of three months or more, A casually calls upon the same party who was formerly the prospective purchaser to endeavor to submit an entirely different offer, embracing other property adjoining the old offer, which, however, A finds the proposed purchaser has in hand with other parties outside altogether; and then A submits on his own responsibility the same property to the purchaser, with which he was formerly connected with B and C, and will likely carry it to a successful issue alone, not again connecting B and C with him in any way—what obligation, if any, would A be under to the parties B and C, who dropped out of the negotiations long ago, in the matter of commission? And what would be the most honorable way for A to act, all parties being friends?

Answer.—A is under no legal obligation to B and C, and it would be perfectly honorable for him to refuse to divide commission, if so requested. Rather than "break friendship," however, it might be well for A to share commission.—Law Editor.

The Gorham Manufacturing Co. have completed negotiations for the lease from John Jacob Astor of the northwest corner of 5th av and 33d st, the site of the Cambridge apartment house, for a long term of years. The company will replace the Cambridge with a building of its own. There are leases on the Cambridge which have about six years to run; these, the new lessees, have been trying to buy, but up to the present have not succeeded.

OUT OF TOWN.

Post & Reese have sold for Theodore Ballantine to Walter P. Bliss a tract of land at Bernardsville, N. J., with farmhouse, barns, etc., thereon, containing about 230 acres.

The purchase at auction this week by Levi Bros. & Co. of the buildings they occupy, on the northeast corner of Broadway and Willoughby av, at $150,000, is a satisfactory evidence of the holding of values and of business in that section. It will be remembered that the store was built for Levi Bros. & Co.

There is to be a hearing on June 6th by the Board of Estimate on the draft contract for building the Brooklyn connection with the Rapid Transit railroad, the terms of which were announced yesterday.

Nos. 2263, 2265 and 2265a Pacific st were taken in trade by Jacob Axelrod for Manhattan property this week.

De Selding Bros. sold for Joel S. De Selding to William E. Harmon a plot at the southwest corner of Ocean and Caton avs, Flatbush, fronting 152 feet on Ocean av and 262 feet on Caton av. Mr. Harman will erect upon it a residence for his own occupancy, to cost between $25,000 and $30,000. The same brokers sold for Joel S. De Selding to John D. Strahman the property adjoining the foregoing on the west, in the south side of Caton av, 50x147x109x irregular. Mr. Strahman will improve it with a residence for his own occupancy, to cost about $10,000. These plots comprise the last of the Flatbush property owned by the late Percy R. Pyne, former President of the National City Bank. Mr. De Selding took title to them in 1896.

Real Estate Notes.

Trains are now running on the elevated railroad to the Botanical Garden.

Slawson & Hobbs were the brokers in the sale of No. 50 West 90th st, reported in our issue of May 10.

In our last issue we stated that Nos. 43 to 47 West 33d st was reported to have been sold. Austen G. Fox states that it has not been sold. Nos. 49 and 51, adjoining, were this week transferred to the Stuyvesant Real Estate Co. for $170,000.

Philip Jeselson, of No. 60 Liberty st, announces that his son, Alfred Jeselson, is now connected with his office. Telephone call 6978 Cortlandt.

"Residential Hotel" is the latest designation given one of the many recently built apartment houses containing suites of various sizes.

Attention has been called to the $350,000 building loan made last week by the Central Realty Bond and Trust Co to the J. C. Lyons Building and Operating Co., to erect two 5-sty dwellings on 78th and 79th sts, close to 5th av. According to the filings the lots (together having a frontage of 60 feet) cost $235,000.

William C. Dewey is the buyer of Nos. 31 and 33 West 19th st, extending to Nos. 28 and 30 West 20th st, and reported in our issue of April 19.

No less than 28 lumber firms have their quarters in the Wells Building, No. 18 Broadway. For the past 14 years, people in this line of business have been going there until it now forms something like a trade headquarters.

The Paran Stevens estate's property at the southeast corner of 5th av and 44th st, was transferred on Wednesday by George F. Richardson, as trustee, to the Richard M. Montgomery Co. for a consideration of $925,000. The new owners have mortgaged the parcel for a total of $900,000 at 4 per cent.

Charles E. Duross, broker, agent, appraiser and manager of estates, makes the Lower West Side the scene of constant, intelligent and honest work in realty matters. His easily accessible and well-equipped offices, at No. 242 West 14th st, are well known to a constantly increasing clientele.

The Sussex Realty Co., the corporation which is conducting Blair & Co.'s and Hallgarten & Co.'s building operations at the northeast corner of Broad st and Exchange place, has secured a loan of $1,000,000 from the Equitable Life Assurance Society. The property was recently transferred to the company for $1,348,000.

Marshall Field this week took title to No. 285 5th av, northeast corner of 30th st, a lot 25x100, the consideration being $245,000. Mr. Field now owns No. 285 5th av, Nos. 291 to 299 5th av, and Nos. 4 to 10 East 31st st, and No. 5 East 30th st. This includes the entire block front between 30th and 31st sts, with the exception of Nos. 287 and 289 5th av. On 31st st Mr. Field has a frontage of 200 feet.

The Forty-ninth Street and Madison Avenue Company has been incorporated by Frank Kling, H. B. Cocheu, and H. M. Libby, with a capital of $200,000. It is understood that the company will undertake the improvement of the northeast corner of Madison av and 49th st, the Berkeley School, recently purchased by Franklin H. Pettit. Mr. Cocheu, the secretary of the company, was formerly connected with the office of Charles T. Barney.

Pescia & Colucci, of No. 347 E. 114th st, with branch office at 302 Broadway, are a young firm, whose specialty is the leasing and selling of properties in the Italian sections, and the management of tenement houses in all the Italian districts. E. V. Pescia, the senior member of the firm, was formerly with G. Tuoti & Co.

The couple of stories of skeleton construction of the abandoned apartment structure on the north corner of Central Park West and 91st st, which have long been an eyesore to passersby, and a drawback to adjacent property, have at last been removed. It is said the owners were led to action by their inability to secure its completion without settling the bills left unpaid for material and work on the unfinished structure.

The rights of realty owners are overlooked by the action of the Pennsylvania R. R. Co. placing steam drills at either end of some of the blocks in which they have been acquiring property for their depot. Owners who have not sold are greatly damaged by such action, because old tenants are frightened and new tenants scared away by the appearance of such noisy machines. Realty owners should be organized so as to effectively fight such treatment.

A purchase of realty out of the ordinary was that of J. Clarence Davies this week, of the very small strip of land left on the northeast corner of 3d av and 149th st, by the widening of 149th st. The dimensions of the plot are 6 inches on 3d av by 14 inches on 149th st, by 14 inches, and the price paid was $200. F. G. Walker, as executor of the Uhl estate, was the seller. Mr. Davies will erect an iron pole on the property to a height of about 40 feet, to which will be affixed advertising signs for rental. The stoop lines and underground curb privileges will be utilized by the construction of a subterranean room, 15x20 feet, suitable for a boot-blacking, trunk or some such concern. A stairway leading to the room may lawfully be constructed within the stoop line of 5 feet. This is not the little triangle's first claim to notoriety. When the building adjoining was about to be commenced, a little over a year ago, one of the Uhl heirs, fearing that his estate was to be confiscated, literally sat on it or in its immediate vicinity for three days and nights to prevent encroachments. At that time the Uhls were offered $600 for the plot, but refused to sell under $800.

The Record and Guide has now on the press a volume edited by Wm. J. Fryer, containing all the laws and regulations concerning tenement houses. In size and character, it will be a companion volume to "The Building Laws of Greater New York," and will contain the alphabetical cross-indexes which have proved so valuable.

The price of the book bound in cloth will be $1.50, and orders may now be sent to the Publication Office, Nos. 14 and 16 Vesey St., New York City. This will be the standard book on the subject.

The World of Building

Labor News.

UNSATISFACTORY CONDITIONS PREVAILING OWING TO WORKMEN'S DEMANDS.

Contrary to the statement made last week by members of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, a notice of the demand for increased wages which they contemplate, was not served upon the employing carpenters at the time set, nor has such a notice been served to date. The only knowledge the employers have of the contemplated demand is what has reached their ears unofficially, mainly through foremen who have reported the journeymen's talk. There seems to be an equal likelihood now that a demand of $5 a day will be made instead of $4.50, as decided upon last week. Edwin Outwater, a prominent carpenter-builder, at No. 510 West 42d st, and a member of the Master Carpenters' Association, expressed the feeling common to the great majority of the master carpenters when he said: "The demands of the men can't be made too high to suit me. I don't care if they ask $10 a day, for the sooner a stand is made against the exorbitant demands and unfair dealings of the unions, and the whole affair settled definitely, so that we can conduct our businesses on a business basis with a fair competitive chance to all, the better it will be for both the employer and the employee."

It appears that there are in New York Citiy at the present time trim shops enough to turn out only about one-fourth of the trim used in local building. Mr. Outwater ascribes this to the course pursued by the carpenters' associations, and says it is only one of the many ways in which they are spoiling their own chances for steady employment at good wages. It is, he says, the better class of master carpenters, who do the work on the large buildings, who suffer the most. Employers who have only small jobs can do the work with non-union carpenters, but general contractors on large jobs are compelled by the combined unions working for his sub-contractors to have his carpentering done by men employing laboring union workmen, not only on that job, but on all his others. This leaves the master carpenter in a position where it is impossible for him to compete with non-union sub-contractors on the smaller jobs.

A member of the Master Painters' and Decorators' Association, in which the situation is made very bad by the refusal of the Amalgamated Painters and Decorators to allow their members to work after 12 o'clock on Saturday under any condition, and as a consequence depriving the employers of the union men of the chance to compete for the very profitable work in the banking and other financial offices down town, says that a fight is to be made on that point in the painters' recent demands. The increased wages asked for—$3 to $3.50 for the plain painters and $4 to $4.50 for the gold-leafers and decorators—are considered of minor importance. The painters wish the new arrangements to go into effect on August 1st.

The secretary of the Employing Plasterers' Association has not yet received word of the appointment of a committee by the plasterers to discuss with an employers' committee the evils of the present agreement, and, if possible, decide upon some remedy. That this committee should be appointed was one of the chief reasons for the master plasterers agreeing to pay the hod-carriers $3.25 a day, and discontinuing the shut-out against the journeymen.

Hammerstein & Denivelle, decorators, No. 120 W. 50th st, were approached early this week by a delegate of the plasterers with a demand that he be paid $137 waiting time for six journeymen who, the delegate asserts, were promised work by them but failed to get it. The $137 includes also the demands of a plasterer who, Hammerstein & Denivelle say, was given a "laid off" envelope, but who claims he was not discharged. The delegate failed to receive the money, and all of the firm's jobs were struck Thursday morning. An early compromise is likely.

At an adjourned meeting of the Hoisting Association, held this week, it was decided to accede to the demand of the engineers, that they be paid $5 per day, in place of their former wage of $4, commencing June 1. Recognition was also extended to the newly formed Riggers and Constructors Association, and an agreement made allowing the men pay for overtime, which had never been given before.

The journeymen cornice makers have notified their employers that, beginning with September 1 they will expect to receive $4 per day wages, and a half day off on Saturday the year round with full pay. At present they are getting $3.75 a day, with a half-day off on Saturday for three months of the year, without pay.

The situation at the Ansonia Hotel, Broadway and 73d street, where work is held up by a strike on the trim, remained unchanged during the week. Mr. Watt, of Watt & Sinclair, the trim contractors, said a meeting of the union delegates was to be held late yesterday afternoon, to discuss the matter, and there was a possibility that work would be resumed next week.

An agreement has been made between the Amalgamated Sheet Metal Workers' Union and their employers, by the terms of which the journeymen are to receive $4 a day instead of $3.75, as formerly.

The Master League of Cement Workers and the Cement and Asphalt Laborers' Union arrived at an agreement last Monday, by the terms of which the laborers are to receive their demanded increase in wage from 28 cents to 33 cents per hour, and the men return to work Tuesday morning. Committees of three from the Master League, the Cement Masons' Union and the Cement and Asphalt Laborers' Union, will meet some time within the next week or two, on an appointment to be made by the employees, to discuss other terms to be embodied in an agreement to cover all the points in contention, or likely to be in contention, between the employers and the journeymen and laborers.

The Brick Market

DEALERS AND MAKERS NOT ALL PLEASED WITH THE COMBINATIONS.

There is considerable friction in the brick trade because of the effort of the Manufacturers' and Agents' Co. to force all dealers to buy exclusively from them. The matter was brought before the Building Material Exchange by Chas. E. Murtagh, of Murtagh & McCarthy, who complained that Wm. K. Hammond sold him a cargo of brick, and later refused to deliver same unless Mr. Murtagh would agree to buy all brick from the Manufacturers' and Agents' Co., or the brick made by Aldrich & Peck. The Exchange Committee decided that the complainant failed to sustain the burden of proof, but the testimony offered led the committee to consider whether Mr. Hammond had attempted to make an agreement in restraint of trade and competition, and their decision was a vote of censure on Mr. Hammond, which was entered upon the minutes of the Exchange.

There are about 110 brick-makers along the Hudson River, with a yearly capacity of 1,200 million brick. About 100 makers are members of the Brick Makers' Association. Many of the brick-makers were also sales agents, and the arrangement was that all brick was to be consigned by the members of the Brick Makers' Association to agents formerly engaged in the sale of brick in New York. These were about nineteen in number. A majority of these got together, formed the selling company above referred to, and expected all brick to be consigned to their company. Some of the sales agents who happened to be extensive manufacturers objected, and the result is they are outside the Agents' Co. Among these outsiders are: Theo. G. Peck, of Haverstraw; Aaron Aldridge, of Fishkill; and the Brockway Brick Co., each with a capacity of from 30 to 40 million brick yearly.

Last year, in Manhattan and the Bronx, there were about 525 million brick sold through the manufacturers' agents, and about 90 million were sold by those outside the Selling Co. This year it is estimated that only 400 million brick will be sold. The high figure, $6.50, to which figure the Selling Co. has raised the price, is said to be responsible for the largely increased use of old brick, of which latter, it is estimated, over 100 million were used last year alone in the lower part of New York, say south of 14th st and east of 6th av, and only this week the writer noticed the use of old brick by the Metropolitant Railway in 9th av. Furthermore, the Agents' Co. are said to have led the manufacturers to delay the beginning of brick-making from April 1 to May 1, in order to shorten the supply, which latter, however, is said to be very great, 325 million of brick being on hand when the Hudson River opened for traffic. Then again, some 20 brick-makers are said to have dropped out of the association last year, and many others are reported to be on the point of doing likewise.

Stories are told of the trials of brick-makers who are not sales agents, getting rough treatment (at the hands of fellow members who are) in the way of having their cargoes unsold for months, and an instance is noted of a case where the maker grew tired of such treatment, and was on the point of otherwise disposing of his goods, but when the buyer went to the slip to look over the cargo he was delayed long enough to enable the Agents' Co. to be communicated with, and they immediately dispatched an attache to the spot, who announced that the cargo in question was sold. In conversation with persons who are conversant with the cost of brick making it was learned that brick could be made with a profit and delivered in New York at from $4 to $4.15 per thousand. The brick that come to Manhattan and the Bronx are retailed by about 20 firms, who comprise the Association of Dealers in Building Material.

Builders, read Wants and Offers. See page 954.

Material Market.

There is no decrease in the demand for structural steel, or for the best grade of bricks and for paint. In most grades of lumber the market is getting quiet. Window glass, lime and cement are fully holding their own as to prices. The scarcity of pig iron and strike possibilities continue disturbing features.

IRON AND STEEL.

For round and square iron and flat iron in the shapes and sizes for building the scarcity continues to worry the builders, and there is an upward tendency to prices in sympathy with the pig iron advance which is running away from the official quotations. In plates and sheets there is no difficulty in filling orders.

During April 163,082 tons of iron and steel were shipped from the Tennessee and Alabama district.

There were landed recently in the port of New York 550 tons of pig iron from Glasgow; 127 tons of steel from Liverpool; 27 tons of steel, 643 tons of steel beams, 945 tons of steel billets and 25 tons of steel rods from Antwerp; 318 tons of steel rods from Rotterdam.

Southern producers of pig iron acknowledge that they have been selling at the rate of $16 for No. 2 foundry at the furnace, an advance of $4 on official quotations. It is even said that $16.50 and $17 has been obtained in some cases.

May 1, the weekly capacity of the blast furnaces was 352,064 tons, the highest ever reported. Consumption was so heavy that the furnace stocks decreased 10,000 tons in April.

Metal is being loaded from the cast sheds into box cars at some furnaces, according to a report of the Southern Iron Committee, because the yards are barren of pig iron.

According to the official returns, out of a total of 43,297 tons of pig iron shipped from the port of Middlesborough in April, 5,986 tons came to the United States.

Structural steel makers in the beam pool at a meeting this week decided not to advance prices on contracts made now for delivery in the first half of next year.

There are negotiations for the consolidation of the expansion bolt makers.

About 3,000 tons of structural steel will be shipped to the Philippines by the American Bridge Company under a government contract, the consideration exceeding $533,000.

John A. Roebling's Sons' Company, of Trenton, N. J., will build a $1,000,000 steel and wire rod mill in East St. Louis.

TIN, LEAD, ETC.

Demand for lead is moderate, and the market slightly dull. One of the sales was 200 tons soft Missouri f. o. b. East St. Louis at 3.98c.

Highest prices paid for zinc ore during the past week was $34 per ton. High grades brought from 50c. to $1 more a week ago. Lead ore brought $22.25 per 1,000 pounds delivered.

Melbert B. Cary, of this city, is promoting the company that proposes to take all the zinc ore of the Missouri-Kansas district. The producers at a mass meeting this week accepted his proposition.

Last month's production of copper was the largest in its history. Exports have been at the rate of 1,500 tons a month, thus far in May, which is a decrease from the preceding months of this year, but is above the average of former years.

There is a slight advance in tin since last week. For the first half of May 580 tons were shipped to the United States from the Straits; total shipments, 2,460 tons, against 1,285 tons for corresponding period of last year.

WINDOW GLASS.

Managers of plants belonging to the Independent Glass Co., have asked the employees to continue the fire to July 1, instead of June 15. The American Window Glass Co.'s factories will go out of blast in the next two or three weeks. The combined stock of the American and Co-operative companies is said to be less than 2,000,000 boxes, and the consumption is about 500,000 boxes a month.

Some of the jobbers believe that the manufacturers have planned an output sufficient only for a normal demand, and that this will not be materially increased by the efforts of the Independent factories. Because of the unusual amount of building this year they say the supply may be a little short, and prices are likely to advance.

A report that the American Company will try to take up some of the independent factories on the expiration of their present leases, Jan. 1 next, is denied by all parties.

BRICKS, ETC.

Bricks, especially the better of the common building grades, are in excellent demand, and quotations continue from $5.25 to $6.50. Pale brick is not selling in any large amounts at the yards. It is unfortunate for the producers that new brick is not being used in many structures because of the plentiful supply of second-hand material, many of which are not better than pale brick.

It is believed that some of this brick, if it came upon the market freshly made, without mortar dust, would be refused by any inspector. On 8th av, on a large building, loads of really pale brick are being used. There is danger of the coal strike affecting the ability of the manufacturers to turn out the amount they have expected, and there may be delay in burning their first kilns. There is a sufficient supply now on hand, however, so that the trade is not worrying. In fact there is talk of the manufacturers at their June meeting voluntarily curtailing the output 15 per cent.

LUMBER.

In Hastings, B. C., a company largely controlled by American capital, is building a mill with a capacity of 1,000,000 shingles, the largest plant of the kind in the world.

North Carolina pine is scarce, and prices have advanced to correspond with the advance made recently by the North Carolina Pine Association at Norfolk.

There has been an advance of 50 cents in 10, 18 and 20-foot lengths of hemlock.

New York hardwood lumbermen are pleased with the resolution passed at the St. Louis convention this week urging Congress to establish a national forest preserve in the hardwood region of the Southern Appalachian mountains.

Demand for Southern pine for railroad and car material work is increasing.

Word has reached here that owing to the strike of tug men and previous troubles with loaders, lumber vessels are congested at the head of Lake Superior.

It is estimated that the total lumber cut on the Penobscot is 210,000,000. About 100,000,000 will be used by the pulp mills, and the remainder will make 150,000,000 ft. of manufactured lumber to be shipped out of Bangor, Me., this season.

PAINTS.

There has been more general buying. Prices are held up firmly, largely because of the high quotations on linseed oil. Fair weather has increased the demand for white lead. This is the busy season, and orders are expected to come in freely for several weeks at least.

Pratt & Lambert are to build a large varnish factory in Buffalo.

LIME READY FOR USE.

It is announced at the New York office of the Rockland-Rockport Lime Company that a new preparation of lime will soon be offered which will be ready for immediate use the same as the various wall plasters are now used. The process by which the lime will be prepared is a secret. The expectation of the company is to sell the product at a price which will bring it in lively competition with the prepared plasters.

The necessity of slaking the lime a considerable time before it can be used has lead to the extensive use of the more convenient preparations. The manufacturers of the new article are of the belief that their process will restore lime to its pristine favor. They claim for it all the advantages of lime as a fine finish, with none of the drawbacks.

A new plant is being built at Rockland, Maine, which will be used exclusively in producing this hydraulic lime, and will have a capacity of several hundred tons a day.

Product and Appliance.

The claims for the new explosive, Masurite, sound paradoxical. The manufacturers declare that it is more effective as an explosive than dynamite, yet absolutely safe. We assume that it will not explode except by design or at the will of the operator. Remembering the recent accidental explosions, there appears to be scope for improvement even in explosives.

The National Fire Protection Association held its sixth annual convention in Philadelphia last week. There were present twenty-one active members and twenty-two associate members. The president of the association, Charles A. Hexamer, in his opening address carefully demonstrated the good work of the association in the high standards of building construction it raised and the general protection it afforded the insurance interests.

The reports on hose and hydrants and heavy current protectors in wires of signaling systems did not disclose any new features, while President Hexamer's paper on "Hazards of Breweries" was full of suggestions, and gave evidence of his familiarity with the subject. Mr. F. M. Griswold's opinions regarding "Hazards of Fertilizers" were interesting.

The recommendations to insurance inspectors were discussed and practically accepted with the exception of clauses referring to the thickness of brick walls in slow-burning or mill construction. One of the most valuable of these recommendations was, that in all cases where standard fire shutters are specified, the architect can have the option of selecting wire glass in approved frames in place of the light-excluding shutter. This was a stroke of wisdom, but we fail to understand why such wire glass windows are not enforced altogether in place of the shutter, which prevents the fire being located in the hour of danger, from the outside.

A paper was read on "Cotton Mill Hazards," by Mr. Steel, also one on "Hazards of Beet Sugar Factories," by Mr. Stewart. A report on waste cans, waste pails, etc., was referred to the underwriters' laboratories as a basis for examination. A letter from the National Board of Fire Underwriters was read, which suggested the appointment of a committee to formulate standards of fire protection in cities, and to grade the same so as to form a basis for fire-rating.

The report on "Devices and Materials," which included sub-reports on "Watchmen's Time Detectors," "Corrosion of Sprinklers," and "Chemical Fire Extinguishers on Wheels," was adopted as read, as was also the report on "Steam and Rotary Fire Pumps."

"Hazards in Storing and Handling Explosives" proved to be very interesting as read and practically illustrated by Mr. McDevitt. Mr. McDevitt gave ocular demonstrations of the effect of certain conditions in dealing with explosives, and his experiments made about the liveliest feature of the convention.

The report on fire-retardant treatments of wood made a claim of progress for the year, and suggested further postponement of action for the present in view of the important measures now being taken, or supposed to be taken, by the New York Building Bureau for the satisfactory testing of the wood supplied as fireproofed. Why cannot the tests decided upon by the U. S. Government, after six years of experiment, be accepted. Uncle Sam had the best-known engineers and chemists to decide on these tests. It scarcely seems fair that the owners of fireproof processes should be expected to contribute $1,000 each to defray the expenses of arriving at a test formula. But such is the case.

Mr. William A. Anderson was appointed vice-president of the National Fire Protection Association in place of J. W. Cochran. This was the only change of officers made. The members of the association were invited by the fire insurance fraternity to a banquet at Atlantic City on the 15th, and the proceedings terminated for the year.

The present overwhelming desire by manufacturers to use soft coal seems to be a fine chance for the American Stoker Company to let the world know the practical value of their remarkable coal saving and smoke annihilating apparatus.

The most genuine devices need exploiting with a masterly hand. The solid anvil will give music if struck aright, while the hollow pot will make a loud noise with a weak touch. Fakes and exaggerated small things are the hollow pots in advertising. The solid inventions which are needed for the benefit of the world must be shown in their true character with fullness and force. Let the impression be true and lasting.

When manufacturers or dealers claim that they have all the business they need and are independent of a first-class newspaper's aid they are degenating.

The War Department is about to light the Statue of Liberty with kerosene. This is startling, until we learn that the kerosene is to be in the wonderful Pesske lamp, and give a 1,500 candle power light.

Progressive Fireproofing.

Guy B. Waite & Co., Nos. 505 and 507 W. 14th st, City, contractors for fireproof floor arches, have established a record for progressiveness not equaled by any concern making a specialty of this kind of work.

During 1901 floor arches were constructed by this company for about 100 buildings of all classes in New York City and vicinity. Arches are the most modern, the most rapidly constructed, the lightest in weight, present best possible plastering surface, and are most economical in price.

Inspection is invited of work in buildings now being completed: Seven houses, each 100 ft. front, at 99th, 140th, 141st, 143d and 147th sts, West Side, for Messrs. Sonn Bros; 10-sty hotel, 100x125, at 77th st and Broadway; 10-sty house, 100x100, at 80th st and West End av; Haffen Building, 148th st and 3d av.

The Senate Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds have increased the limit of cost of the New York Custom House from $3,000,000 to $4,500,000. The extent of building in San Francisco since the opening of the year has been considerable, and some large building projects have been made public and others are now under consideration. The gross value represented by the building operations of four months in this city exceeds that of the corresponding months in 1901 by $1,400,000. The contracts aggregate $5,140,504 for the first four months of 1902. April made a showing of $1,626,817. William Noble, head of the firm of Wm. Noble & Co., builders, was seized with apoplexy on Monday, and died on Wednesday. Mr. Noble occupied a prominent position as a builder, but was unfortunate in his ventures. He went into voluntary bankruptcy in 1899, and obtained his discharge.

TIN ROOFING AND THE "L" ROADS.

Charles C. Haight, speaking of the changes in roofings, said: "The tin roof along the line of the elevated roads, is decidedly an unsatisfactory affair. Tin, as a roofing, should have nothing whatever come in contact with it; it is sensitive. The cinders and dirt from the trains of the elevated roads accumulates along the joining seams of the tin; this deposit, when damp, acts immediately, the paint is destroyed by it, and then the tin rusts and repairs start in. The tin roofing along the elevated lines, two or three hundred feet back from the street, demands a great many more repairs than that in other parts of the city."

THE PRIVATE ROOF GARDEN.

There exists a great demand at present for a roofing, cheap, waterproof, cool and light, that will stand the strain of a private roof garden, the slate roofing raised about six inches over an ordinary tin or tar roof is objectionable in more than one way, besides being difficult to walk on and place chairs on; it accumlates dust underneath, that is almost impossible to remove. Wm. P. Ludlow, of Ludlow & Valentine, No. 100 Broadwas, is an ardent believer in a canvas roof for the roof garden man. The old roof, tin or tar, is ripped off, then the roof boards sealed, leveled and painted, after which a medium heavy canvas, which is made about 30 inches wide, is tightly stretched over. Small tin tacks are driven in about one-quarter of an inch apart, then a couple of coats of paint are applied, and the roof is ready for the summer garden. This is, of course, a boom to the fireproof paint man. The cost of such a roofing is about the same as tin, and its merits are manifold. A medium weight canvas is better for the purpose, as it lays more evenly.

Wants and Offers are instructive reading. See page 954.

Portland Cement Prospects.

In a report to the United States Geological Survey, the Portland cement industry receives attention at the hands of Prof. Israel C. Russell, of Ann Arbor. After tracing the development of the business in recent years, especially in Michigan, he reaches the conclusion that the speculative stage has not been passed. In support of this contention he gives figures on the increase in factories and total capacity in his State. The Bronson and Peerless companies began operations in 1897, and by May of 1901 they had 10 factories with an annual capacity of 2,400,000 barrels. The estimated capacity of all the Michigan factories is 8,500,000 barrels. During 1900, says Prof. Russell, the total consumption of Portland cement in the United States was between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 barrels, of which nearly 8,500,000 barrels were manufactured at home. The synopsis of the Professor's report at hand says nothing of the extensive new plant of the Great Northern Portland Cement Co., now being built near Marlborough, Mich., and which is giving life to a new village.

Michigan is not the only State in which the industry has been growing rapidly. There is no doubt that many business men and capitalists are studying the situation with a view to making further investments of time, energy and money. In New York State, although the number of factories has grown beyond expectation, there are grounds for supposing that the limit is not reached. Inquiries in trade circles reveal a disposition to extend some of the present factories and to build new plants. Conservative men are making investments which express their confidence in the future of the business, and they clearly are not of the Professor's mind as to this being a speculative field. His warning makes it worth while to look with care into the history of the business, and to consider the possibilities of extending the market far beyond doubt the works now producing cement are ample for the present demand. This is said while keeping in view the enormous building activity this year. While prices of cement have advanced in consequence over the dull period last year and quotations are maintained stiffly, there is not any danger of a scarcity of the product.

Less than thirty years ago the manufacture of Portland cement, previously carried on in Europe exclusively, began in the United States. The first works were at Coplay and Egypt, in Pennsylvania, and in Jora, New York. In 1886 this country made 150,000 barrels, and imported 650,000 barrels. Comparing these figures with those given by the Professor one cannot avoid being struck by the enormous increase in American production and consumption. In the east in recent years a half-dozen factories have sprung up in the Lehigh Valley, at least two on the Delaware River, a large factory at Perth Amboy, others at Glens Falls, Syracuse, and various parts of New York State.

Custom House statistics show that for the year ending June 30, 1901, the total imports of Roman, Portland and other hydraulic cements amounted in value to $2,198,891. Of this sum $1,222,658 was paid to German producers, $579,031 to Belgium, and $269,720 to the United Kingdom. Imports have begun to fall off. For nine months ending in March of this year the total was $1,165,091. In the corresponding period ending in March, 1901, the imports amounted to $1,863,573, while for a similar period a year earlier the total was $2,242,077. A satisfactory start has been made in an export trade. For the year ending June 30, 1901, the total of cement shipments was 218,240 barrels, valued at $438,915. In nine months ending with March of this year, 282,168 barrels, value $482,807, were sent away. In nine months ending March, 1901, the shipments were 118,446 barrels, valued at $253,372. The exports in nine months closing March, 1900, were 54,252 barrels, value $114,090. While our imports are decreasing the exports are going up in bounds.

How much further the export trade may be built up is a question for the cement men to solve. Their largest shipments have been to the British West Indies, Quebec, Ontario, Nova Scotia, Mexico, the Central and South American States and the Philippines. Most of their efforts to secure additional outside trade, it is understood, are being made in South America and the West Indies, while opportunities in our new island possessions and Cuba are not neglected. There is no present expectation of getting a market in Europe.

In natural advantages the discoveries of clayey limestones of a suitable character to give the requisite strength and quick induration to hydraulic cement have placed the home manufacturers at least upon an equal footing with the Europeans. Nearly all the cement they make is artificial, its merits depending largely upon the skill and judgment exercised in selecting clay and mixing it in the proper proportion with the finely pulverized carbonate of lime. American enterprise will not be lacking in competition along such lines as these. The machinery here is not inferior to that used by European manufacturers, and improvements are being made. On the other side, cheaper labor is now the only advantage that is apparent. This alone is not sufficient to enable the foreign producers to hold this market, for they have to meet expenses of transportation and tariffs that are more than an offset. Our manufacturers are driving them out of business here. The struggle hereafter is for the trade in those countries that do not produce their own cement. To supply this demand the Americans have unlimited raw materials in the argillaceous and magnesian limestones, the marl, clay and sand stretching from New York south as far as Virginia and Kentucky, and westerly to Michigan and Illinois.

Opportunity for expansion is not limited to foreign trade. The use of cement in concrete, for bridge foundations, sidewalks, and in a variety of other ways in addition to its original scope as a mortar has grown prodigiously. More and more, it is becoming a substitute for stone, and if, as some conceive, it ultimately will become a substitute for brick and stone in the walls of the structural steel buildings, the expansion of the business may be said to begin then. But that day, if it shall ever come, may be quite distant, and investors and manufacturers will scarcely be justified in basing their hopes on that possibility.

Bridge Approach—Street Signs—Vault Space.

Borough President Cantor, when seen in the City Hall yesterday, said that he approved of the plan of continuing the widening of Delancey st as far as the Bowery for purposes of approach to the Williamsburg Bridge. He and the Bridge Commissioners are in perfect harmony on this question. No action has yet been taken with regard to extending the approach beyond the Bowery.

President Cantor also explained his reasons for preferring a street sign which is illuminated by a light within, to the Becker sign, which depends for its visibility at night upon its enameled letters. "The Becker sign," said he, "is more or less of an experiment. It might give satisfaction, and it might fail to do so. The other system, we are sure, will be successful. True, it will cost more, but the people of this city want good street signs, and as the responsibility of providing good signs rests upon me, I do not propose to run any risks."

Asked if the Corporation Counsel had yet handed in his opinion relating to the right of the city to increase the rentals for sidewalk vault space, Mr. Cantor said that such an opinion had not yet been received by him.

Legal Decisions.

Promise to forbear to foreclose a mortgage—it is a good consideration for a promise to pay it—a reasonable time of forbearance presumed—it is not within the Statute of Frauds. Where a grantee of mortgaged property, who did not covenant to pay the mortgage which was then due, makes an oral agreement with the mortgagee that if the latter will forbear to foreclose the mortgage and will waive its right to declare the whole principal sum due, he will pay the mortgage debt, and in pursuance thereof the grantee from time to time pays a portion of the mortgage debt and the mortgagee does not declare the whole principal sum due and forbears to foreclose the mortgage for more than five years, such agreement is supported by a good consideration. The agreement having failed to specify the time during which the mortgagee should forbear to foreclose the mortgage, it will be presumed that a reasonable time was intended. Semble, that the grantee's promise is an original one, and not one to answer for the debt of the mortgagor, and is not within the Statute of Frauds. (Citizens' Permanent S. & L. Assn. v. Rampe, 68 App. Div., 556.)

Summary proceedings for non-payment of rent—the final order is conclusive as to the tenancy, the occupation and that rent is due, but not as to its amount—an order overstating the amount, modified, but not reversed. A final order made in a summary proceeding to dispossess a tenant for the non-payment of rent is conclusive as to the existence and validity of the lease, the occupation by the tenant and the fact that some rent is due and unpaid, but it is not conclusive as to the amount of rent due, although such amount is alleged in the petition. The fact that the final order overstates the amount of rent which was actually due does not entitle the tenant to have the order reversed on appeal where it does not apear that after the final order was made he made any offer to pay the rent actually due, or to give an undertaking to pay the same. In such a case the Court may, under Section 123 of the Code of Civil Procedure amend the final order by stating therein the amount of rent actually due. (Stelle v. Creamer, 69 App. Div., 296.)

Mechanic's lien—where the owner defaults in payments the contractor need not continue work. Where a building contract provides for the payment of installments of the contract price at various stages of the work, and the owner refuses to make a payment which the contractor is entitled to demand, the contractor is not bound to proceed with the work, but may maintain an action against the owner to recover upon quantum meruit for the work done and materials furnished. When the work is abandoned by the contractor, and is completed by the owner pursuant to a right reserved in the contract, the owner's right to declare a forfeiture of the contract for non-performance is gone; the work of completion is deemed to be done under the contract and on acount of contractor, and the contractor becomes entitled to receive any balance of the contract price that may remain over and above the cost of completion. (White v. Livingston, 69 App. Div., 361.)

Marketable title—the projection of a stoop beyond the building line in a street. The fact that the stoop of a house projects beyond the building line into the street does not constitute a defect in the title to the premises upon which the house stands, where it appears that the stoop has occupied such position for upwards of thirty years without objection on the part of the municipality or of adjoining property-owners or any other person. In such a case, the contingency that the removal of the stoop will ever be compelled by the municipality or by any person having authority in the premises, is so remote as not to be within reasonable contemplation. (Levy v. Hill, 70 App. Div., 95.)

Liability of a landlord to the lessee of a store because of the overflow of closets on the second floor, used by the tenants thereon, of which the landlord retains the supervision and control.—The owner of a two-story building, the ground floor of which is occupied by other tenants for dwelling purposes, who maintains at the end of the hallway on the second floor a water closet designed for the exclusive use of the tenants on that floor, and retains the supervision and control thereof, is liable to the tenant of one of the stores for damage done to his goods in consequence of the bursting of the closet pipes and the overflow of the bowl, resulting from the fact that the pipes and the other appurtenances of the closet had, to the knowledge of the owner, become antiquated, worn and defective, and entirely unfit for the purpose for which they were designed. (Harris v. Boardman, 68 App. Div., 436.)

Mechanic's lien—work directed by a husband, without authority or acquiescence of his wife, on a house owned by or thereafter conveyed to her. A person who does work on a house, owned or afterwards conveyed to a woman, under a contract made with her husband, is not entitled to file a mechanic's lien against the premises where there is no evidence tending to show that the husband had any authority to make the contract for his wife, or that she had any knowledge that the work was being done upon the premises. (Lippmann v. Low, App. Div., 24.)

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c ; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

Mortgages under this head marked with * denote that the property is located in the new Annexed District (Act of 1895).

May 16, 17, 19, 20, 21 and 22.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M.' 'occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

Vol. LXIX. JUNE 1, 1902. No. 1785

AS the year goes on the commercial demand for money lessens. This makes more ample the funds available for employment in the speculative markets, which show considerable strength considering the circumstances. This strength is particularly noticeable in the coalers, which, according to ordinary reasoning, ought to be very much depressed as a result of the strike. Why they are not is because there is a belief prevalent that arrangements are maturing for closer relations among the anthracite roads, and that part of the advance in the price of anthracite coal will be retained when the strike is over, which will improve dividend prospects, especially in the case of Reading. It is also asserted that the Atlantic shipping combination has for one of its objects the pushing of American coal in Europen and other markets and will thereby create the demand which has always been needed to allow Reading to more fully exploit its large holdings of coal lands. A good deal of the general buying of the week has been based on the belief that peace in South Africa will be announced in a few days, and with it will come a new demand for all kinds of investment securities both here and abroad. It is easy to see why the announcement should be made, but not so easy to see why it should be followed by a boom in the security markets, seeing that the significance of the South African negotiations was in the fact that they were begun on Boer initiative, first through Dr. Kuyper, and later directly from the leaders in the field. This fact gave a guarantee of a favorable result; or if not that, then that hostilities could only be resumed in opposition to the judgment of the military leaders, and could not, therefore, be formidable or last long. This feature of the negotiations has not been overlooked, and in fact, accounts for whatever improvement has been seen in the financial outlook across the seas, and reflected in the advance and strength of British Consols, whose upward movement is not ended yet.

ON another page of this isue we publish a second letter from Alderman Ware on the subject of window and other building extensions, which contains an extract from an opinion of the Corporation Counsel as to the Board of Aldermen's powers in regard to these projections. It appears that according to the opinion of the legal adviser of the city, the Board of Aldermen have no power to allow windows, cornices, balconies or other structural projections beyond the street line ,except under general ordinance drafted therefor, and in the drafting thereof must fix a definite license fee for each. That is a view that may naturally be expected to be expressed by the Corporation Counsel in response to a direct question as to whether such and such a projection is an authorized obstruction or structure in the street, just as an affirmative answer might be expected if he were asked by the Mayor whether saloons should be closed on Sunday. It remains with the Board of Aldermen to say what the language of the ordinance shall be and what the fees required, and then the citizen will have the right to ask judicial interpretation of the law. We need not point out that most of the projections from buildings gratify artistic taste, rather than supply practical requirements, and that if they are taxed severely they will disappear and the architectural appearance of our streets will suffer. Moreover, it would be a preposterous thing to attempt to force from owners compensation for the comparatively small amount of aerial space that they occupy, which space cannot be of the slightest use to the city, if for no other reason than because it is pre-empted to the owner's light and air easement. We have no desire to question the soundness of the Corporation Counsel's opinion, but we do not think it was the legislative intent to give such sweeping effect to the provisions of the charter on which the opinion was based. In the event of the regulations being severe and the fees more than nominal, the property owners and trade organizations will have good ground for going to the Legislature to ask for amendments to the law. A serious objection to such movements as that with which Alderman Ware is now identifying himself is, that they put double charges on property. Custom having allowed the projection of bay and show windows, cornices and balconies, for instance, the value of the privilege, where it has any, comes to be included in the value of the property and, of course, also in the assessed value for taxation. Later the city puts a charge on top of that without making any allowance for it in the assessed values. Another is that it is poor wisdom to add to the expenses of development, and what is now proposed is a considerable expense, and would fall heaviest in the outlying sections where development needs most encouragement.

Study of a City Plan.

THE City Parks Association of Philadelphia has just performed an unusual and valuable public service. It has compiled and published a special report of the city plan, and by copious illustrations from photographs and drawings it has made its argument very concrete and intelligible, so that no Philadelphian to whom the report goes can fail to see the pertinence of the discussion, or fail to grasp the need of it and the desirability of the changes, both in fact and theory, that are therein advocated. The result, though it should never pass from knowledge to action, will be a forward step in popular education on a subject too little understood and that is still of prime importance. In the narrower and commercial sense there is no matter of deeper concern to the owners of real estate than the adoption of the city plan and the character of its suburban extension or modification; in a larger and public spirited sense, nothing is so fundamental to the improvement of cities as this science—if it may be so called—of urban geography. It is a good, notable thing that in at least one leading community an association made up of people of civic spirit has undertaken the study of this subject, the disinterested setting forth of the principles that ought properly to guide it, and the local application of these principles.

As to the pertinence of the discussion, there is a very common impression, even among well informed citizens, that the city plan cannot be changed, or that if it can, only an enormous amount of energy will serve to do so. On this point the report says that the notion, or doubt, "is a smoke without the smallest spark. Any street on the plan may be changed by precisely the same method as it was first adopted—by an ordinance of Councils. And not only may the plan be changed, but it is changed constantly. Streets that have been plotted are changed, streets that have been opened are vacated, actually, every day. It is like chasing a bug-a-boo to say so, but that bug-a-boo must be chased." The trouble is not, then, that a city plan can no longer be changed, but that the changes made are too seldom an improvement on the original plotting.

Philadelphia is like New York in having early had thrust upon it the grid-iron plan. In Philadelphia the blocks, according to Penn's plan, were mainly to be square instead of oblong, as with us; but there is the like monotony of straight streets without curve or diagonal. William Penn, however, was not quite as ill-advised as our own Clinton and the other members of the old New York street commission, or else the more generous space for growth that nature seemed to offer to Penn's settlement inspired a more generous altruism in the gentle Quaker's mind. At all events the frontispiece of the report—illustrating "William Penn's plan for the city of Philadelphia"—shows the provision of five open spaces, each half as large again as an ordinary block, for the area between Vine and South streets and the Delaware and Schuylkill rivers. The report notes that had the same protection of small parks been secured for the closely built up sections of the city—as the Consolidation Act of 1854 directed should be done—the city of Philadelphia would have had to-day 280 small parks instead of forty-five!

The prestige of Penn's name, or the force of a horrible but simple example, is shown by the fact that in the thirty or more outlying towns and villages that were consolidated in the city, the same plan of square blocks and straight streets had been adopted, the main connecting roads being taken as the bases. It is curious, remarks the report, that the advantage of diagonal streets did not more impress itself upon the early settlers. The saving of time was, perhaps, not as important to them as to us, but the inconvenience must have been felt. As to the later generations they—and we—have certainly no lack of visible illustrations of the value of diagonal thoroughfares. We do not even have to go to Washington to see this. In Philadelphia Ridge avenue, comments the report, "is a line of shops—and the shop keepers go where the travel is." Our

Broadway teaches the same lesson; while the possibilities in civic art of the diagonal street are well known.

The advantage of continuing some diagonals, of adopting the radial plan, as far as contour permits, in certain outlying districts, and a very interesting street plan worked out by Frank Miles Day, for the improvement of South Philadelphia, all explained in the report by means of drawing and text, need not here concern us. They are the concrete application of principles, of immense value locally; while for other communities they remain only principles that need to be reapplied. But it is an excellent thing to have had these put on paper. And two ideas that the report elaborates are so important, so novel to most citizens, and so generally in need of exposition to-day, that they must be given with some completeness:

"Winding, curving streets are far more picturesque than straight ones, and are particularly delightful for residences, whether for the employer or employed. Curving and diagonal streets give much greater opportunity for diversity of architecture than straight ones do. * * * There is not only no need for a man's home to be located on a straight avenue, but it will be more attractive if it is not. Of course, careful attention must be paid to the sewerage system, but that can easily be observed. * * * It is hoped that the surveyors will take the initiative, but it is also the duty of the people; and not only their duty, but their advantage. Building operations would be more likely to be successful, whether building the poorest class of homes or the best, if the streets were attractive. The houses show much better on a curve than on a straight line. For park purposes the great advantage of having the streets follow the contour of the land is obvious. Parks bounded by curving streets are much more attractive than perfectly square bits of ground."

The other touches the expense of the grid-iron system to the general tax payer and to the specially interested owner of abutting property. As to the first, it is obvious enough, if you stop to think of it, that the cost of pushing streets straight through a hilly or rocky country must be much greater than if they are allowed to follow the contour; and the cost of cutting and filling within the blocks, which is necessary when houses are to be erected, will be much greater in the aggregate than the slight addition to the length of street and sewer, and, consequently, to the cost of the main street bed, if the thoroughfare be permitted to have a grade or to deviate from the rigid straight line. It may be added that the filling very often kills fine trees that might have been saved had the street risen or fallen a little with the natural contour, and that many a time it would be worth while to swing a street a bit out of line to save a tree; while often a street cutting will render worthless an old property by putting it on a steep bluff, when the cheaper following of the contour of the land would have saved, or enhanced, its assessible value. The relation of grade to traffic has, of course, to be considered, but the character of the latter can be anticipated and to some extent predestinated suburban territory; while remembering the charm of curving streets the hill need not be climbed at its highest point. The road may wind around the hill at far less cost than cutting through it, and with more satisfaction to the traffic than if a shorter distance were secured at the cost of a steep gradient—the only alternative, if there were not to be a cut. The railroad ideal is as unsuited for suburban residence streets as is the unmodified checkerboard for the crowded parts of cities.

IN 1897 the Municipal Council of Paris instituted an annual architectural competition the purposes of which was to select from among the apartment houses erected during the year the six best designs. The owners of these six premiated houses are not only rewarded by medals, but certain small but sufficient remittances in taxation. It is interesting to observe that these competitions are growing continually more popular, and that the forty-one competitors of 1898 have now increased to fifty-six. Some people have wondered whether this needed stimulus to architectural merit could be transferred to New York, and have suggested that since the Board of Aldermen is not likely to institute the competition, the Municipal Art Society might make a trial of it, provided funds sufficient to make it an object for builders and architects to compete, could be raised. It is obvious, however, that the system could not be transferred intact to this city; but, some of the real estate associations might do well to consider whether the same idea could not be adapted to our local building conditions. Instead of instituting a competition for the purpose of selecting the best architectural designs, why not institute a competition for the six best income-bearing tenements or apartment houses, fireproof or non-fireproof, which could be erected, without any infringement of the building law, upon lots of certain standard sizes. Such a competition might really help to make real estate in New York a more remunerative investment, and would probably be cordially welcomed by many builders and architects. Moreover, it might be unnecessary to encourage the successful competition by such baubles as bronze medals, or such a mercenary consideration as a remittance of taxation. For the successfully planned apartment house or tenement would be like virtue, its own sufficient reward.

Looking Ahead.

AS is natural during a holiday week towards the end of May, the sales announced in our gossip columns have neither been very numerous nor of any particular importance. The activity of the market is undoubtedly slowly moderating under the influence of the high prices for building material and land, as well as of the time of year. Last spring, indeed, the activity was maintained pretty well throughout the whole of June, but it can hardly be expected that such will be the case during the present year. There are the best of reasons for moderation, and it is noticeable that the large as well as the small speculators have reached this conclusion. During the past month the speculative corporations have been obviously reducing their purchases. The whole market will be certainly benefited by a period of concentration. In the meanwhile the demand continues excellent for well situated property in the business districts. There was the liveliest kind of bidding for the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 16th street, which was offered at auction last Tuesday, and the price at which the property was finally knocked down, $263,000, compares favorably with the level of recent sales in the same vicinity. The Union Club corner brought a somewhat higher price, but real estate on Fifth avenue naturally becomes more valuable as the approach to 23d street is made. There can be no doubt that this section is constantly gaining as a location for big wholesale houses, and at the present rate of consumption the whole district between 14th and 23d streets, Broadway and Sixth avenue, will be, within a few years improved with big loft buildings. The wholesale trade has to remain in pretty close touch both with the department stores and the hotels, and so must slowly but surely push its way uptown. Moreover, the Fifth avenue section has the advantage of new buildings, containing abundant floor space and all the latest conveniences.

In a huge, complex, growing economic organism, such as the city of New York, two parallel processes of expansion are always taking place. On the one hand there is a continual spread of population and business over the outlying districts of the city. On the other hand there is an equally steady process of readjustment taking place at the centre of population and business for the purpose of adapting the old machinery to the more exacting demands. During several years past it is the process of reorganization and renovation which has been dormant in the Greater New York. There has been expansion, of course, in every direction, but this expansion has been so much impeded by insufficient means of communication that it has not been allowed any free and abundant expression. The expansion that is has taken the form of increased concentration rather than increased area. But manifestly the time is soon coming when the dormant process of growth will be transferred to the outer rim of the circle. Beginning within a year one improvement after another will be added to the means of communication until the East and Harlem rivers will no longer exist as impediments to transit, and under the influence of this revolution in conditions a parallel revolution will take place in results. The day of the small builder and the small property owner will return. It will again become possible for a man to buy a comfortable and accessible brick house in New York city for less than $10,000. The public generally will begin to take a greater interest in real estate. In the place of a few hundred expensive buildings there will be erected many thousand cheap ones. Not that the process of internal readjustment in Manhattan will not continue, but it will be somewhat obscured by the larger process of external growth. The conditions, which have made possible such an enormously high level of Manhattan real estate values, will not be reproduced in the other boroughs. The 100,000 people which are added to the population of New York every year (a larger number than that added to any other city in the world) will be partly spread over areas fifteen times the size of Manhattan Island. Values consequently will be both spread more thinly and shared by a much larger number of people.

From interviews published in another column with some prominent brokers and operators in the Bronx, it will be seen that the owners of real estate in that borough are fully alive to the fact that the dam will soon be down and the waters will begin to overflow. Present conditions are not entirely satisfactory but the prospects for the next few years are all that can be desired. The new tenement house law has operated more in the Bronx than in Manhattan to decrease tenement house building, but not only is this condition obviously temporary, but it has been accompanied by an increase of building in the frame dwelling district. For a while the proportion of tenements erected in the Bronx will probably decrease, although it is not to be expected that the decrease will be maintained indefinitely. Of the increase in population in the Greater New York, the Bronx has in recent years been getting about one-fifth. Hereafter it will probably get a still large proportion, amounting in numbers to perhaps as many as 25,000 or 30,000 a year. Such an increase as this, which would be largely accommodated in one- and two-family dwellings, would consume real estate and increase values at an enormously rapid rate. Much of the land most available for exploitation is in the hands of syndicates who will open it up with enterprise and expedition. Within twenty years the population of the Bronx will probably be over 800,000 people. What a chance is that for real estate development!

Fire Insurance.

REMEDIABLE DEFICIENCIES IN BUILDINGS THAT RAISE RATES

Some time ago, the Record and Guide published an article relating to insurance, the moral of which was: See what your insurance is going to be before building. This was good advice, not merely because, if followed, it would enable the owner of the building to save on his own expenses, but also because, so far as he found it possible to adapt his building to the standards of the fire underwriters, he would give his tenants the benefit of the most advantageous rates obtainable, and thus make his rentable space more desirable with the natural and agreeable result of such a fact on income. If the owner intended to be his own tenant, it would be all the more important that he should look to this matter of insurance in advance, because all the rewards of such an act of providence would go into his own pocket.

Briefly described, the plan under which buildings are now rated is this: The underwriters fix a standard of construction, to which is attached a key rate. To this rate there are added charges for deficiencies from the standards, from which are deducted allowances for exceptional construction. For instance, in buildings of fireproof construction, floor surfaces of concrete, tile asphalt, etc., or fireproof trim; and, in buildings of non-fireproof construction, metallic studs and lathing, beams, posts and girders 12 inches thick, waterproof or asbestos paper between floors, grade floor, fireproof, etc. The result obtained forms the basis for computing the rates on both building and contents. Further charges are made for hazard of occupancy and for stocks according as they differ in their susceptibility to damage. Credit is given for fire appliances put upon and in the buildings, and for precautions against and the detection of fire, as watchman, with watch clock, fire alarm systems, etc., and deductions are made for the same. There is also taken into account the possibility of the building being destroyed or damaged by fire from surrounding buildings under an exposure charge, which varies with the hazard involved and conditions applying. The rate thus obtained may be increased for untidiness, lack of proper care of rubbish or waste, or unsafe condition of heating or lighting apparatus or packing material; broken plaster, floors, walls, etc., or overcrowding. But as these charges for faults of management are generally temporary, they need not be considered in a general review of the details by which the rates are determined. It is, however, very important to bear in mind that, as stated above, the rates of insurance on the contents of the building, which are a considerable expense to the tenants, depend to an important extent upon the proximity of construction to underwriting standards.

Building standards designed by underwriters cannot always be entirely adopted in practical construction. It may not always be possible to unite the primary object of construction with the fullest degree of the subordinate object of saving running expenses; but so far as possible it will pay to do it. That the foregoing facts are not known, or if known, either not thoroughly appreciated or heeded, is shown by a case that was recently brought to the attention of the New York Fire Insurance Exchange, the local association of fire underwriters formed to supervise the carrying out of agreements among them and determine rates of premium, and is the natural recourse for all pursued by doubt in fire insurance matters. The seeker for information was the owner of a fireproof mercantile building, who imagined he had something which would meet all requirements of the underwriters and receive the minimum rate. He was, therefore, naturally much surprised when he received his rating to find that he was penalized, so to say, for a goodly number of important deficiencies which increased the rate materially; some of these deficiencies were, of course, due to necessary requirements of construction, but mostly they were such as could have been avoided by a small additional expenditure, or perhaps without extra cost at all. This owner found himself subjected to a charge for extra height, which follows building above the height at which the Fire Department can conveniently handle fires, in fireproof buildings eight stories; a charge for wrought-iron or steel columns in the skeleton, the underwriters discriminating in favor of cast iron; a charge for an excess of area over 5,000 sq. ft. These are charges that were, probably, unavoidable, because no reasonable charges for insurance could be limitive of height, or prohibitive of the use of steel columns in place of cast-iron ones, or control area.

With other deficiencies, a distinction can be drawn, because with foreknowledge of their effects on insurance rates, they would very likely not have appeared. A charge was made for wood floor surfaces, when, not only would none have been made for a surface of either concrete, tile or asphalt, but a deduction would have been made on that account. It is the custom to lay wooden floors in mercantile buildings, but the underwriters consider the others very much better. Another charge was made because stone treads of the stairs were not supported by iron plates. In this city this support is required by the Building Code, and is of considerable importance in preventing the stone treads breaking and falling through and destroying the footing of the firemen; but, of course, the insurance schedule applies elsewhere as well as here. Where such treads exist, the charge is made according to the number of floors in the building, which charge may be halved if the stairway is in an enclosure of fireproof material. Another charge which may be mentioned was because the skylight was not standard. A standard skylight is one with a frame of metal fitted with ½-inch glass or ¼-inch wire glass. The elevator openings, again, were not up to standard. Elevators, and stairways, too, to be up to standard, should be in brick shafts and all openings to same provided with standard fire-doors, that is, doors properly covered with metal. Charges are made for deviations from this standard.

In speaking of the general subject of rates as affected by defects in construction, an officer of the Exchange said the most common were: Skylights with wood frames or having glass less than the required thickness; lack of fireproof enclosures for stairways, elevators or other communications between floors with openings to the same improperly protected, iron columns and girders not protected by fireproofing (the last mentioned more particularly in buildings of non-fireproof construction, though found in many of the older fireproof buildings). Wood floors again were common, and were subject to a charge when laid on wood sleepers and the space between is not filled in with concrete up to the top of the sleepers, the amount charged is double that charged if the space is filled with concrete. In a building where all floor surfaces were of incombustible materials, such as tile, concrete or asphalt, no charge would be made at this point of the calculation, but a 5% deduction would be made from the building deficiencies. If communications between the floors were cut off with standard fire-doors at the openings, a special allowance was made in rating stocks that cover more than one floor, because by these means the danger of fire passing from one floor to another is eliminated in a great degree, and the stocks divided into as many different risks as there are floors upon which they are located.

In buildings of ordinary or non-fireproof construction the interior finish of wood sidewalls or ceilings, or wood lath furring on walls is a more or less common defect involving charges of considerable proportions, as well as roof space or blind attic; also the unprotected communications between floors, stone stair-treads without supporting under treads of iron, but the single 1-inch floor is without question the most frequent of all.

Another deficiency was the use of stone for bonds or caps in brick piers supporting important weights. A charge was made for this because stone would break under the action of heat, and in such an event there was danger of the wrecking of the building. The charge depended upon the number and importance of the stone caps or bonds used in the building. It was urged by the committee who drafted the schedule, that cast iron could be substituted to carry the weight just as well and would not rust sufficiently to affect the stability of the building, and could be arranged so as to form a thorough bond with the brick work. The use of cast-iron caps or bonds would relieve the building of a charge which varies according to the circumstances.

Exorbitant Fees in Condemnations.

In July, 1900, John J. Buckley, Charles Babcock and B. F. Kenney were appointed Commissioners to condemn land for the opening of the public place, at Morris av and 144th st. The awards for the lot and a half involved, amounted to $11,625, and for acquiring this property the city was asked to pay costs of $2,580, of which sum $1,278 was for Commissioners' fees. Judge Greenbaum has cut these fees down to $972. The Commissioners claim to have held no less than 58 meetings to consider this small matter. Judge Greenbaum said: "It is difficult to comprehend what business could have been transacted at so many executive sessions. Indeed, in nearly every instance where an executive session is noted it does not appear what business was transacted.

I consider such a practice highly reprehensible. The fees of the Commissioners will be taxed at the figures certified by the Corporation Counsel."

The action of the Corporation Counsel in bringing the matter before the court is in line with his policy to rid condemnation proceedings from the parties that entail unnecessary delays and expense upon the parties thereto—the city and the property-owners.

Real Estate and Building in The Bronx.

EFFECTS OF GROWTH OF POPULATION.

A review of the present status of realty in the Bronx, together with the outlook for the years to come, shows the conditions prevailing to be full of promise to property owners and those in general interested in that section. The growth of the Bronx in recent years has been pronounced. Its population has increased at a much higher rate, between the years 1890 and 1900, than has either Manhattan or Brooklyn Boroughs. In 1890, sixteen years after its annexation, its population was 86,757; in 1900 the census showed an increase of nearly 130 per cent, making a population of 200,500. The next highest increase was that of Queens Borough of about 75 per cent. Manhattan's increase was in the neighborhood of 30 per cent. This increase was due primarily, of course, to the overcrowding of New York City proper and the necessity of the newcomers and the old residents, who were compeled to move for one cause or another, to find cheaper and more remote places of residence. The extension of the elevated railroad and the work done by the Department of Street Improvements beyond the Harlem made the Bronx a desirable suburban residential section, while the reduction of the "L" fare in 1894 from 10 cents to 5 cents brought large numbers of people within its confines. An idea of the steady enhancing of values in real estate may be obtained by a glance at the amount of the realty assessment made in 1875, one year after its annexation, which was $22,630,515, and in 1900, when it was $130,'528,750. In 1881 plans for 285 projected buildings were filed with the Department of Buildings calling for the disbursement of but $1,052,995. The two million dollar mark was passed first in 1886, with 703 plans filed, calling for the expenditure of $2,407,421, and from then until the present time a steady increase was made, with the exception of but three years, 1888, 1891 and 1893, until the culmination in 1899 of 2,538 plans filed for buildings to cost $22,-420,677.

During the past year there has been a marked decrease in building activity, as a result, partly of the high cost of building material and labor, but mostly because of the enactment of the recent Tenement House Law. A comparison of the Building Department's records of projected buildings in the Bronx for the first four months of 1901 and the corresponding period of 1902 shows the effect of this enactment, at least in the Bronx, to be startling. During January, February, March and April, 1901, there were filed plans for 322 tenements to be erected on an estimated cost of $4,768,500, and for 161 private dwellings to cost $720,150. During the first four months of 1902 there were recorded plans for only 27 projected tenements calling for the expenditure of but $651,000, and the amount to be put into dwellings, 258 in number, had advanced to $1,161,250. But where one district has lost, another has gained to an extent sufficient to be felt. A good deal of capital which would have been invested below 177th street, has been turned into the frame dwelling district above, giving that section a boom which it might not otherwise have felt. The value of property below 177th street, in what may be called the "brick" district, has been benefited by the cessation of building consequent upon the new law, because of the ever-increasing demand being allowed thereby to approach more nearly the supply. Flats and houses are commanding this year an average of about one dollar a month more than last, and about 90 per cent are tenanted, whereas last year vacancies were much too frequent to satisfy owners.

The lack of proper transportation facilities, which at first retarded the development of the country beyond the Harlem will soon be overcome. With the surety of the underground railway system, and the prospect of the New York & Port Chester Railroad Company's new road, to be ready for service at about the same time, much less is left to be desired in that line. Another want, felt more and more as each succeeding month passes, is the establishment of cross-country trolleys. The connection of the Jerome avenue and the Eighth avenue trolley lines at Central avenue, and of the former line with the elevated railroad at 155th street, will make accessible a section at present isolated. The New York & Port Chester electric railway will commence at a point a little north of the village of Port Chester, and run southwesterly through New Rochelle, Mount Vernon, Williamsbridge, etc., to the corner of Willis avenue and 132d street, where it will connect with the New York underground road. The round trip will be made, according to the schedule arranged, by 199 trains daily, running at so high a rate of speed that the trip from the City Hall in Manhattan to Port Chester will take a little less than an hour. This will make the district through which the road passes exceedingly desirable as a residential suburb, and will undoubtedly enhance values greatly.

The situation of the Bronx is ideal as a residential section for New Yorkers. Its proximity to business in Manhattan, together with its natural beauties of sea and landscape and great parks promise for it a future which can hardly be exaggerated. In area it ranks second of the Greater City Boroughs. Queens is the only one larger, having 127.69 square miles, as against 60.9 square miles for the Bronx. Manhattan has 19.65, Brooklyn 42.68 and Richmond 57.19 square miles. In population the Bronx ranks third, with 200,057 people within its limits. Queens Borough follows with 152,999, although its area is more than twice as great, while Richmond, nearly as large, has but 67,021. Manhattan has a population of 1,850,093. By a comparison of areas it will be seen that the Bronx, settled as thickly, has accommodations for fully three times as many people, or more than 6,000,000.

E. B. Levy, an extensive owner and speculator in Bronx real estate, takes an optimistic view of the general situation. He said: "As an instance of the generally good condition of the realty market, may be cited that section bounded by West Farms road, Bronxdale road, Morris Park av and Unionport road. This district is situated near Bronx Park, where the New York & Port Chester Railroad Company has recently purchased 66 acres of ground, and where, it is the general belief, a station is to be erected. Owners of property are demanding and receiving prices greatly in excess of what they would gladly have taken a short time ago. Numerous improvements of a general character are being made by the city authorities. An extension and widening of Washington st is underway, and the name will be changed to the White Plains road. It will be 100 feet wide, and will extend from Boston road to West Farms road. Unionport road is to be widened to 80 or 100 feet, and will be extended so as to become one of the entrances to Bronx Park from the south side. Morris Park av will be widened to 100 feet, and will extend from West Farms road through the Morris Park race track. Moreover, 180th st will be broadened to 100 feet, and will extend from the terminal Rapid Transit station through Van Nest and Adams sts to the West Farms road. In all, it will make a fine array of broad avenues. Sewerage is now being placed along West Farms road up Morris Park av to the race track. The much-needed school house, for which the city acquired a plot 200x200 feet some three or four years ago, will be built in the fall. Plans are already completed by the School Department's architect. The Union Railway Company is laying tracks on Sedgwick av, from Highbridge to Morris Heights, connecting with the 161st st trolley line. The new route will carry passengers direct to the 177th st elevated station, and will make accessible a district at present reached only by the circuitous route of the Burnside av trolley, and the Putnam or New York Central R. R. A bridge is proposed from Sedgwick av, crossing the Harlem River and the Speedway, which will bring the district within the regions benefited by the Rapid Transit system."

In speaking of the manufacturing aspect of the Bronx, Mr. Levy called attention to the many transportation facilities offered by the annexed district around Van Nest, where advantage could be taken of both the railroads and the water, and any number of workmen and workwomen obtained. "The Morris Heights ship-building industry is a great one," he continued, "and the building of houses for the occupancy of the workmen and tradesmen would undoubtedly be a profitable investment. At present the men are compelled through lack of house-room in the vicinity of the shipyards to come long distances to work."

Mr. Levy says speculative realty buying tends toward the lands bordering on the New York & Port Chester R. R., clear on out to the Connecticut line, the common opinion being that this road will cause a boom such as was never before felt.

G. F. Johnson, Jr., when asked his opinion of the Bronx situation, said: "The conditions are better than ever before, and show every promise of becoming better still. This is but the natural result of the better transportation facilities which will come with the completion of the Rapid Transit system and of the New York & Port Chester R. R., together with the steady influx of permanent residents into the Bronx. Nevertheless, it seems to me that a better layout plan could have been made for the underground railway. As it is, the extremes of the West Side and of the East Side will obtain the advantages, while the central tract, some six or seven miles wide, will receive practically none of the benefits. There should have been, and probably some day will be, three spurs to the road instead of two. With only two, it would appear that the most good would have been obtained with the Rapid Transit running up Lexington av. There is already promise of a manufacturing future for Bronx Borough. The purchase by the King's Windsor Cement Co. of the eastern waterfront, near 156th st recently, is an instance in point. There is no reason why the land and water routes shouldn't be taken advantage of by other companies. There would be no difficulty in obtaining labor. In my opinion the best residential section will ultimately be around 156th st and Westchester av, and north and east of this point, where there are more than 5,000 lots restricted to the building of private houses. There is never likely to be in the Bronx, however, a district of the very wealthy. It is too far away, even with rapid transit from New York City proper. Speculative buying is very brisk along the line of the Rapid Transit on Westchester av. Lots which sold a short time ago for $3,000 to $4,000 are now bringing $7,000, and hard to find even at that price. Along the line of the New York & Port Chester R. R. there has been much buying of property in bulk, which will undoubtedly prove a good investment. There is a steady increase of population in all sections of the Bronx, and the demand for houses and flats, at the present time good, is increasing. The department stores are making money. One of them, on a plot 100x100, has recently added four stories, and accommodations are offered about equal to those of 125th st. A good feature is the building of brick houses in the districts where frame buildings are allowed, pointing conclusively, as it does, to the feeling of security in the permanency of the demand for dwellings. A large majority of the 2-sty frame houses are occupied by their owners, who let out the upper story to a tenant, who, in rent, virtually pays for the maintenance of both establishments."

Edward Polak, when questioned on the subject, said: "There has been a very marked decrease in the volume of building during the last year in the districts coming within the provisions of the Tenement House Law, which is probably caused nearly as much by the high cost of building material and of labor as by the law itself. On the other hand, the activity in the 'frame' district—that section north of 177th st and east of the Southern Boulevard—is most pronounced. The cessation of building operations in the 'brick' district, below 177th st, and from Webster av to the Southern Boulevard, has clearly a great deal to do with this, as capital which under the former conditions would have been invested there has been expended in the section further north. It has gone not alone into frame buildings, however, There is being manifested more and more, as time passes, a disinclination to take advantage of the absence of this regulation of the Building Department, holding in the 'brick' district, the increased demand for accommodations, and the promises of a further demand, causing many investors to think the building of frame houses bad business policy. Another effect has been the improvement of the renting situation below 177th st. The building activity of late years had been such that the supply got ahead of the demand. In the present lull, the demand has caught up, and there are probably 50% more flats and houses rented this year in the 'brick' district than last, notwithstanding the fact that an increased rental of about one dollar per month is asked of each new tenant. While it is found that owners of encumbered unimproved property are experiencing some inconvenience because of the assessments to meet municipal improvements, there is a greater demand for improved property, and a tendency toward increased prices. As an instance of the rental conditions, we have 90% of the flats in our charge filled at the present time, as against 50% last year. The conditions are good, and with the new transportation lines, we are to receive, and the steady influx of new residents, it is bound to become better still.

J. Clarence Davies, a real estate broker of wide experience in the Bronx real estate field, looks upon conditions there to be excellent, both as to the present and the future. Mr. Davies, when questioned, said: "The establishment of the better railway facilities which we will have within the next two or three years has already made itself felt upon the market by a readier demand for realty. Conditions were never better in the region of 149th st and 3d av—the business centre of the Borough of the Bronx. The sections through which the Rapid Transit is to pass, as well as those bordering upon the line of the new New York & Port Chester R. R. are being influenced by a speculative buying, which is made, undoubtedly, with the idea of improvement. Owners of properties in these neighborhoods are asking and receiving prices which, before the course of the railways was known, would have been considered almost preposterous. This is as it should be, for the property is, naturally, much more to be desired than it was formerly. In estimating the probable future of the Bronx, one can take no better guide than the past. The progress that has been made in the last twenty years, when this was virtually the country, is remarkable, yet only what should naturally come to a desirable district situated in such close proximity to a great and growing city like New York. Look at the records of realty transactions; the volume of building, and compare the first year's figures with the most recent. The Bronx has made greater proportionate advances than any of the other boroughs, even though it labored, as it did, under probably the poorest transportation scheme of them all—and transportation is the chiefest of essentials to a suburb. With the improvements in this line we are about to receive, there is no reason why the proportionate increase in population of the Bronx, between the taking of the census of 1890 and of 1900, should not be maintained for a long time. It is true that there has been a marked decrease in the number of building operations during the last year, as a result of the enactment of the new law affecting tenement construction, but this is not in any way an indication of a check in the steadily increasing importance of the Bronx. Rentals are in a much better condition this year than last, and new tenants are being asked a slightly increased figure. There is a good deal of building in the district above 177th st, where frame houses are allowed; but the activity is not confined alone to frame dwellings, there having been many of brick erected and in the course of completion at the present time. Taking it all in all, I think one may safely prophecy a steadily bettering condition in population, wealth, and all business and manufacturing interests."

Uptown Movement in the Lace Trade.

The removal this spring of the firm of Goldenberg Bros. & Co., the largest wholesale lace and embroidery house in the city, from their old quarters at No. 470 Broome st to the ground floor of the Constable Building, 5th av and 18th st, marks another step in the uptown progress of the wholesale business of the city. This movement may affect not only lace houses, but is quite likely to include silk and ribbon firms, as well as dealers in notions, etc. The district wherein the most activity is being displayed runs from 14th st up to 22d, and from 6th av nearly to Broadway. On 5th av and the adjacent side streets the building is especially active, not less than a half-dozen structures suitable for show and store-rooms being either in course of construction at the present time, and four or five more are on the boards. Already the well-known firm of P. K. Wilson & Sons, of No. 473 Broadway, and Burr & Hardwick, corner Broadway and Grand st, have announced their intention of moving to the building now being excavated for on the corner (the northwest corner of 5th av and 18th st), exactly opposite the Constable Building, which is expected to be ready for tenants by December or January next. Thus a little nucleus will be formed, around which, it is confidently predicted by some, will congregate during the next few years most of the lace firms which to any extent supply the retail lace dealers. On the other hand, others assert with equal vehemence that no significance is to be placed upon the removals which have so far included such a small proportion of the lace houses.

Mr. Putzel, of Asiel, Putzel & Co., is one holding this latter view. His firm assuredly does not anticipate a removal uptown, or indeed any change at all. It is Mr. Putzel's opinion that the bulk of the trade, at least of the jobbing trade, will for many years to come stay where it is. This view in its essentials is shared by S. E. Bloch & Bros., G. Cronkheim Co., Muser Bros., Newburger, Heine & Co., Voss & Stern and G. Seidenberg & Co. These are all firms doing a large volume of business, and a representative of each stated that no general move was anticipated, and that they failed to see any possible advantage to be gained by a change of base. They were equally unable to explain satisfactorily the course taken by the other firms which have already removed, or have signified their intention of doing so.

Mr. Field, of P. K. Wilson & Sons, was approached with a request that he define the position of that concern with regard to the removal contemplated. He said: "We are going uptown because we consider it a good business move to do so. We have not been influenced in our decision by the actions of any other concerns, our determination to make a radical move uptown having been reached some years ago. We neither know nor care whether or not all or any of the other lace houses contemplate a similar change of location, and we have no opinion to give out as to the probability of a general movement. We have been satisfied for some time that it was the proper thing for us to do, and have been prevented from making the move earlier merely because of our inability to secure suitable accommodations, which we have finally been able to accomplish."

Mr. S. T. Cozzens, of the firm of Goldenberg Bros & Co., when seen at the new headquarters of the company, made the following interesting statement regarding the initiative taken by their firm in the matter of moving uptown:

"For some time past we have been satisfied that it would be a matter of a few years only when the proper place for the wholesale lace and embroidery trade would be much further uptown than it now is. The whole trend of the retail dry-goods business is uptown, and in our opinion the wholesale houses will soon find it to their advantage to move further north. It is bound to come. There is no section between Grand and 14th sts which would be at all desirable, and when a sweeping change is made, as it surely will be made, the district in which we now are offers advantages superior to those to be found in any other section of the city. When we first let it be known that we intended coming up here the idea was scouted and ridiculed by everybody. Many of our competitors asserted that we entirely overestimated our importance as a firm, and that we would soon discover that not only would the other firms stay where they were, but that our trade would fail to follow us uptown. Both of these statements have proven incorrect. Our business has followed us to our new home, and other lace houses are coming to our neighborhood. We made this venture entirely upon our own judgment, without asking the co-operation or advice of any one. Some of our reasons for coming uptown are as follows: A very large part of the buyers coming to this city stop at hotels situated above 23d st. When he starts out, where does a buyer go first? Invariably the large retail dry-goods stores are visited, that he may form an idea of the prevailing fashions and get a line on what he wants to purchase. Obviously a house situated in the neighborhood stands a better chance of being patronized than does a store a couple of miles away."

Mr. Hardwick, of Burr & Hardwick, corner Broadway and Grand st, says that those who supply the retail trade will have to move uptown, and that most of them will do so as soon as they can free themselves from their present stores. In many cases they are being held by leases, and as soon as these expire, or they can sublet, and secure good accommodations in the new district, they will undoubtedly remove also.

The annual game of baseball between the employees of the firm of Daniel Birdsall & Co. and those of E. A. Cruikshank & Co., was played at Prospect Park, Brooklyn, on Saturday last. The twirlers from Birdsall & Co.'s office had no difficulty in defeating their opponents by a score of 14 to 4.

The business of the late William M. Ryan will be continued by his brother, Mr. Vincent A. Ryan. Mr. Vincent Ryan will occupy the same offices at No. 149 Broadway, and his close association with the business during his brother's lifetime is a sufficient assurance that it will be carried on by means of the same sound and successful methods.

H. E. Distelhurst and Morris Weinstein, real estate operators, are now comfortably located in their new offices, on the 6th floor, at No. 35 Nassau st, German-American Building. Their extensive dealings are shown by the frequency with which their names appear in reports of realty sales and purchases. Phone 3390 calls Messrs. Distelhurst & Weinstein.

The Interborough Rapid Transit Co., organized to take over and operate the underground railroad from the contractor, are reported to have acquired the New York & Queens County Railroad and all its traction rights, also the franchise of the tunnel company, including the rights to bore a tunnel from a point in Long Island City, in 4th st, between Vernon and Jackson avs, under the East River to 42d st, and under that street to 11th av, Manhattan.

More easily accessible and better-equipped offices are now occupied at No. 423 9th av, close to 34th st, by the long-established firm of Wm. P. Jones & Son, agents, brokers, and appraisers. Honest, intelligent and constant work have secured a large clientele, whose properties are very satisfactorily managed, and in order to better serve their clients in the way of managing, selling and buying realty, the new offices were secured. Their telephone call is 1764—38th.

It is stated that the prices demanded by Comptroller Grout for the franchise for the Pennsylvania Railroad Co.'s tunnel under Manhattan Island were fifty cents a foot for each single line of track per annum for the first ten years, and $1 a track foot per annum for the remaining fifteen years of the franchise. On this basis it is calculated that the company will pay annually $31,080 for the first ten years, and $62,160 per year for fifteen years. Thereafter there would have to be a new valuation.

Julian Benedict has again won his suit against Alfred Duane Pell to enforce the payment of commission for selling the northwest corner of Broadway and 34th st. Mr. Benedict negotiated the sale to Jacob G. Cohen at $375,000, and claimed $3,750 commission, which Mr. Pell refused to pay. In a previous trial the jury brought in a verdict for the plaintiff, but this was reversed on appeal, and a new trial ordered. In the second trial, begun Tuesday and concluded Wednesday, the jury again awarded to Mr. Benedict the full amount claimed, $3,750, besides $206 interest and an extra allowance of 5 per cent. and costs. The case was tried before Justice Bischoff in the Supreme Court.

The Harlem Property-Owners' Association held a meeting Friday evening last. Changes in officers were made owing to the resignation of Prest. Mitchell, Jos. L. O'Brien being selected president, and Edward J. Murray, second vice-president. Originally formed to contest the assessment for the elevation of the railway tracks on Park av, the association has added to its work the matter of the amendment of the Tenement House Law of 1901, the installation of water meters and fire-alarm systems in private houses and flats. Rapid Transit for the East Side is also under consideration. The speakers of the evening included Senator Hennessey, Geo. B. Christman, President of the United Real Estate Owners' Association; Alderman Owens and Gerald Griffin, President of the East Side Taxpayers' Association.

Extension Windows—Cornices, Etc.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir: In regard to the proposed bay window ordinance, for the further information of your readers, I send the following extract from an opinion received from the Corporation Counsel a month ago, which will be of interest. Regarding cornices, stoops, areas, etc. In response to the following question: "How would Section 50 of the Charter affect the cornice of a building and other projecting members on the face of a building which are strictly speaking encroachments on the street, also the areas in front of a building, stoops, entrance porches, etc?" The Corporation Counsel states as follows: "Under Section 50 of the Charter the Board of Aldermen has no power to authorize any encroachment or obstruction upon the street excepting for the temporary purposes therein mentioned. There is no warrant or authority of law, as far as I can discover, authorizing the projection of a cornice beyond the so-called house line. By subdivision 7 of Section 49 of the Charter the Board of Aldermen is authorized to legislate with regard to areas, so it follows that they are legalized obstructions. The Board of Aldermen has always had the power to regulate the extent to which stoops for dwelling houses shall project upon the sidewalk, and the power always has been and still is exercised.—People ex. rel. Le Boutillier v. Gilroy, M. S., opinion of Lawrence, J., Special Term, Dec., 1891.

"Prior to the passage of the New York City Consolidation Act of 1882, the Common Council by various ordinances (Revised ordinances of 1839, Secs. 12, 9, 14; Revised ordinances of 1859, §19), provided for the construction of stoops extending from what is known as the "house" line to the "stoop" line. These ordinances were ratified by Section 84 of the Consolidation Act, and are still in force (Charter, Sec. 41)." Very truly yours,

FRANKLIN B. WARE,
Alderman, 31st Assembly District.

BERGEN ST.—The Emigrant Industrial Bank has sold No. 332 Bergen st, a 4-sty flat, 30x60x100.

Jefferson M. Levy purchased from the Titus estate its property of about two hundred lots at Steinway, in the Borough of Queens. A large 3-sty frame dwelling stands on the ground.

Superintendent Calder, of the Bureau of Buildings, Brooklyn, has begun the demolition of a 3-story frame building in Nevins st., near Union, for which an owner has been sought for months. The building was in an unsafe condition, and when the city officials could not locate its owner they went to the Supreme Court and got an order for its demolition. The property is said to be owned by a man named Rapelyea, and every man of that name in the Brooklyn directory was visited in the vain quest for the owner of the property.

The announcement has been made of the purchase by Anthony N. Brady, of Harway Basin and the West Meadow, between Coney Island Creek and Gravesend Beach, in the old town of Gravesend, which purchase includes all the short front on Gravesend Bay from the Van Wart property at 46th st., south to Coney Island Creek, east and north to the tracks of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Sea Beach line. It is said the meadow land is to be filled in. Coney Island Creek, which is to be dredged by the Government and made deep enough for ships to pass into Sheepshead Bay, will be available for business purposes.

The Harbor & Suburban Building & Savings Association, the owners of Homecrest, in the Thirty-first Ward, have recently sold 104 lots to builders, who will at once improve the same by the erection of fifty detached dwellings, to sell at prices ranging from $4,000 to $8,000.

The Broker's Part.

A very important decision was given on the much-disputed question of when a broker is entitled to commission, in which it was held that the commission does not depend upon the performance of the contract. The general rule is that when a broker is employed to negotiate a sale of real estate, brings to his employer a responsible purchaser, able and willing to buy upon the terms prescribed, he has earned his commissions. The Second Appellate Division holds, in the case of Benjamin W. Brady vs. Andrew D. Foster, that where a principal enters into a contract of sale and receives a payment on account, he cannot thereafter defeat his liability to his agent for commissions by showing that an execution levied on a judgment which he obtained against the purchaser has been returned unsatisfied. "Where," says Justice Woodward, for the court, "the contract of sale is executed between the employer and the purchaser, the right of the broker to his commissions does not depend upon the performance of the contract of the purchaser. If, from a defect in the title of the vendor, or from a refusal to consummate the contract upon the part of the purchaser, for any reason in no way attributable to the broker, the sale falls through, nevertheless the broker is entitled to his commissions, for the simple reason that he has performed his contract." There was no allegation of fraud in the complaint in the suit brought by the seller against the purchaser, and evidence that the latter was insolvent a year after the contract of sale was entered into did not support the conclusion, says Justice Woodward, that he was insolvent when the sale was made.

The Quarterly.

The first Record and Guide Quarterly for 1902 is now ready for delivery. This publication includes all the conveyances, mortgages, projected buildings, alterations, auction sales and leases, arranged alphabetically and numerically, recorded from Jan. 1st to March 31st, 1902. Price, $3; yearly subscription, $10.

The World of Building

The Labor Situation.

A unique strike, inasmuch as it was without even a fancied grievance to the workmen themselves, was that ordered on Monday last by the delegates of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union, on the iron work of the subway. John B. McDonald, the general contractor, announced on Wednesday that an agreement had been reached at a meeting held with the delegates early that morning, as a result of which the ironmen returned to work on Thursday.

A sub-contractor familiar with the conditions, gave the following explanation: "The contract for the work affected by the strike was awarded to Terry & Tench, who put in an estimate based on the then prevailing wage to ironmen of $2.80 per day for eight hours' work. When, because of the steady forcing upward of the wage scale to $4 per day, Terry & Tench found they would sustain a serious loss, they threw up the contract, the work having since been carried on by the same ironmen at union pay under the supervision of other sub-contractors. The men then made a demand that the contract be again awarded to Terry & Tench at a figure which would enable them to carry on the work, under the $4 a day scale, at a profit. Upon the refusal of a compliance with this demand, a strike was ordered last Monday."

At the meeting of delegates and contractors held Wednesday morning, Samuel Parks, the business agent of the Housesmiths' and Bridgemen's Union, called the attention of the employers to the fact that the union he represented was in a position to cause the contractors a great deal of trouble, and could even go so far, if they wished, as to stop all work on the tunnel. He said that Terry & Tench had always been generous to the men, and in the present situation the union saw a chance to reciprocate, and wished to take advantage of it. Terry & Tench will continue the work on sections 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14 and 15, but will not ask for a new contract on sections 1, 2 and 3, where they are supposed to have lost a considerable amount of money. An agreement was made to hold until May 1, 1903, which provides for arbitration of future disputes, and obligates the payment by the contractors of union wages—$4 per day.

Builders and architects who have work on hand in the villages of central and eastern Long Island, report a scarcity of all building trades' journeymen, and a consequent great demand. In some cases, builders are known to have paid New York City union wages, in each case a considerable advance over the scales of the local unions.

Not content with waging what has up to the present time been very successful war against the employer, the Enterprising and Progressive Chapters of Steamfitters, of New York, and the New Jersey steamfitters' organization, have a quarrel on hand over who shall do the steamfitting in the new schools, Nos. 2 and 29, in Jersey City. The Board of Education of Jersey City last year awarded to Frank Dodson of New York the contract for steamfitting of school No. 2, and of school No. 29, to the Baldwin Engineering Co., also of this city. The rules of the New York union provide that their men shall be employed on all work done within a radius of 25 miles of New York City by a city contractor. Contractors must obey this rule under penalty of a strike on all their local jobs. But the Jersey City steamfitters contend that they should be employed on local work, and as the carpenters, masons and mechanics employed in the construction have refused to work with New York City steamfitters, the job is at a standstill.

The Employing Plasterers' Association is reported by its secretary, H. W. Miller, to still be waiting for the appointment of a journeymens' committee to confer with an employers' committee for the purpose, if possible, of arriving at some plan to mitigate present evils in the relations of the two bodies. The journeymen say the committee will be appointed at a meeting of their union to be held next Tuesday night, and insist that they have no intention of breaking the agreement made for this conference.

Mr. Hammerstein, of Hammerstein & Denivelle, who, as was reported in the Record and Guide last week, were approached by a delegate of the plasterers with a demand for $137 "waiting time," says the firm has, under protest, paid the amount. The protest will be argued at a meeting of the plasterers' association next Tuesday night.

Although a meeting was held on Thursday afternoon at the Ansonia Hotel, Broadway and 73d st, between the parties interested, for the purpose or discussing the causes of the trim strike affecting that building and attempting to reach a settlement, nothing was accomplished. A meeting of the delegates was called for Thursday night to act on this point. It is reprotest will be argued at a meeting of the plasterers' associafor more pay.

Have you read Wants and Offers, on page 1002.

Material Market.

Dealers in nearly all lines report that the strong demand and firm prices that have characterized this season are continuing. In the lumber trade there is less demand for some kinds of wood than prevailed recently, and the market is quiet, but by no means dull. Structural steel is sold to the capacity of the mills for the most part, and delay in deliveries are one of the difficulties with which the builders still contend. Plates and sheets are selling only in a fair way, and the supply is adequate. Common and front bricks are moving freely from the yards to fill orders.

Sales are mostly in large quantities for the high office buildings and big apartment hotels that are being constructed in Manhattan.

IRON AND STEEL.

Crude material is scarce. Finished material is slightly easier. Sheets and the smaller sizes of bars are fairly abundant. Most of the activity is directed toward the purchase of material for early 1903 wants.

Imports of iron and steel continue active. Great Britain sent to this country during the first four months of the year 32,407 tons against 8,953 tons for the corresponding period of last year. Chicago, Kansas City, and other prominent centres have large shipments from Europe on the way.

Domestic steel billets are almost out of the market, so scarce are they.

Old material being high, the large steel companies are trying special processes which do not require the use of scrap.

Some consumers think that the prices of pig iron will ease up before the end of summer. They base their hopes on the enormous production, the heaviest ever known.

Bessemer iron is held by sellers at $21 Valley, $19.75 to $20 forge iron, $21 to $22 No. 2 foundry iron, Pittsburg.

Southern pig iron sold as high as $18 for No. 2 furnace this week. No. 1 is $1 per ton higher, and No. 3 50c. lower.

Stores in this city report that it is impossible to get bars from the mills.

It is understood that the United States Steel Corporation is negotiating for 100,000 tons of Bessemer pig iron to be delivered in the second quarter of 1903.

TIN, LEAD, ETC.

One of the largest copper-working plants in the country is to be built by the Columbia Copper Company, at New Orleans.

Zinc ore has advanced $1 per ton. Production since Jan. 1 exceeds that of the corresponding period of last year by 3,000,000 pounds. Highest price paid this week was $34 per ton at Joplin.

Lead ore brought $22.25 per 1,000 pounds, delivered.

Swansea had 187,427 boxes of tin plate May 10, as against 70,537 boxes on the same date last year.

WINDOW GLASS.

Plate glass interests have avoided the price war that was threatened. All factories are to be closed in July. It is estimated that the productive capacity of all the plants in the country amounts to 38,000,000 feet, while the consumption is not over 27,000,000 feet, with scarcely any exportation. These figures are given as the reason for curtailing production.

Morgantown is the site selected for a 96-pot plant to be erected by the West Virginia Plate Glass Co. The Dexter Creek Stone and Sand Co. will supply limestone and glass sand.

There is a report that the Pittsburg Plate Glass Co. will act as selling agent of the National Lead Company.

BRICK, STONE, CEMENT.

An excellent demand for building brick continues. Stocks which were recently on hand have been reduced. If the coal strike continues manufacturers who burn coal may be obliged to make the necessary charges for substituting wood as a fuel. This will not take long. In the meantime the uncertainty makes the starting of new coal fires under the kilns unwise, unless there is enough coal in the yard to finish. Front brick is selling steadily. Manufacturers of Columbus brick are 30 days behind orders. This has been caused by a large demand for its use in new school buildings in the west. Cement is selling at full prices.

Artificial tile and marble are to be turned out in a Philadelphia factory. The composition, known as Mertile, was discovered by a German chemist.

About 60,000 bricks are being turned out daily by the New York Brick and Paving Company, and selling them as fast as they can be made.

A new brickyard is being located near Belle Isle, on the Erie Canal, by Ballard & Son The Kirkville Brick Company, which did not run its plant last year, is making repairs preparatory to starting up for this season.

At Trenton the Quaker Portland Cement Co. has been incorporated, with a capital stock of $2,000,000.

Ten Massachusetts and Connecticut concerns will merge in the Western Massachusetts Lime Company, with a capital of $1,500,000. The main offices will be at Canaan, Conn.

PAINTS AND OILS.

It has been discovered that some Canadian paint manufacturers are using lime sulphate or gypsum as a substitute for white lead. An analysis of a can showed that 15 per cent. of white lead was used. The Canadians says that the use of gypsum does not more than equal the substitution of baryites by American manufacturers.

Mr. Phillips, of Valentine & Co., varnishes and colors, has sailed for England.

Mr. Ripley, of the F. O. Pierce Co., has gone to Europe on a pleasure trip.

Linseed oil is so firm that another advance in prices is expected. It will probably be slight.

LUMBER.

Word has been received that 300 shingle mills in Washington have closed down for two, possibly four, weeks. This reduces the annual output of the State by 250,000,000 feet, if they remain closed for only two weeks.

Maine's log crop is 750,000,000 feet. The total crop in this State, Vermont, New Hampshire, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia is 2,175,000,000 feet. Of this amount 1,575,000,000 feet is for saw mills and 25,000,000 feet for piling.

It is estimated that at the present rate of cutting the spruce trees now standing in Maine will not be consumed inside of 30 years.

J. G. Jackson, of Maryland, the former Governor, is supervising the construction of the Jackson Lumber Company's extensive plant at Opp, Covington County, Alabama.

Planing, door and finishing mills are running at full capacity, and have recovered from the over-production of last year.

Tests of Fireproofed Wood.

STATEMENT FROM THE BUILDING DEPARTMENT

There appeared in the last issue of the Record and Guide a note regarding a report read at the sixth annual convention of the National Fire Protection Association. In this note it was implied that the New York Bureau of Buildings had demanded of the manufacturers of fireproofed wood $1,000 each to defray the cost of making a series of experiments in order that a standard and uniform test for fireproofed wood might be adopted.

Mr. Miller, of the Building Department, requested an interview with a representative of this paper in order to explain the situation more fully, and to do away with the false impression created by the paragraph alluded to. Said Mr. Miller:

"The request that a thorough investigation of methods suitable for a fair test to be applied to all fireproofed wood used in this city, was made by the manufacturers themselves. They claim that the 'shaving test' adopted by the Navy Department is unnecessarily severe, and does not in any way represent conditions which would ever exist in reality. In the 'shaving test' the wood to be tested is cut into fine shavings. These shavings are put into a wire basket, and then subjected to the flame of a bunsen burner. If, under these conditions, the wood shows any disposition to ignite, the sample is rejected. A committee representing the various firms furnishing fireproofed wood was formed some time ago. This committe notified the Building Department that they greatly desired the adoption of some definite standard to which they would all have to conform, and offered to contribute $1,000 each toward paying experts for making such research as would be necessary. Not only is it hoped to establish a standard test for the non-combustible qualities of the wood, but it is also hoped that the employment of some process which now use zinc salts and other chemicals of a poisonous nature will be prohibited. One more point to be examined and an important one, is the effects the different processes have upon the strength of the wood. Some methods are said to render the material extremely brittle and unfit for use."

"So you see, the manufacturers are not being asked to do anything beyond what they themselves have offered to do. It is expected that the tests will be completed and definite standards fixed before long."

Bids and Estimates

Only one letter has been received this week throwing new light upon the question of bids and estimates, a discussion of which has been in progress in these columns for some weeks. An additional interview has, moreover, been secured which certainly deserves publication.

A builder made to a Record and Guide representative the rather astonishing statement that he had been asked to bid upon a building with the condition that if in any particular the plans did not fulfill the necessary requirements of the building laws, that he, the contractor, was to be held responsible for making such changes as would be needed to make the plans conform to the legal requirements.

"Very many architects," said he, "are ignorant of many of these requirements, or else do not care to take the trouble necessary to make their plans in accordance with them. When a builder is obliged to go over a set of plans, figure the strength of each beam and estimate the load it has to carry, and, in short, see that the plan is correct in all its details, he is being asked to do more than his share. If the architect would first see that his plan is as it should be, and then work out his bills of quantities for each kind of material required, a much fairer apportionment of labor would be made than exists at present. No contractor or dealer would think of objecting, if asked, to give figures at which he could furnish and put up a certain amount of a specified kind of material, but when obliged first to examine plans and see that they are correct, and then be expected to do all the calculating in order to ascertain the amount of each material needed, both without any guarantee that we will be paid for our time, we think we are being imposed upon about to the limit of tolerance."

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

I have read with interest the letters and editorial comments which have appeared in your paper on the above subject, and would suggest, as a simple and effective remedy for the abuses complained of, and as establishing a system satisfactory to all parties concerned, the following:

First.—That a bill of quantities be supplied to each builder tendering for the work in competition; quantities to be taken by a competent surveyor of recognized standing whose fee would be a percentage on the amount of accepted estimate, varying from 1¼ to 2½ per cent, according to the character of the work.

Second.—That none but tradesmen whose standing and reputation are satisfactory to the owner or architect, be allowed to compete, and the fact of any contractor being invited to estimate on the work be held as binding on the owner to accept his offer if the lowest.

Third.—That all estimates be handled in not later than a date specified on the invitation card; and a full list of same be exhibited in the architects' office, accessible to all parties interested.

That some such system as the foregoing prevails in some foreign countries may be no argument for its adoption here, but the relief afforded contractors by transferring the labor of quantity taking from the shoulders of a number of competitors (each one of whom performs the work gratuitously and in a more or less rough-and-ready manner for himself) to an expert who furnishes identical copies to all, is something which those best acquainted with the arduous nature of the work, when rightly performed, ought best to appreciate. The small percentage charged to the owner is more than offset by the closeness and accuracy of an expert quantity surveyor. Of course the successful contractor for his own protection will verify the bill of quantities before signing contract, but apart from this, one man's labor stands for that of all who figure on the work, with the additional advantage of a common basis of calculation for all competitors.

Product and Appliances.

"Where can I see the effect of the American Stoker," enquired an inquisitive person from one of the officials of the company. "See those tall chimneys over there?" said the official; "well, the American Stoker is used at every one of those factories." "But I see no smoke," said the inquisitive person. "That's just it—there is no smoke where the American Stoker is used, and they use soft coal, too."

On June 4th the Masurite Explosive Company proposes to demonstrate the safety of their explosives. The scene of the tests will be Sand's Point, Long Island, in the vicinity of President Masury's country residence. An explosive which will only explode in the right direction, with force readily guaged, is something much needed where rock must be blasted for building foundations, as in New York, besides the excavations for tunnels.

We mentioned the new light which the War Department intends placing in the Statue of Liberty, on Bedloe's Island. This light is to be supplied by the Municipal Lighting Company, of New York, and will consist of the wonderful lamp invented by Colonel Proskey for the proper application of kerosene for lighting purposes generally. More brilliant than electric light, pure white, and far cheaper, with absolute safety.

The corrosion of sprinkler heads in dye-works, chemical works, and all places, in fact, where the atmosphere is permeated with acids, is the cause of considerable loss through the failure of the sprinkler to act in time of need. Geo. W. Sherman, a consulting engineer of Boston, is said to have invented a coating which absolutely preserves the sprinkler. We do not think this is a difficult matter, but are surprised in the face of its importance that the great sprinkler company at Providence, R. I., has not long since overcome the difficulty.

We seldom hear about fire extinguishers other than the great hose and engines of the fire department, putting out a fire in time to save life and property. We read what the "Crescent" can do, or the "Rex" will do, but we want to find out what these and others "have done."

We wonder whether Superintendent Stewart of the Bureau of Buildings will keep his word regarding fireproofed wood. "In two months, a quick method of testing the wood will have been decided upon," said Mr. Stewart three weeks ago. We are watching and waiting to see justice done and pin our faith in the Superintendent.

We are told that Elastic pulp plaster is fireproof, that it is a nonconductor of electricity or sound, that frost will not damage it, that it will cause no stain, and that it takes paint readily. We are also informed that it is made of wood pulp combined with fire clay and cement. We desire proof of these claims!

O. M. Moore, secretary of the Puget Sound Bureau of Information of Seattle, is urging the necessity of having a building located at some central point, where homeseekers and travelers may be invited for the purpose of gaining information, viewing specimens of the manufactures of the State, farm products, mineral ores, woods, grains, fruits, fisheries and educational work. In a letter addressed to the Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Moore states that the bureau has had plans prepared for a special building, and the structure itself would be a thorough exhibit of the lumber resources of the State. The building once provided the bureau would undertake to keep it open to the public and care for the exhibits. The matter was referred by the Chamber to the Committee on Immigration.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a. G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a. G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to their having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

Mortgages under this head marked with * denote that the property is located in the new Annexed District (Act of 1895).

May 23, 24, 26, 27 and 28.

Legal Decisions.

The Appellate Division have sustained a judgment enforcing a verbal agreement which is of much interest to realty circles. Timothy W. Quinn and Robert Quinn, brothers, agreed verbally to make a joint purchase of the property Nos. 23 and 25 Tiffany pl. Each contributed an equal amount of money, and as time passed each advanced an equal share toward paying off liens and mortgages. The title to the property, instead of being taken in the names of both, was placed in the name of Robert Quinn. After occupying the premises for nearly five years, a partnership which existed between the two brothers was dissolved, and then Robert sought to take advantage of the fact that the paper title to the property was in his name and refused to give Timothy his share. A judgment of the Special Term of the Supreme Court, decreeing specific performance of the verbal agreement, has been affirmed by the Second Appellate Division. It was urged that Timothy, as the plaintiff, had under the real property law no equitable rights in the premises, because it is declared in that law that a grant of real property for a valuable consideration to one person, the consideration being paid by another, vests title in the grantee, and no use or trust results to the person paying the consideration. The appellate tribunal, however, finds that relief can be granted to the plaintiff under the limitation in the real property law, which provides that "nothing contained in this article abridges the powers of courts of equity to compel the specific performance of agreements in cases of part performance." Justice Woodward, for the court, says: "There has been a partial performance of the agreement; the plaintiff has been put into a position where he must suffer loss by reason of the bad faith of the defendant unless equity interposes to prevent the fraud, and it is the high duty of this court to act in such a case, even though the diligent search of the defendant's counsel has failed to discover an analogous case or an exact precedent. It is the special merit of a court of equity that it molds its judgments to the facts as they exist, and by the application of well-settled rules, reaches the ends of justice where the law is powerless to grant relief."

Landlord and tenant—surrender, as untenantable, of premises injured by fire—what agreement as to insurance and the disposition of the proceeds thereof makes the statute inoperative. A lease of premises upon which there was a 2-sty frame building with a brick front contained the following provisions: "That said party of the second part (the lessee) agrees to keep the said premises insured for his own and sole benefit, and will have no claim and demand on the party of the first part for any damage or loss on building in case of fire. And the party of the second part (the lessee) agrees to do all repairs on said premises, if any, or if desired by him, at his own cost and expense without any claim on the party of the first part. In case of destruction of said building by fire or otherwise, the party of the second part may rebuild the same and erect another building." Shortly after the execution of the lease the parties thereto entered into another agreement which recited that the building on the demised premises was insured, and provided that in the event of the premises being damaged or destroyed by fire, the lessor would pay to the lessee the amount obtained from the insurance company to repair the damage or to rebuild in case the premises were wholly destroyed, and that in the event that the lessor should neglect or refuse to pay such insurance moneys to the lessee, the latter might retain the rent thereafter to become due until the amount thereof should equal the amount of the insurance moneys. Held, that in the event of the property being so injured by fire as to become untenantable the lessee did not have the right to surrender the premises and escape further liability for rent thereafter accruing, under section 197 of the Real Property Law (Laws of 1896, chap. 547.) (Lehmeyer v. Moses, 67 App. Div., 531.)

Marketable title—encroachment of a building two and one-half inches upon an adjoining lot—tender, with the deed, of a conveyance of the use of such two and one-half inches while the buildings stand, in which a mortgagee thereof does not join—effect of the destruction of the building on the adjoining lot. Where the vendor in a contract for the sale of a city lot has a marketable title to all of the land which he contracted to convey, but a portion of the fence and wall and building erected upon the land encroaches upon the adjoining lot for a distance of two and one-half inches, the existence of the encroachment does not justify the vendee in rejecting the title, when the vendor at the time fixed for closing the title tenders to the vendee an instrument by which the owner of the adjacent property grants to the vendor the right to use the strip encroached upon, "during the period of the existence of said structures as they now stand." The destruction of the building erected on the adjoining owner's property would not terminate the right to continue the encroachment. The fact that at the time the adjoining owner executed the release his premises were subject to a mortgage, and that the mortgagee did not join in the instrument, does not render the release ineffective, it not appearing that the mortgage was about to be foreclosed. Section 1499 of the Code of Civil Procedure, providing that an action to recover possession of premises cannot be maintained "where in any city the real property consists of a strip of land not exceeding six inches in width, upon which there stands the exterior wall of a building erected partly upon said strip and partly upon the adjoining lot, and a building has been erected upon land of the plaintiff abutting on the said wall, unless said action be commenced within one year after the completion of the erection of such wall, or within one year after the first day of September, eighteen hundred and ninety-eight," is constitutional and removes any question concerning the title to the premises. MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Private Branch Exchange System of supplying TELEPHONE SERVICE is particularly adapted to the requirements of LARGE HOTELS and APARTMENT HOUSES

By means of a Private Branch Exchange the general telephone service, local, suburban and long distance, is available in every room and apartment. A complete interior service is also supplied, adding largely to the efficiency, and decreasing the cost of the hotel service proper. No modern Hotel or Apartment House should lack a Private Branch Telephone Exchange.

JOBBERS IN ALL KINDS OF GLASS

ARCHITECTS, BUILDERS and OWNERS are invited to send for Estimates, We are the largest makers of Plate Glass in the world, and the quality of our production is known to be the best and purchasers will find it much to their advantage to communicate with us.

The Finishing Touch

to a building estimate is to specify M F Roofing Tin. It is the best roofing material —perhaps just a little more costly at first; but it will last more than half a century; will not rust, or leak. It is the world's standard for roofing tin.

M F Roofing Tin

is made by the old-style hand process. It carries the heaviest coating of pure tin and new lead. Every sheet is carefully inspected and only perfect plates sold. This (MF) mark stamped on every sheet. Ask your roofer, or

Vol. LXIX. JUNE 7, 1902. No. 1786

THERE is no doubt that professional Wall Street was disappointed by the action of the security markets both here and abroad this week. It was expected, erroneously as we pointed out last week, that the signing of the peace agreement in South Africa would be followed by a pervading advance in security prices. As this did not take place disappointment followed, which was expressed by an open attack on prices in the latter part of the week. The bulk of the news was fairly good, but the untoward possibilities of the strike in the coal trade are too apparent and too serious not to override everything else. The least and best that can be said of this strike is, that even if the possible consequences are not accomplished to anything like a maximum degree, the signs point to a long and bitter fight, which cannot fail to have its effect upon the general business of the country. Current crop news, while on the whole somewhat more cheerful, does not remove the fears aroused by earlier reports; that is it does not show that the land is recovering now what it lost in previous months. Some weakness in stock prices is, therefore, not surprising, though the agencies that have supported the market hitherto in spite of abnormally high quotations, are still present and ready to act as soon as short contracts appear in volume. These agencies are the confidence and tenacity of holders of securities, continued prosperous business and cheap money. They will not, however, prevent, in the long run, the return of prices to a nearer parity to real values than they have approached for a long time. Nor does their continued presence remove our opinion that we saw the culmination of the stock market boom last year, and that this year we have seen the reaction from the depression that followed it. We have now to add that the market has resumed the process of natural decline which the circumstances call for. Heavy selling unaccompanied by liquidation would produce a quick rally, but all the same, those who are awaiting the return of the boom movement are simply lingering around the ashes, though perhaps still glowing, of a fire that is spent.

ONE of the things upon which the expectations of a rise in this market was based was the assertion that as soon as peace was arranged, London would buy Americans. The futility of this hope is shown by current comments upon our securities by the local financial press, a characteristic example of which is the following: "The stringency (in money) appears to be largely due to American operations on this side, securities being offered for loans here in order to carry over liabilities until the opening of the export season shall adjust the balances between here and New York. It is scarcely necessary to add that bankers here can hardly be too cautious as to the extent they are willing to make advances on American securities, their value being a very uncertain quantity from day to day, and almost from hour to hour." In due time the new conditions in South Africa will work benefit on all sides, but they have not had time to play yet, and, meantine, there must come the curtailment of governmental disbursements for war purposes and the release and replacement of the capital employed to meet the government's wants. The first benefits will be felt by the best issues such as government bonds. The advance in Consols has been checked by realizings, but the resumption of purchases for the Sinking Fund will practically insure current quotations, so that when outstanding speculative contracts have been adjusted the upward movement will be resumed. Another government bond to which attention may be drawn is the German Imperial 3s. It is confidently reported that a new issue will be made in a short time, and this will afford an opportunity to buy the bonds cheaply, as the depression of British Consols just prior to the last issue did to buy them. Last year a lot of Imperial 3s were issued at 87½; this year an issue was made at 89.80, and the bonds have since advanced to 93, and would have been higher but for the superior attraction of Russian 4s to the German investor. No part of either of these issues was placed officially in this market, but some were sold by bankers having foreign connections, and the results have been satisfactory. Not only does this bond sell lower and pay more—3 per cent. as compared with 2½ per cent—than the Consols, but interest is subject to no deduction for income tax as income on the latter is. As to safety, for practical purposes, one is as good as the other.

Recent Tendencies of Railroad Control.

WHEN, as they have been doing lately, any of the great railroad men have appealed for the release of the railroads from control by Federal or State Commissions, they have apparently not been aware of how purely personal their appeal was in a sense. The whole tendency of the railroad development in the past three years has been to throw the control of the railroads of the country into so few hands that none of them can make such an appeal as that previously referred to without the personal motive being, in appearance at least, revealed to the hearers. Within the consolidation movement there has been another and corresponding action which reduced the number in control as the number of the independent companies was reduced. The attitude of the ordinary shareholder in this country toward railroad government has been similar to that of the ordinary citizen towards civil government, i. e., to consistently leave it to the professional; his proxy has gone to elect a ticket composed for him in the office of the railroad manager, as the citizen's vote has been given to elect a ticket in whose composition he has had no share. The result has been the same in both cases; it has produced the institution best known by the undignified term "boss." Railroading has perhaps been more amenable to this influence than any other of our affairs, for notwithstanding the vastness of its extent and the enormous amount of capital involved, it is at present dominated, if not entirely controlled, by just five men only.

It is during the present boom—which,however,if the coal strike is prolonged and extended, will have soon to be referred to in the past tense—that this concentration of railroad control into few hands has made the greatest strides, and this has been effected not by purchase of stock for individual account, but by the employment of the credit of companies already controlled to acquire by their issues of bonds other companies, thus enlarging the mileage included within one system without in any degree enlarging the control. In this way, to quote the most prominent instances, the Union Pacific obtained its control of the Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific, and the Great Northern their control of the Burlington. The process employed is, however, best illustrated by the case of the New York Central. Up to within a recent period, the New York Central, the Lake Shore and the Michigan Central were independent systems; though, as is well known, Vanderbilt interests dictated their policy and management. Each had stock out in the hands of the public by which control could be changed if that were expedient. The mileage of all was in the neighborhood of 6,000 miles, and the capital secured and unsecured amounted to about $440,000,000, the stock alone being about $183,000,000, or 40 per cent. of the total. The stock of the New York Central then amounted to $115,000,000—we are speaking of a time prior to the latest issue—which was, say 26 per cent. of the total capitalization. By consolidating the Lake Shore and the Michigan Central with New York Central through the agency of bonds, the entire control, which had previously lodged with the 40 per cent. of capitalization, became concentrated in the 26 per cent. Nor does this represent the whole of the case, because actual control is with any majority of this 26 per cent, which would reduce it by anything less than half. It would be even possible to show, that in an extreme of the case, a comparatively few millions of dollars could, if the credit of the individual employing them was sufficient to bring the facilities to borrowers offered by our banking system into play, control the whole of this system of 6,000 miles of railroad which had cost $440,000,000 to create. Moreover, the proportion of capital controlling could be reduced by continuing the process of acquiring new properties by the issue of bonds, and the percentage of the total capital, on which the whole fortunes of the system depended, reduced to very small figures indeed.

In this latest tendency of railroad control—this moving towards a railroad dictatorship, for there is no more reason why the five should not eventually become one as the 50 of not so long ago became five, raises two questions, one more immediately addressed to the investor, and the other to the public and the government. In the process of consolidation there has been a return under the spur of expediency to the fixed income security which was in part discarded as a result of the bankruptcies of 1893 and thereabouts, and this raises a question of financial wisdom that will have to be thrashed out later. The second question is one of public policy, and is whether it is desirable or proper to allow the process of concentrating railroad control in fewer hands as time goes on to continue; and, if not, what steps should be taken to prevent or counteract it? The conditions produced up to the present time are regarded suspiciously by both the public and the legislatures, and it is highly probable that the near future will see a movement initiated to deprive consolidation of some of its unsatisfactory features, in fact President Roosevelt said as much in his Charleston speech. Much will depend upon the outcome of the Northern securities case, but whatever that may be, the circumstances call for serious consideration.

IT is somewhat amusing, even if annoying in its effects, to notice the promptness with which manufacturers in this city avail themselves of the slightest excuse to discard anthracite for the cheaper steam-making bituminous coal. The fact that all the smokestacks along the water fronts are now spouting forth black clouds, just as they did two years ago, when the last previous strike was on, makes it necessary that the health officers should increase their vigilance to prevent what may be, though probably is not a necessary result of the strike, developing into a permanent nuisance. Such a thing would be a misfortune of incalculable proportions and must not be.

Transactions of the Week.

WHILE the real estate market still remains seasonably quiet, and while it is absolutely devoid of new tendencies, still it is continually supplying illustrations of customary lines of activity, which are of considerable interest. The purchase, for instance, by the Maritime Exchange of Nos. 78 and 80 Broad street at a price, which is an advance of 33 per cent. over that which the seller recently paid for it, is an illustration both of the way in which business organizations have lately been acquiring new and settled habitations, and of the increased popularity of Broad street south of Exchange place. The settlement of such an institution as that of the Maritime Exchange in the lower part of that street will very much stimulate the demand for property in the vicinity as sites for office buildings, and during the next few years, it may be expected that lower Broad street will present much the same appearance as lower Broadway. Further uptown the purchase of the southeast corner of Fifth avenue and 20th street, in the interest of Lord & Taylor, who occupy abutting property on 20th street and Broadway, will mean the improvement of still another Fifth avenue corner in the near future. This is the fifth corner on the avenue between 14th and 23d streets, which either is being improved or soon will be; and the whole site with frontages on Broadway and on the avenue will be a peculiarly advantageous one for a house that conducts both a retail and a wholesale trade. Another interesting transaction is the lease of the northwest corner of Broadway and 32d street, to the Royal Company for a cigar store at a rental which is said to represent 5 per cent interest on $800,000. This seems to be such an enormous rental to pay for a cigar shop that according to the standards of several years ago, the figure would have been incredible, but lately the tobacco trade has become controlled by companies with abundant resources, and new and more enterprising methods, Large shops, such as that in the St. James Building, centrally situated have been found to pay very well, at least as an advertisement, for the people who frequent middle Broadway are almost without exception smokers of large quantities of tobacco, and the consequence is that such expensive locations as that of the ground floor of the new Flatiron Building, or such as the corner of 34th street and Broadway, mentioned above, are being found to be peculiarly adapted to the tobacco trade.

The transaction, however, which overshadows all the others in interest is the purchase by the George A. Fuller Co. and others of the Plaza Hotel at a price, which is said to give the New York Life Insurance Co. a handsome profit on what was once supposed to be a most unfortunate investment. It is stated that the existing building will be torn down at the expiration of the lease and a twenty-story building substituted in its place. So many large projects similar to this have been announced in the past without ever getting beyong the preliminary newspaper stage that it does not do to accept the report on its face value. But assuming that such a hotel is to be built and that the existing structure is to be torn down, the project is almost a perfect illustration of the kind of operations which are absorbing the attention of the speculative real estate companies. They are already seeking for large central sites peculiarly adapted to some particular kind of improvement, and they expect to make large profits by the control of such sites and the erection on them of the kind of building which pays best. In the case of the site of the Plaza Hotel, it is obvious that the location is probably the best in New York City for a hotel that will go even beyond the Waldorf-Astoria in size and magnificence, for while it is not as central as some other situations, it is even more exclusive and conspicuous. For this reason the operation if undertaken is likely to be successful, and the Plaza, the one properly planned square which New York possesses, will be surrounded by skyscrapers of the loftiest kind.

THE actual selling value of real estate in Manhattan varies so quickly, and sometimes apparently so arbitrarily, that the attempt to fix a uniform assessed valuation at about two-thirds of the selling value is an impossible task. In individual cases wide variations are sure to occur, and could not be kept out by the best informed and most expert appraisers. But while individual variations are sure to occur, it is a very different thing to have such variations occur in different and strongly marked classes of property. Such is now, undoubtedly, the case in Manhattan. During the past eighteen months real estate in certain definitely marked sections of the city has increased in value anywhere from 15 to 30 per cent., and these increases have not as yet exercised any appreciable influence upon the assessed valuations on the city books. As the Record and Guide showed recently, the assessed valuations of tenements and small residences average just about two-thirds of the value at which such properties sell; whereas, the assessed valuations in the business and speculative districts scarcely averages one-half of the value at which parcels so situated sell. These increases in value have been very recent, so recent, that it might have been premature to have allowed them much of any influence upon the books of the present year; but, while recent, it is now also apparent that they are likely to be well sustained; and some allowance ought certainly to be made for them in the tentative valuations next fall. An equalization of the tax valuations in Manhattan will help to lower the tax rate and to increase the debt limit without doing an injustice to anybody. It is very rarely in the history of real estate, even of Manhattan, that such unusual increases have taken place as during the past eighteen months, and the facts justify an equally extraordinary expansion of the assessed valuation of real property. The following table shows the increase in the assessed valuation in Manhattan and the Bronx for every year since 1885:

	Increase.		Increase.
1885	$51,901,649	1894	$54,458,532
1886	37,577,920	1895	36,260,617
1887	52,579,486	1896	103.175,342
1888	53,773,981	*1897	57,812,065
1889	29,679,516	1898	77,218,829
1890	71,901,427	1899	228,831,249
1891	72,232,040	1900	30,171,780
1892	94,545,900	1901	36,560,911
1893	62,400,941	1902	96,137,705

*Franchise valuation not included.

It will be seen from this table that only twice in seventeen years has the increase in assessed valuation exceeded $100,000,000, and that the amount of the increase, 1899 apart, has varied, generally speaking, with the activity of general business. It should be added that during the same period the aggregate valuation has more than doubled, so that a $50,000,000 increase in 1885 would constitute a smaller percentage than does a $100,000,000 increase at the present time.

THE President of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Co. has criticised the Rapid Transit Commission for making the terms under which the bids are taken for the constructing and operating contract of the new Brooklyn extension as too severe. On the other hand, many more disinterested students of the problem are inclined to believe that they are not sufficiently advantageous to the city, and that under the conditions now prevailing, better terms could undoubtedly be secured. Such is the opinion of Controller Grout, and the Record and Guide agrees with him that a generation from now, the authors of a contract which permits a private corporation to obtain a franchise at a fixed valuation for a long period of years during which the value of that franchise will enormously increase, will not be held in any excessive esteem. It is this consideration of a fixed rental for a piece of property which will continually become more profitable that tells strongly against the terms under which the contract is now offered. As a well-known municipal economist suggests in another column, it certainly ought to be possible to arrange a sliding scale, which would give the city an increased return, as soon as the net earnings of the operating company had passed a certain percentage. That is the method which has been used in Paris, and which is so manifestly fair that, now the value of the subway franchises are better understood, a bidder could scarcely object to it. But in case the bidders did object to it, the city should be ready as the Record and Guide has frequently pointed out, to assume the whole responsibility itself for both the construction and operation of the tunnel. In no other way can private capitalists be taught that city franchises are property for which full value should be paid.

Casualty Insurance.

THE NEW EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY LAW—INSURANCE THAT DOES NOT INSURE.

July 1st next the Employers' Liability Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature of this State, will come into effect, and it will then become necessary for employers to see that they are properly protected against actions for damages for loss of life or injury that may be brought thereunder. The intention of this act is to remove what was known as the co-employe defense in damage suits and to place upon the employer the entire and sole responsibility for the condition of his plant and appliances, etc., leaving to the individual employee the necessity of exercising due care and diligence only. The act also extends the time within which suit may be brought. Its most important features are contained in the following sections:

Section 1. Where, after this act takes effect, personal injury is caused to an employee who is himself in the exercise of due care and diligence at the time:

1. By reason of any defect in the condition of the ways, works or machinery connected with or used in the business of the employer which arose from or had not been discovered or remedied owing to the negligence of the employer or of any person in the service of the employer and entrusted by him with the duty of seeing that the ways, works or machinery were in proper condition;

2. By reason of the negligence of any person in the service of the employer entrusted with and exercising superintendence whose sole or principal duty is that of superintendence, or in the absence of such superintendent, or of any person acting as superintendent with the authority or consent of such employer; the employee, or in case the injury results in death, the executor or administrator of a deceased employee who has left him surviving a husband, wife or next of kin, shall have the same right of compensation and remedies against the employer as if the employee had not been an employee of nor in the service of the employer nor engaged in his work. The provisions of law relating to actions for causing death by negligence, so far as the same are consistent with this act, shall apply to an action brought by an executor or administrator of a deceased employee suing under the provisions of this act.

Section 3. An employee by entering upon or continuing in the service of the employer shall be presumed to have assented to the necessary risks of the occupation or employment and no others. The necessary risks of the occupation or employment shall, in all cases arising after this act takes effect, be considered as including those risks, and those only, inherent in the nature of the business which remain after the employer has exercised due care in providing for the safety of his employees, and has complied with the laws affecting or regulating such business or occupation for the greater safety of such employees. In an action maintained for the recovery of damages for personal injuries to an employee received after this act takes effect, owing to any cause to which the employer would otherwise be liable, the fact that the employee continued in the service of the employer in the same place and course of employment after the discovery by such employee, or after he had been informed of, the danger of personal injury therefrom, shall not, as a matter of law, be considered as an assent by such employee to the existence or continuance of such risks of personal injury therefrom, or as negligence contributing to such injury. The question whether the employee understood and assumed the risk of such injury, or was guilty of contributory negligence, by his continuance in the same place and course of employment with knowledge of the risk of injury shall be one of fact, subject to the usual powers of the court in a proper case to set aside a verdict rendered contrary to the evidence. An employee, or his legal representative, shall not be entitled under this act to any right of compensation or remedy against the employer in any case where such employee knew of the defect or negligence which caused the injury, and failed, within a reasonable time, to give, or cause to be given, information thereof to the employer, or to some person superior to himself in the service of the employer who has intrusted to him some general superintendence, unless it shall appear on the trial that such defect or negligence was known to such employer, or superior person, prior to such injuries to the employee.

These provisions are very sweeping, and it creates a number of contingencies against which the employer should see that he is insured. Under the provisions of law which are superseded by the new act—Chapter 600, Laws of 1902—from which the above extracts are taken, an employer was not liable for damages for injuries caused to one employee through the neglect of a co-employee; now he is; nor is he free from liability even when he has taken pains to secure expert supervision over his works, machinery and appliances. In fact, there seems hardly a circumstance under which injury can result to an employee which does not carry with it a liability on the employer, except the intentional carelessness of his servant.

The casualty companies have made no change in their policies as a result of the passage of this act. From their standpoint it may not be necessary; from the insurer's it may, and is certainly worth considering. The reply of the secretary of one of the casualty companies to the question whether they contemplated making such a change may be quoted as a specimen of the reply specific: "We do not now contemplate making any change. I do not know what we may do after July 1, but not only do we not now contemplate making any change, but we do not now contemplate contemplating the making of any change in the future."

This matter of making sure that one is insured may be insisted upon, because instances not uncommonly arise where insurers find the policy fail them in the very contingency the makee supposed he was guarding against when he took it out. A case in point is now being litigated between John R. Todd, of the well-known firm of Todd & Irons, and an out-of-town casualty company which shows how necessary it is for the insurer to see for himself that he is absolutely getting what he supposes he is paying for. Mr. Todd supposed his contingent liabilities were met. Under the test of experience, he finds this questioned by the underwriter, having had to pay damages for injuries sustained by one of his men and having his claim for reimbursement contested by the casualty company whose policy he held.

Mr. Todd states the facts as follows: "The man who was hurt was a carpenter. You know there is a difference between a carpenter and a framer, they being separate trades, each with their own unions. The framers had got through with their work on the job and the carpenters were just starting in when we took out a policy covering all our contingent liabilities, except our liability to the framers. Our understanding of it was that it, of course, included the carpenters. The insuring company claimed that it was not to include the carpenters, but the policy on its face excepted only the framers. The man who was hurt was a carpenter. That is where the difference of opinion arises. They also claim, I should say, that we did not give them notice of the accident within the time specified by the policy. The injured man brought suit and recovered a judgment. We contested it as far as we could, and finally had to pay. On presenting our claim to the writer of the policy it was refused on the grounds mentioned, and it is now in litigation."

"Having had that experience," he was asked, "what do you do now to prevent its recurrence?"

"We take out three policies—a contingent liability policy, that covers our liability to the employees of sub-contractors; another policy that covers our liability to the public, and a third that covers us against liability to our own employees. We are thus covered against liability to people working for ourselves or anybody else and to the public at large."

Park Avenue Assessment.

Thursday owners of property along Park av to the number of 300 made a united attack upon the constitutionality of the law which allowed the construction of the elevated structure belonging to the N. Y. Central & Hudson River Railroad. Application was made to Justice Leventritt, in the Supreme Court, for the appointment of a commission to assess upon the property found to be benefited a sum of $773,000, the city's share of the expense of building the viaduct. Breach of faith on the part of the railroad company was charged. It was claimed that the agreement specified that the structure should be covered with cement to deaden the sound made by the trains and to render the whole water tight. Instead rock ballast has been used, which does not accomplish either of these objects. Mr. Bushby, representing the Harlem Property Owners' Protective Association, maintained that when the land which is now Park av was ceded to the city it was with the understanding that it was to be kept open for street purposes. It is alleged that the street is practically given over to the railroad company, and that the owners of property along the line have been deprived of light and air on account of it.

Investigation by the Merchants' Association to Commence Soon.

We are assured by Mr. F. B. De Berard that the thorough investigation of the city's system of accounting, which it was announced a few weeks ago was soon to be made, will begin not later than July 1. Mr. Worthington C. Ford, of Boston, will work in conjunction with Mr. De Berard, and it is expected by the Merchants' Association that the results of this investigation will be far-reaching. The funds necessary to complete the work have been pledged, and when once started it will go forward without delay.

The Use of Compressed Air in Building Construction.

In these days, when rapid advances are being made in all branches of mechanics, it is of interest to see to what extent modern appliances are being used in the construction of the comparatively new type of steel-frame building. These giants are often put up with the most astonishing rapidity, and we can be sure that the eye of the engineer is ever on the lookout for new devices which will facilitate the work of construction. Compressed air is already being employed quite extensively for a variety of purposes, and there is every indication that within the next few years it will be used in many ways at present considered merely experimental.

Everyone who has been abroad in those parts of the city where buildings with riveted frames are being put up, or where work on sections of the subway requiring the use of rivets is being carried on, has become accustomed to the sharp, quick strokes of the pneumatic riveting hammer, which at first caused every passerby to crane his neck in an endeavor to discover the source of the noise. The use of these tools has become very general, and is rapidly superseding the old method of driving the rivets by hand. Figures 1 and 2 show the tools most commonly used for all but the heaviest work. Figure 1 is from a photograph taken of a gang at work on the subway, and Figure 2 is from a picture taken expressly for this article on the twentieth story of the new "Flatiron" Building, 23d st and Broadway. Not only do these air-driven hammers drive the rivets much more quickly than it is possible to do it by hand, but on account of the rapidity of the stroke the shank of the rivet is compressed so as entirely to fill the hole in the beam or plate before it has a chance to cool. With the smaller hand pneumatic riveters, it is sometimes difficult to draw the plates together as well as it can be done by the old method, but where the pneumatic holder-on can be used, or with the heavier yoke riveters, very superior work is turned out. The pneumatic hammer will drive from 50% to 75% more rivets in a day than can a gang of men, and only two men are required to operate it, as against three when the work is done by hand. Moreover, the air-driven tool can be used in many places where it would be extremely difficult or entirely impossible to get at the work with hammers. And, then, when a plant has once been set up, not only riveters, but all other kinds of pneumatic tools and machinery can be operated at the same time. The quality and amount of work done by the drills and chipping hammers in both cast iron and steel is a revelation to many. Mr. C. E. Hammond, of the Geo. A. Fuller Co., having charge of the pneumatic plant being used in the new Macy Building, 34th st and Broadway, says that a man with a ratchet drill will put about ten holes per day through the flange of a 15-inch 60-pound steel I-beam. Two men with the air drill will finish 150 holes in the same time. The saving in labor is indeed striking, and a saving nearly as great is effected in cutting off heavy beams. On account of alterations from the original plans, it has become necessary to shorten a large number of beams in the Macy Building. Holes are drilled through them as close together as possible, and then the small amount of metal left is cut through with a cold chisel. By this method a beam is cut off in about two hours, while a man with a saw would require nearly a day to accomplish the same work.

Compressed air is being applied not only to riveters and other small tools, but other uses are being found for it as well, some of which were explained fully by Mr. Hammond. "Builders," said he, "have been a little slow in recognizing the advantages possessed by compressed air over steam for operating much of the machinery used in putting up large buildings. The hoists, derricks and cranes now being run by steam engines might much better use air. Steam, because of its tendency to condense, cannot be piped all over a large structure to be used in various places. With air it is different. All joints being tight, there is no loss, and practically all the power used in compressing the air is available to operate the various mechanisms requiring it. Not only would the adoption of this system effect a saving of money, but much more efficient service would be rendered. The signal bells now in use could be done away, as each engine could be in plain sight of the derrick or hoist operated by it, and the engineer could see what was necessary, thus reducing to a minimum the liability of mistakes and accidents resulting from a wrong signal or an error in interpreting it. Still other advantages possessed by such a plan would be the great saving of space and freedom from smoke and dirt. Instead of having half a dozen or more engines, all the power used in the building could be derived from one large plant, which could be located somewhere convenient to the coal supply and out of the way of everything. For such a plant;" continued Mr. Hammond, "I would recommend one large storage tank, connected with two compressors. This is for reasons of economy. If you have only one large compressor, you must run it just the same, even if but little air is needed. If, on the other hand, you have two, you can run one or both, just as the work demands."

Figure 3 shows the small compressing plant in use in the Macy Building. This being a bolted frame, rivets were not needed until a short time ago, when extensive alterations were found to be necessary. This plant was installed in record time. The machinery was delivered at 1 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Hammond and his helpers set it up and had it ready to go to work by 11 p. m. It actually commenced business the next morning, and has been running satisfactorily ever since. As will be noticed in the cut, the storage tank is unusually large. This is an idea of Mr. Hammond's to increase the capacity of the plant. As the work of the tools is not continuous, especially that of the riveters, an opportunity is thus afforded the compressor of keeping ahead of the tools by storing up power while they are idle. Another feature of this compressor is its self-regulating adjustments. Steam is furnished at 100 pounds pressure, and the engine is so arranged that when the air pressure in the cylinder reaches 80 pounds it stops of its own accord. Thus, the machine, after once being started, practically takes care of itself.

Compressed air, it will be seen, is already playing an important part in modern building operations, and from what we are able to learn from those in a position best to judge of its value and availability, it seems more than probable that in the very near future it will be much more extensively employed than it is to-day.

You will find it in Wants and Offers, on page 1043.

Terms for the Brooklyn Extension of Subway.

When, a short time ago, the terms were made public to which the bidding for the construction and operation of the Brooklyn extension of the subway would be subject, a good deal of surprise was expressed to find these terms so similar to the ones formerly announced when bids for the main subway were asked. The length of lease for the operation of the road by its builders is the same; the property of the individual or corporation securing the contract is to be exempt from taxation; and here, as in the contract made with Mr. McDonald, there is no provision for an increase of rental in case the earnings of the road should exceed a certain amount while under control of those who build and operate it.

Comptroller Grout was asked by a Record and Guide reporter for a plain statement of the case as he sees it. As is already known, Mr. Grout has dissented from the report of the majority of the Rapid Transit Commission, of which he is an ex-officio member, and he explained at length his reasons for so doing. "The time has passed," said he, "when this city can afford to give away franchises and valuable privileges as it has been doing for years. The terms under which the main subway contract were let are but one example of the prodigal waste of the city's resources. The clause exempting from taxation the property of the operators of the road is an insult to the people of this great city. There is no good or even poor reason why their holdings should not be taxed. On the other hand, there is every reason why owners of franchises of such value as those we are considering should be obliged to bear their full share of taxation. I am in favor, too, of shortening the period of the lease to its minimum limit fixed by law—thirty-five years. That is long enough for the builders and operators of the road not only to be well paid for their work, but to accumulate abundant profits besides. I decidedly favor the three-cent fare for the Brooklyn extension. The bridge cars now carry passengers for that, and assuredly the tunnels can be profitably operated with the same fare prevailing.

"Being bound as it is by the law which created the Rapid Transit Commission and defined its powers, the city is effectually restrained from going at this undertaking in a business-like way. In the first place, the terms of the lease should be open to competition, not fixed arbitrarily by the Commission; and, secondly, the construction and operation of such roads as the one proposed should be divorced. If this were done, the city could let the contracts in sections, thereby being assured of competition, bringing with it lower prices for the work. While it may be difficult to find reputable contractors who are willing to assume the entire responsibility for the construction of such a road, it would be comparatively easy to find men quite able to undertake a smaller part of the whole. It is said that Mr. McDonald sublet the contracts for the subway at a profit of about $8,000,000 to the syndicate represented by him. Why should not this sum have been saved to the city instead of going into the pockets of capitalists?

"I am glad," concluded Mr. Grout, "that my name is not in any way connected with either the contract which has already been let or with the report of the majority of the Rapid Transit Commission on the terms for the extension. A generation hence it will be no credit to a man to have it said of him that he favored such schemes for enriching private corporations at the expense of the taxpaying public."

An interview was secured with another gentleman, whose name, were we at liberty to use it, would instantly be recognized as belonging to one of the most prominent authorities on municipal affairs in the country, or, indeed, in any country. He said: "I am not in a position to give an opinion for publication over my name regarding the issue in question, for the reason that I have not as yet given exhaustive study to the matter. Until recently, I have taken it for granted that the Rapid Transit Commissioners, a body of men for whose ability I have the greatest respect, were doing for the city the very best that it was possible to do, and even yet I am not prepared to say that their services and judgment have not been of the best. While it may be true that the city might have made more advantageous terms for the construction of its rapid transit system, at the same time I am not disposed to quarrel about that. The city needed rapid transit, and it needed it at once, and in all probability better terms could not have been made. It must be remembered that a gigantic enterprise of this sort needs material encouragement. Contractors, not having had experience with similar undertakings, are naturally careful how they approach a project of this magnitude. But much of the experimenting has now been done, and the engineering problems presented have been largely solved. Now that contractors have become more familiar with the work, it is to be expected that terms more favorable to the city will be made. It is beyond doubt a fact conceded by all that the operation of the road when completed will be extremely remunerative to the lessees. An excellent idea would be to adopt some form of sliding scale of rental, some agreement whereby the operators of the road would be adequately compensated, but also a compact of such kind that they would not be allowed a profit far in excess of that to which they are justly entitled. Let us say, for example, that when the road is paying over 10% on the investment that a certain proportion of the surplus shall revert to the city as additional rental, instead of going to the operators of the road. The lessees, by such an arrangement, would not stand to lose anything, as they would be assured of a very fair interest on their capital before the sliding scale would become operative. If a number of authorities upon municipal and engineering affairs were to gather together from this country and from various European cities, I am sure that they would be able to formulate a plan whereby the builders of the road would be assured of a good profit and which would guarantee to the taxpayers of the city that they would not be paying for their improvements much more than is necessary to secure them."

Grout on Retrenchment.

VIEWS OF THE COMPTROLLER ON MUNICIPAL ECONOMY.

During the course of a conversation with Mr. Grout, the investigation which the Merchants' Association proposes to make of the city's financial system was mentioned. The Comptroller said: "While Mr. De Berard and his associates are undoubtedly sincere in their belief that the city's financial system is very extravagant, and that some $25,000,000 are wasted annually, let me say right here that they do not begin to understand what they are trying to do. Some of the changes they advocate in the city's financial management are in themselves very good, but they are not fundamental, nor nearly so important as other matters. Moreover, many of the exhibits in their circular are flagrantly misleading, as has been pointed out in the daily papers.

"A much more necessary reform than a revision of the city's method of accounting is a proper readjustment of the sinking funds. Here is an evil which has been evident for years; in fact, ever since the Bonded Indebtedness Act of 1878, and has reached such proportions as to demand early action. Could the large and ever-increasing revenues now going into these funds over and above the amount necessary to pay all interest and bonds secured by them be applied directly to a reduction in taxation the annual budget could be reduced 33%, thus relieving the taxpayers to that extent. At present there is no incentive to increase the revenues going into the sinking fund, because these funds will soon have a large surplus over the amount necessary to meet the obligations for which it was created.* If the additional revenues which could very easily be secured could be applied directly to the reduction of taxation, there would be every inducement to increase such revenues. Take the one item of street vault space. Now, permits for these valuable spaces are given at an absurdly low figure. By law, these permits are revocable at any time, and it is clearly within the right of the city to revoke all such permits and exact from the occupants of these vaults a suitable annual rental for them. An increase in the revenue of at least $1,000,000 could and would be assured from this source alone, if the same could be applied to the necessary expenses of the city, instead of pouring into a fund already unnecessarily large. This is but one of many ways in which the revenues could be increased if the conditions were such that there would be any object in doing so."

*It is estimated that at the close of 1908 the accumulations of this fund will exceed the entire debt redeemable therefrom by fully $6,000,000; and in 1928, when its functions will cease, there will be a surplus of over $297,000,000.—E. J. Levey, Municipal Affairs, Dec., 1900.

mportant Title Examination.

The examination of the title of the real estate incidental to the sale of the Plaza Hotel property, at 58th and 59th sts and 5th av, which, by the way, is the most important cash sale of real estate in the history of this city, amounting to $3,000,000, is being conducted by The Lawyers' Title Insurance Co. of New York, whose offices are at No. 37 Liberty st. This is merely one of the many gigantic transactions which enter into the routine of so formidable a corporation as The Lawyers' Title Insurance Co.

Reforms in Land Transfer.

The Record and Guide is in receipt of a book on "Reforms in Land Transfer, with Suggestions of An Improved System," by the late Dwight H. Olmstead. This work was completed by Mr. Olmstead just before his death, which occurred October 10, 1901. Considering that Mr. Olmstead devoted the best energies of his life to the cause of land transfer reform, and that this book collects and sums up all that he had written about the matter, his daughters have continued its publication as a tribute to the memory of their father, and in the hope that it will further the interest of the reform to which he gave so much of his time.

During his lifetime, the late Mr. Olmstead published many reports, both upon the nature of land transfer reform, the purposes it sought to accomplish, the advantages of his own block-indexing system in carrying out these purposes, and upon the methods of recording, indexing and searching used in other countries. All these pamphlets are collected in this book and brought down to date. The longest of these pamphlets, which constitutes Part I. of the present publication, is devoted chiefly to a criticism of the Torrens system, and to some suggestions in the direction of facilitating and cheapening the trasfer of real estate, without incurring any of the dangers which, as he believed, lurked in the Torrens system. Thus, he considers at length such subjects as the "Methods of Transfer Without Registration," the results which have followed from the use of the Torrens system in Canada, in the United States and in Australia, and the specific reforms which he himself would recommend.

The second, and much the longer, part of the book contains a full explanation and description of the system of block-indexing, which Mr. Olmstead originated, and which he was instrumental in having adopted in this city. The contents of this section includes the report of the Legislature, by Mr. Olmstead, as one of the Commissioners of Land Transfer; his report to the New York Bar Association, recommending the block system, a copy of the act, which applied the system to the Register's Office, and several other explanations and illustrations of the system. Consequently the book is invaluable, not only as a statement of what the block-indexing act aims at by the author of this most useful piece of legislation, but also as an outline of what further laws are needed to make the transfer of real estate much more economical and expeditious. No lawyer or layman who wishes to understand the existing law, or who is interested in the whole subject of the reform, can afford to be without it.

Bids and Estimates Again.

In speaking of the recent discussion in the Record and Guide under the heading "Bids and Estimates," Charles L. Eidlitz, President of the National Electrical Contractors' Association, expressed the opinion that in a large majority of cases the contractor who complains most bitterly that he does not have a fair competitive chance under the present system of contract awarding is himself to blame.

"Under the present conditions," said Mr. Eidlitz, "an architect who has under way plans for any kind of a building, from a frame house to a 20-story office structure, is besieged by an army of contractors, many of whom he would not employ under any circumstances, many of whose bids he had refused on other jobs a countless number of times in the past, but all begging only for the permission to estimate. The architect refuses this one, that one and the other one, but the stream of applicants keep coming, until finally, tired of the annoying fight against the persistence of each one, he says 'Go ahead,' when he has no intention of even looking at the man's bid. As to the charge of preference on the part of the architect for some particular contractor or coterie of contractors, it is but natural that one who has proved the thoroughness and honesty of his work should be preferred to others, probably just as thorough and just as honest, but of whose methods the architect knows nothing. Another thing: Very often the best of architects strikes some point in his plans and specifications where the advice of a contractor who is a specialist on that point is needed. He will send for the contractor, of whose time it may take hours, or even days, to set the matter straight. In such a case, which is common enough, the architect is naturally influenced by his knowledge that the man who settled the knotty point would be the man to carry the work through successfully. The owner surely suffers no loss by such an action on the part of the contractor. Another thing to be taken into account is that the successful contractor, the one who is preferred, has a reputation back of his work which must be sustained, and which guarantees thoroughness and sufficient capital to carry the undertaking through without continuous demands upon the owner."

The Question of Plottage.

After one of the most spirited contests in the courts, in which a number of prominent counsel took part, the Appellate Division have handed down a decision reversing Justice Blanchard and confirming the decision of Benno Lewinson, Chairman of the Commission of Estimate, in the matter of the land required for the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory on Lexington av and East 25th and 26th sts as to plottage. Briefly, the Appellate Division hold that where there are improvements on contiguous parcels in single ownership, and the city is asked to pay for the improvements, and the value of these improvements is greater than the plottage value, plottage is not to be allowed. The decision of the Commission was published in the Record and Guide of June 16th, 1901. The following is the paragraph relating to the question in dispute:

We make no allowance for what is called "plottage," for the reason that none accrues, because the most liberal allowances on that account which the testimony would warrant would be less than the value of improvements which would necessarily have to be wholly destroyed before an increased value by reason of "plottage" results. We have carefully considered the ingenious arguments of the various counsel on this subject, but cannot escape the conclusion which we have arrived at. Indeed, with a single exception, all the experts for the property-owners in estimating plottage allowances, have based them upon the lot values only; and Mr. Foley distinctly testified that improvements would have to be destroyed before "plottage" would accrue.

Leon Tanenbaum has gone to his summer home, at High Mount, in the Catskills, for the summer months.

L. Sachs sailed for Europe on Thursday, to be gone until September.

Joseph A. Kehoe has become associated with Vincent A. Ryan, successor to the late William M. Ryan, at No. 149 Broadway, in the private sales department. Mr. Kehoe has been connected for some years past with Messrs. J. T. & James A. Farley, of the Windsor Arcade.

Arrangements are being made for the sale of property in arrears for taxes to take place sometime during the coming fall, probably in September. This sale will cover, for Manhattan, arrears accruing between the last tax sale, which took place in 1886 and including 1897. Sales will be conducted in the boroughs in the order named, a week or so intervening between each: Manhattan, Bronx, Brooklyn, Queens and Richmond.

S. Osgood Pell, of the well-known real estate firm of S. Osgood Pell & Co., sailed for Europe on May 28th on the "Oceanic," to be gone about one month. Mr. Pell will combine business with pleasure while away, and expects to visit Paris and the European capitals, stopping in London for the coronation ceremonies before he returns. Mr. Pell has negotiated some of the largest real estate deals in the upper 5th av section, now so sought after by the wealthiest class of investors, principally in the vicinity of the Carnegie mansion. Mr. Pell expects to be at his office again about the middle of July.

City and Suburban Homes.

According to Dr. Gould's report for 1901-2, as President of the City and Suburban Homes Co., the company has now upwards of $2,300,000 invested chiefly in model tenements in Manhattan. Dividends of 4% were paid during the year. In the company's West Side buildings the loss from vacancies during the year was 3.77%, and their irrecoverable loss from arrears 0.47%. On the 1st av estate the loss from vacancies was 2.94, and from bad debts 0.7%. The tenements for colored people, at Nos. 213 and 215 West 62d st, will be completed during the month of August. The buildings in East 64th st and on the Avenue A frontage will probably not be completed until the early winter, while the construction of those on 78th and 79th sts will occupy a still longer time. As bearing on the general question of tenants' requirements, the following extract from the report is important: "In all the new East Side buildings there will be a larger number than usual of two-room apartments. The management has found that the supply of two-room apartments is limited, and that there is a great demand for them, particularly from young married people and from elderly persons whose families have grown up and left them. Vacancies in two-room apartments are always fewer than in three and four-room apartments, at least, that is the company's experience. The loss of rentals from the new buildings ought to be smaller than from those already constructed."

Balleisen & Wexler, the Eastern District builders, of No. 170 McKibben st, have lately completed two very handsome double apartment houses at Nos. 64 to 70 McKibben st, from plans by Sass & Smallheiser, of No. 21 Park Row, Manhattan. These houses, which contain forty apartments with all improvements, were built under the new tenement house law, and have a very attractive front of limestone and pressed brick. In the centre is a large court, affording light and ventilation to all the interior rooms. The rents are from $24 to $30 per month, and inspection is invited.

Monday work was begun on the new viaduct bridge across Newtown Creek. It is expected that the work will occupy about two years' time and cost $1,000,000. A temporary bridge across the creek at Oakland st, with an outlet on Van Alst av, Long Island City, will meanwhile accommodate the traffic.

J. P. Sloane has sold for the Morrison estate the block, 200x100, on the east side of Union av, between Frost and Withers sts, to Charles E. Ring, the hardware dealer. He has also sold a plot 100x200x50x50x100 on the east side of Newell st, 75 south of Calyer st, to the Geo. B. Marx Co., of New York, who will erect a brick carriage factory thereon.

Preparations are being made by the Collector of Arrears to hold tax sales in this borough some time during the coming fall, probably in September.

No. 438 Gold st has been traded to Josiah Partridge in a deal for Manhattan property reported in the "Gossip" of that borough.

The World of Building

A New Movement.

Wm. H. Sayward, Secretary of the National Association of Builders, is the chief factor in a movement, which will probably culminate within the coming week, to bring about the formation of an organization composed of the bulk of the contractors in all branches of the building trades, which will give to the employer a power similar to that possessed by the workman in his central labor union. The new combination will really be an amalgamation of all the present building trades associations, and its members will promise and be expected to work in concert for the common good. One of its chief objects will be an at least partial control of the material field and a prevention of the formation of combinations to control prices.

Contractors who were seen yesterday invariably refused to discuss the subject, although a number said that they had signed the agreement. Mr. Sayward is the only one at liberty to state fully the plans of the association, and he is at present out of the city.

The Labor Situation.

CONTINUATION OF TROUBLE IN VARIOUS LINES.

It would seem that, notwithstanding all the talk on the subject, by both the master carpenters and the journeymen, there is very little likelihood of the carpenters making the threatened demand for increased wages from $4 to $4.50 per day. C. F. Bond, in speaking of the situation this week, said: "There are not at the present time more than ten in twelve master carpenters in the whole city paying all their workmen the union wages. The supply of union journeymen is so large that many of them approach bosses with a plea for work at as low as $2.50 a day. This over-abundance is caused by the free admission into the unions of 'handy' men, who are not in any sense finished carpenters. By the rules of the unions, these men command the standard wage, but in reality they are very often not so well paid."

The committees representing the Master League of Cement Workers, the Cement Masons' Union and the Cement and Asphalt Laborers' Union will probably hold a meeting next week for the purpose of deciding upon an agreement to govern their relations from September 1, 1902, to May 1, 1904. The agreement of the bosses with the journeymen has in the past covered the period from September 1 to September 1, and that with the laborers from May 1 to May 1. No radical changes from the old arrangement, beyond the confirmation of the advance in wage from 28 cents to 33 cents an hour allowed the laborers, are contemplated. The agreement with the journeymen will be for eighteen months, instead of twelve, for the purpose of having future agreements with both journeymen and laborers take effect on May 1—an arrangement of more convenience to the employers.

Mr. Sinclair, of Watt & Sinclair, contractors for trim work on the Ansonia Hotel, Broadway and 73d st, says that the trouble with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners over the trim on the Ansonia job has been overcome by the substitution of members of the Amalgamated Society of Carpenters and Joiners. Work has been resumed, and the contractors expect to carry through the work without further labor trouble. The difficulty arose originally over the finished condition of the trim upon its arrival at the job, the workmen contending that work was done at the out-of-town factories which should have been done by them.

Mr. Baldwin, of the Baldwin Engineering Co., who have the steamfitting contract on the new Jersey City School No. 29, says that the members of the Enterprise and Progressive Chapters of Steamfitters of New York are still working on the job, notwithstanding the efforts of the local men to get the work. A sympathetic strike of the New Jersey carpenters and a few laborers was called in favor of the local steamfitters, but it seems to be ineffective. The Baldwin Engineering Co. is a member of the Master Steamfitters' Association of New York, which has an agreement with the Enterprise and Progressive Chapter of Steamfitters to employ only members of the union within a radius from New York which includes Jersey City.

The Architectural Iron Workers' Union a short time ago demanded of the shop bosses that the union should receive official recognition in the shops, a demand similar to the one unsuccessfully made in 1901. The employers refused to make the concession, and a strike was ordered on a number of the shops, which went into effect early this week. At the office of Prince & Kinkel, one of the firms whose men have quit work, it was said that the two employers' associations, the Iron League and the Architectural Employers' Association, had decided upon making a determined fight against the demand.

Material Market.

There is a hopeful tone to the market, and the trade feels assured that the season, which opened auspiciously, will continue fairly prosperous. The only real shadow is cast by the labor disturbances, and they have not yet affected local conditions appreciably. There are apprehensions, however, of serious results if the coal strike is permitted to continue much longer. The demand for lumber for building purposes is not quite so active, but there is little weakening of prices. In structural steel the situation is a little easier. The large orders have been met in one way or another by the big concerns; the smaller dealers find their market in supplying materials required immediately and which can be secured only from their stock for these spot orders. There is probably brick enough for the summer demand, even if the scarcity of coal should check production. A slight advance in glass is expected. Cement, lime and paints are all in active demand, although the latter has passed the busiest season.

IRON AND STEEL.

There are few changes in quotations. A slightly stiffer rate is demanded for beams and channels, which are bringing $3, and some sizes of flat iron are a trifle higher. Sales at these figures are mostly on spot orders. The large concerns are figuring more on next year's business than on this, for their outputs for this year quite generally have been placed, and all that remains is for their mills to fill the orders already accepted. Structural forms are the products most in demand for 1903 delivery. It is the general belief that the price policy of the United States Steel Corporation will not be changed.

A representative of the United States Steel Corporation, it is said, estimates that in the next two years it will accumulate a surplus of $275,000,000, an increase of more than $100,000,000 over the present surplus. He believes that at the close of the company's third fiscal year its undivided earnings will be about $80,000,000. Net earnings for the year closing March 31 next, he estimates, will be $130,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000 over last year.

An officer of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Co. is authority for the statement that less than 150,000 tons of this year's Southern pig iron production is unsold. The Southern price rules above $16 a ton, although the association has not changed its maximum of $12.

According to an official statement, the Sharon Steel Co. has sold it entire output up to Jan. 1.

Capitalization of the American Steel Foundries Syndicate will be $15,000,000 6% cumulative preferred; $15,000,000 common stock.

There arrived in the Pennsylvania Railroad yards at Newark last week the biggest carload of steel wire nails that has ever been shipped—42½ tons—from the American Steel & Wire Co.'s mills at Pittsburg.

There were exported in April 1,570 tons of pig iron, a remarkable falling off since the same month in 1901, when 5,695 tons were sent out of the country. In April, this year, the imports of the metal were 19,067 tons, while in the same month of the preceding year only 3,335 tons were brought here from abroad. Of steel blooms, billets, etc., the imports for April, 1902, were 11,986 tons; in April, last year, 436 tons were imported.

Late buyers are paying a premium of $4 per ton on steel plates.

In figuring on the iron situation for another year, the demand from South Africa must be taken into account. The war closed that market, but with the restoration of peace it is generally expected that there will be a much larger market in that part of the world than ever before. If American producers catch up with the home demand, they may turn their attention to the Transvaal, where reconstruction will require thousands of tons of steel and iron.

Shipments of ore this year are estimated at 24,000,000 tons, which limits the possible production of iron and steel, no matter how much the furnaces are enlarged.

According to the foreign trade statistics of the Treasury Department, for the ten months ending with April, the exports of iron and steel manufactures, because of the unusual home demand, fell off $16,000,000 from the corresponding ten months of 1900-1901.

TIN, LEAD, ETC.

May exports of lead amounted to 8,774 tons; arrivals, 5,575 tons.

Tin arrivals since Jan. 1 in the United States are 14,731 tons, of which 13,781 is in Straits tin.

Spelter in ton lots has advanced in price from $4 65 to $4.75, and now easily brings from $4.87½ to $5.

Exports of zinc ores were 102 tons in April of this year, as against 3,426 in the corresponding month of 1901; total exports for first four months of this year, 12,370 tons; first four months of the preceding year, 11,905 tons.

Spelter was exported to the extent of 1,403 tons in the first four months this year. In the corresponding period of 1901 exports were 1,570 tons.

BRICK, CEMENT, LIME.

There is a steady demand for all kinds of brick—common building, fronts, fireproofing, foreign and domestic firebricks. While some soft coal may be burned in the kilns, anthracite is required in starting the fires, at least, and the difficulty of getting hard coal is causing trouble at the North River and in the Jersey yards. In some cases steps are being taken to adapt the kilns for wood. The Philadelphia bricks have advanced, and now sell at $25 to $27, alongside pier. The hollow Haverstraws are up 25 cents.

It is believed that every Portland cement works is sold up to the full capacity. There is no canvassing for orders. The jobbers and dealers regard themselves as fortunate if they get the stock that has been promised to them. Shortage of cars and other reasons or excuses are given for non-delivery on time by the manufacturers. One man said he ordered cement six weeks ago and was told he could have it on five days' notice. He notified them, and after ten days had seen nothing of the goods. The American manufacturers have oversold, and this is giving foreign agents more business than they have enjoyed recently.

P. H. Brink, local representative of the National Fire Proofing Co., states that orders on hand are sufficient to keep the seven works upon which New York draws for its supplies busy until Jan. 1. But orders are taken, and, if necessary, they will be filled from the factories in Pittsburg or elsewhere. The immense amount of building operations, especially in the higher class of office, apartment and hotel structures on Manhattan, is the happy cause, says Mr. Brink, of giving to his line of business a greater impetus than it had known previously.

Lime continues in brisk demand, and plaster is steady.

WINDOW GLASS.

Most of the factories have shut down for the summer vacation, and will not open until October. There are some manufacturers affiliated with the Federation and the Independent Companies who cling to the hope that they can continue to operate until July 1, but they find it difficult to keep the employees at work as the weather grows warmer. It is estimated that the Independent Co. has 200,000 boxes on hand and has orders for 450,000 boxes. All of the American Company's fires are out. It is considered likely that representatives of the companies will meet and declare slightly higher prices before the summer is over.

According to a Pittsburg dispatch, the Federation Co-operative Window Glass Association will reorganize in Columbus, Ohio, as a stock company, with $650,000 capital and 1,000 pots capacity. It will be known as the Federation Glass Co., and will hold to the American Co.'s agreement.

LUMBER.

There is not quite so much activity in lumber as there was early in May, but some large orders are being placed for the false-work of the new steel structure buildings, which take more wood for temporary use than the old buildings did for the permanent beams, joists and flooring. The frame building boom in the upper Bronx and in other outside localities also tends to keep up the demand. North Caroline lumber is a little easier. Other woods keep the high figures that have prevailed all season.

No lathes have been received from the manufacturers for some time. Jobbers with stocks on hand find no difficulty in getting their prices.

Reports from Chicago state that there will be plenty of dry lumber ready to move about July 1, and large lots are now being put to dry for movement ninety days hence.

Capitalists of Washington and other places are interested in establishing a lumber plant on 144,000 acres in Southern Alabama, and expect to cut 50,000,000 feet of yellow pine annually.

Mississippi's lumber trade is increasing greatly, both for domestic consumption and exports. Many mills are running night and day. In five weeks lately 20,715,000 feet of lumber, chiefly yellow pine, were exported from Pascagoula.

James J. Hill is reducing the freight rates on lumber from the Northwest and Missouri River points to the Middle West.

PAINTS, OILS, VARNISH.

Trading is steady and up to the average at this time of year.

Ordinary shellac is 1 cent cheaper; other lines firm and unchanged.

There has been a moderate business in varnish gums.

J. Samuel Jacobs, dealer in white lead and paints at 31-35 Broadway, is the defendant in voluntary bankruptcy proceedings, begun by the Picher Lead Co. and other creditors.

M. Toch, of the New York Society of Chemical Industry, gives the following receipt for a paint for iron, which he claims will outwear red lead: Seventy per cent. of barytes, 10 per cent. of carbon black, 10 per cent. of zinc oxide and 10 per cent. of graphite ground in pure linseed oil containing a sufficient quantity of driers. If this paint and red lead are each painted over a rusty surface, says Mr. Toch, scales of rust will break through the red lead much more quickly than they will through the black paint containing barytes.

There is a likelihood that the contract for the new $1,000,000 dry-docks for the U. S. Government to be built at the Brooklyn Navy Yard will be placed outside. Civil Engineer Asserson is in charge of the matter.

Of Interest to the Building Trades.

Francis Crawford, one of the well-known builders identified with the West Side movement, died at his home, at Williamsbridge, on Sunday last. Besides having built extensively on the West Side and in other parts of the city, he was a large owner of property, much of it in The Bronx.

The City Fireproofing Co., Nos. 609 to 619 West 52d st, have lately introduced on the market a new plaster partition block, known as the "Rader," and are manufacturing in large quantities to meet the demand. These blocks have passed the fire and water tests of the Department of Buildings, and have been approved.

The delegates elected to represent at the Atlantic City Convention the Manhattan Branch of the Master Plumbers' Association of Greater New York held a meeting and organized with President A. H. Brown as chairman. Various committee were appointed to attend to special convention business. The Transportation Committee, composed of John Mitchell, Jonas A. Rossman and Frank Reynolds, have arranged for a special Jersey Central train to leave New York on Monday, June 16, at 3.45 p. m., and the fare for a fifteen-day round trip ticket will be $4.75. The committee have also made arrangements for a special rate for delegates at the Hotel Rudolf.

Messrs. Pfotenhauer and Nesbit, dealers in fine front brick and roofing tiles, have been awarded the contract for furnishing all the front bricks to be used in the new building to be built from the plans of H. J. Hardenbergh for the Battery Place Realty Company, in Battery pl, between Washington and West sts. The colors of the bricks to be used are pink and buff speckled. About 700,000 will be used. They have also been awarded the contract for all the front bricks for all the buildings of the Wooster University, at Wooster, Ohio, amounting in number to 1,250,000, the color being light gray. This firm is also furnishing the front bricks for the new Macy & Co. store at 34th st and Broadway. This building is now sufficiently far advanced to demonstrate the beauties of the Harvard bricks in use there, of which this firm make a specialty. They are supplying 600,000 in this building. All the vitrified roofing tiles being used in the new Saks & Co. Building, at 33d and 34th sts and Broadway, are also being supplied by Messrs. Pfotenhauer & Nesbit. Their offices are at No. 1133 Broadway, this city.

Product and Appliances.

Whether Masurite, the new explosive, can be handled with perfect safety was the subject of an incisive investigation at Sands Point, L. I., on Wednesday last. Representatives of fire departments and fire underwriters of New York, Philadelphia, Boston and Chicago were present, as well as experts commissioned by the leading railroad companies and other interests.

The tests had been carefully arranged to prove conclusively that Masurite is safe under all ordinary circumstances, and that it can only be exploded intentionally. The order of the tests were for Concussion, Fire, Friction, Electricity and Detonation. Other special tests were made at the suggestion of several gentlemen present to represent extraordinary conditions where the safety of the explosive might be relied upon.

Even scientific cynicism was nonplussed at the manner in which Masurite withstood every conceivable trial. Struck with a heavy hammer on anvil or on a stone repeatedly simply made a compound mass of the explosive. Heavy weights dropped from the top of a high building upon it time and again had no effect; neither had the shooting of a mushroom bullet from a government rifle through a can containing 12½ pounds of Masurite. This last experiment was repeated four times, and again with steel bullets when the explosive was in direct contact with burning coal.

The fire tests were more remarkable still. Red hot irons were pierced through cartridges of Masurite, and quantities of it were placed upon a forge fire and treated to at least 2,000° F., but with no signs of explosion. Burning charcoal was thrown upon it also, but the Masurite only seemed to laugh at it. Smokeless and black powder were separately spread over Masurite and ignited, but while the powders went up in smoke the Masurite remained comparatively intact.

"O, electricity will explode it," said a great electrician present, but when he saw electric sparks dancing among it he was silent, and when 115 volts, 21 amperes, tried to impress the impervious Masurite he was amazed. The electric tests were thorough and exacting, but the explosive was ever dumb. Tests of friction were just the same. Mr. Masury rubbed it on sandpaper and emery cloth, bearing down with his whole weight, but he might have rubbed so much stone.

It was soon conceded by all present that Masurite could not be exploded by accident, carelessness or even design unless the right method was used. "How on earth can you explode it?" said one expert. "Why, by using a cap containing fulminite of mercury in conjunction with electricity or a tape fuse," said Mr. Masury; and he demonstrated very carefully how easily it could be done. The cartridges were placed in many ways and exploded in the intended direction without the shadow of a misadventure.

Two tests in rock blasting concluded the trial. The first was a huge stone of about two tons, in which a hole to receive the cartridge had been bored to the centre. Four ounces of Masurite scattered the rock in very small pieces, demonstrating power. The second was what is known as a mud test, the explosive being placed on the side of a boulder of granite and covered with clay or mud. In this instance the rock was split up into fragments.

Eulogioms of praise were showered upon the inventor by men whose opinion was worth having, and Masurite was emphatically declared to be an explosive power which was safe to handle under all circumstances, and something the world sadly needed.

* * *

Mr. F. A. Cabot, whose opinion carries great weight with the National Fire Protection Association, took great interest in the tests, and, as is his general wont, asked numerous questions; but at the conclusion we read conviction in his face—conviction that Masurite was absolutely what it claimed to be—a safe explosive. One remark he made convinced us. He said to Dr. C. B. Dudley, chemist, representing the Pennsylvania R. R. Co.: "I guess he's got a good thing there." Dr. Dudley replied: "Yes; its insensibility to fire is most remarkable. It is altogether extraordinary."

Among the gentlemen present at the tests, whose names we are permitted to mention, were the following:

Dr. C. B. Dudley, Chemist Penna. R. R., Altoona, Pa.; W. W. Taylor, Maintenance of Ways Dept., N. Y. C. R. R., New York City; H. B. Hodges, Purchasing Agt. & Supt. of Tests Long Island R. R.; J. R. Building in Other Cities.

Returns as they come in indicate a falling off in building operations throughout the country during the month of May. The reasons given are various, but strikes loom up largely among the causes, while lack of and high prices of materials cuts a considerable figure.

Work on the exposition buildings in St. Louis is not accompanied by the general building activity that might have been expected. The official returns show that this year 120 permits for brick, etc., buildings, estimated to cost $896,850, have been issued, to compare with 122 permits for buildings of the same classes, to cost $1,145,020, in the same time last year. The total estimated cost of all building work, including frame structures and alterations of all kinds, for which plans were filed in the office of the Commissioner of Public Buildings, was $1,068,082, as against an estimate of $1,296,354 for last year. It is estimated that the cost of the exposition buildings, which are to be completed next year, will amount to $6,750,000.

In Cincinnati the number of building permits filed in May was 289 and the cost involved $424,235, as compared with 326 plans and $284,930 cost in May, 1901. The figures show a better class of building on the average this year.

Building in St. Paul has been checked by strikes and other troubles. As it was, 133 permits were issued, covering work estimated to cost $280,955. This amount would have been doubled, the Building Inspector says, but for the labor troubles.

Detroit booked officially 55 permits for buildings to cost a total of $485,500 for the month.

The District of Columbia reports the issue of 373 permits for buildings and alterations to cost $640,860, of which $293,000 was for 68 brick dwellings and $140,500 for 5 apartment houses.

USE OF SIDEWALK.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly let me know what privilege a person has of the sidewalk in front of his own property used for business purposes at No. 346 Atlantic av?

Answer.—The whole sidewalk is for the use of the general public in passing to and fro. The owner or tenant of the adjacent building has the same rights in the sidewalk as the general public, and can transport his goods across it from the street to the building. He has no right to use it for the display or storage of the wares in which he deals.—Law Editor.

TELEPHONE WIRES.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Without my consent or knowledge, a telephone wire has been attached to both front and back cornice of my house; also both chimneys have been used to secure wire that is stretched across my roof. May I ask you to advise me what action I can take in the matter?

Answer.—You have a perfect right to remove the obnoxious wires in any way that you see fit.—Law Editor.

CONTRACT—TAX SALES.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

(1) What is the meaning of "Contract" after a sale of a piece of property? Also (2) I would like to know how long a time can property remain with taxes unpaid without the city taking and selling it.

Answer.—(1) It means that the document filed is simply a contract for the sale of the property. (2) Three years. The city does not avail itself of this privilege, however. The last sale for taxes in Manhattan took place in 1886. Arrangements are being made for another, to take place in the coming fall, when property in arrears in all the boroughs for taxes accruing between 1886 and 1897, inclusive, will be sold.—Editor Record and Guide.

BREACH OF CONTRACT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Will you kindly inform me what is, in your opinion, the standing of A in the following case? A owns a house, in which there has been a fire. A enters into a contract with B to put the house in as good condition as it was before the fire, and stipulating that all burnt wood is to be removed and replaced by new of an equal quality, also stating that all floors are to be cleaned, stained and varnished. B proceeds to do the work; does not remove all burnt or scorched wood, only some of it, varnishing and painting over the rest of it, so that it shows the scorched and burnt part underneath the varnish. The floors, instead of being scraped and varnished, are merely painted over in all or in part over the old varnish. There are other instances in which B does not, according to the views of A, fulfill his contract, but the above will suffice for the argument. B claims he has fulfilled his contract and demands payment, same being due on completion. A refuses to make payment, gives B a list of objections to the work, and states in the objections that unless he fulfills his contract or makes proper allowance he will not make payment. B files a lien on the property for an amount of $1,400 in excess of the contract price, claiming this difference for extras, for which he has no written order. Will you kindly inform me (1) if B is entitled to recover under law? (2) If renting the house constitutes, in the eyes of the law, an acceptance of the contract? (3) If A should have notified B that he (A) would proceed to have the contract carried out and charge it to B? Or any other information you can offer that will be a guide to A.

Answer.—(1) No. (2) No. (3) A might have so notified B, but was not obliged to do so in order to protect his rights.—Law Editor.

WAR TAX LAW—UNSTAMPED DEED.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

My attorney forgot to put revenue stamps on the deed of my house, of which the equity was $4,000. Does that invalidate the deed or affect the title?

Answer.—Not unless there was an intent to evade the provisions of the War Tax Law. The remedy for a failure inadvertently or otherwise to affix the stamp required by law is to take the document to the Collector of Internal Revenue of the proper district and have him affix the required stamp.—Law Editor.

BROKER'S COMMISSION.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A, owning a piece of property, authorizes B, a broker, to sell same. B produces buyer, who signs contract, but on account of small deposit, agree to wait until passing of title. When time for taking title arrives, purchaser asks for an extension, which seller refuses to grant, and declares deposit forfeited. A claims B is not entitled to commission, as title did not pass. Is this correct?

Answer.—The broker is entitled to his commission.—Law Editor.

LANDLORD AND TENANT.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A sells a house to B. C is a tenant in said house, occupying second floor and holding a lease from October 1, 1901, to April 1, 1902. C admitted before B and D that said lease was signed on a Sunday by him and A. The lease was also not executed or acknowledged before a notary. B desires possession of C's second floor, and can B compel him to vacate same, and what action would be necessary in the matter?

Answer.—The signing of the lease on Sunday and its not being acknowledged do not count. The lease having expired, B can institute summary proceedings against C.—Law Editor.

PRIVATE SEWER.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

A owns a house on a street in which there is no sewer. Next door neighbor, B, has a private sewer in the street. Can A connect his house with this private sewer, or can he be prevented if he refuses to pay for the privilege of connecting his house on to same, claiming, as the sewer is in the public street, it is public property?

Answer.—A has no right to connect his house with the private sewer, and can be prevented from so doing, or sued if he does.—Law Editor.

Work of Merchants' Association.

As we noted two weeks ago in the columns of the Record and Guide, the Merchants' Association of this city, with the support and co-operation of the city officials, is about to commence a most rigorous investigation of the city's financial system. It is the purpose of the committee having this task in hand to expose the faults and abuses of the existing system, and to suggest and endeavor to have enacted such legislative measures as will assure the taxpayers that their money will be spent in the most businesslike and economical manner. An appeal has been made to all who are in any way interested in real estate to help in this endeavor by contributing to the fund necessary for the prosecution of the work in hand. When seen Wednesday, at the headquarters of the association, Mr. S. C. Mead, the Assistant Secretary, stated that in some cases the call had been responded to, but that they had not yet been able to raise the $15,000 or $20,00 necessary to complete the investigations.

"We shall not," he said, "start our experts upon this work until we are assured of funds enough to finish the undertaking. We would rather wait a little longer before commencing operations, and then push it right along without interruption to a finish."

When asked if the numerous property-owners' associations throughout the city were responding generously to the call for aid, Mr. Mead smiled a negative.

Traffic on Narrow Streets.

To the Editor of THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

Dear Sir:—The discussion, or rather the remarks, in the Record and Guide, in relation to the widening of 59th st, or of any other similar narrow street, induces me to write you relative to a plan which suggested itself to me some years since. It seems to me that the abandonment of the surface of our city streets entirely to vehicle traffic, would, if possible, be of enormous advantage in almost every respect in the business districts.

The question would then arise as to what provision could be made for the pedestrians. In my opinion this would be readily and easily provided for by the erection of elevated sidewalks, and elevated crosswalks at the corners of the streets, and at such other points as might be advisable.

This would involve the giving up, perhaps, of the street floor of all buildings in the lower or business portion of New York to warehouses or similar purposes, permitting trucks to back up against the fronts of the buildings, so that all loading would be done conveniently, and no one would be inconvenienced. What is now the first loft or second floor, would be then used for store purposes, the same as the street level now is.

The elevated sidewalks would not be of expensive construction, and by making this system systematic and thorough, provision could be made at the same time for metal and glass roofs over this elevated sidewalk, and over the crosswalks, so that so far as pedestrians are concerned, Bellamy's prophecy of the doing away with the individual umbrella would be accomplished.

Provision can readily be made by means of stairways for access to the surface cars, etc. Very respectfully yours,

New York, May 17, 1902. J. I. WAKELEE.

The Damp Cellar.

Few people, in buying or renting a house, pay much attention to the condition of the cellar. In the suburban booms, where paint and "trimmings" seem to hold first place, the cellar, that vitally important part of the dwelling, is most often neglected. William E. Bloodgood, architect, puts particular stress on the "treatment" of cellars for his houses, and advocates a system of underground drains which should be of broken stone and cement, the length varying with the conditions, the cellar bottom first laid with four or five inches of cinders or broken stone, then two or three inches of concrete. Wm. O. Ludlow, of Ludlow & Valentine, in reference to the cellar problem, says: "When ground is springy or subject to considerable surface water, there is only one way to obviate the damp cellar, and that is to make it a practically water-tight box. This can be done by building into the foundation walls, just above the footing courses, tar paper, asphalting the same thoroughly and turning down the portion that projects through the wall on the outside. The entire outside of the wall should then be asphalted down to the point where the tar paper passes through. On the inside of the cellar, starting just under this point, a three-inch layer of concrete should be laid, with the upper surface flush with the tar paper. The entire cellar bottom is then covered with similar paper, the sheets being lapped at least one-half of their width, asphalt being swabbed between each layer. This forms a continuous sheet, with the tar paper placed in the wall, and on top of it the ordinary concrete bottom may be laid as usual. In order to insure a water-tight job, it is necessary to give the closest supervision to the workmen, for a hole as big as a slate pencil in the asphalt on the outside wall or in the cellar bottom will allow a great deal of moisture to pass through. Asphalt only, and not tar, should be used; for all tar compositions contain volatile oils, which, when evaporated, leave the remainder worthless."

Apartment House Perfection.

The apparently unlimited demand for high-grade apartments has prompted architect, engineer and material man alike to strive for improvements. The inventive mind is thereby presented with an inexhaustive field. Luxury and comfort, beauty and convenience, seem to be the public desire; price comes last. A "modern instance" of its particular type has recently been designed by Architect Scharsmith, of No. 477 West 144th st, for the Johnson Kahn Co. It is to be a 12-sty apartment house, and will be erected on the plot fronting 100 feet on 72d st, corner of Riverside Drive. This structure is to be of steel pressed brick, Indiana limestone, terra cotta, plastic slate roof, copper cornice, and contain marble, mosaic, tile, parquet, iron and stucco works in artistic arrangement. The special interior features includes garbage reduction and refrigerating plants, saloon treatment between the principal chambers, large assembly dining rooms, sun and palm parlors, etc., etc.

CONVEYANCES.

Whenever the letters Q. C., C. a G. and B. & S. occur, preceded by the name of the grantee, they mean as follows:

1st.—Q. C. is an abbreviation for Quit Claim deed, i. e., a deed wherein all the right, title and interest of the grantor is conveyed, omitting all covenants or warranty.

2d.—C. a G. means a deed containing Covenant against Grantor only, in which he covenants that he hath not done any act whereby the estate conveyed can be impeached, charged or encumbered.

3d.—B. & S. is an abbreviation for Bargain and Sale deed, wherein, although the seller makes no express covenants, he really grants or conveys the property for a valuable consideration, and thus impliedly claims to be the owner of it. The street and avenue numbers given in these lists are, in all cases, taken from the Insurance maps when they are not mentioned in the deeds. The numbers, it will occasionally be found, do not correspond with the existing ones, owing to there having been no official designation made of them by the Department of Public Works.

4th.—The first date is the date the deed was drawn. The second date is the date of filing same. When both dates are the same, only one is given.

5th.—The figures in each conveyance, thus, 2:482, denote that the property is in section 2 block 482.

6th.—It should also be noted in section and block numbers, the instrument as filed is strictly followed.

7th.—The letters R. S. mean Revenue Stamp, as R. S. $8.00 means Revenue Stamp $8.00.

Tax on Conveyances executed prior to July 1st, 1901, on $100 to $500, 50c., and for each additional $500 or fraction thereof, 50c.; on Conveyances executed on and after July 1st, 1901, 25c., where consideration exceeds $2,500 and is not more than $3,000, and 25c. for each additional $500 or fraction thereof.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The first date is the date the mortgage is drawn, the second the date of filing; when both dates are the same, only one is given.

Subscribers will find Mortgages in this list with the wrong block number attached. The block number we give is taken from the instrument as filed.

Mortgages against Bronx property will be found altogether at the foot of this list.

Mortgages under this head marked with a * denote that the property is located in the new Annexed District (Act of 1895).

May 29 and 31, June 2, 3, 4 and 5.

MORTGAGES.

NOTE.—The arrangement of this list is as follows: The first name is that of the mortgagor, the next that of the mortgagee. The description of the property then follows, then the date of the mortgage, the time for which it was given, and the amount. The general dates used as head lines are the dates when the mortgage was handed into the Register's office to be recorded.

Whenever the letters "P. M." occur, preceded by the name of a street, in these lists of mortgages, they mean that it is a Purchase Money Mortgage, and for fuller particulars see the list of transfers under the corresponding date.

The Private Branch Exchange System of supplying TELEPHONE SERVICE is particularly adapted to the requirements of LARGE HOTELS and APARTMENT HOUSES

By means of a Private Branch Exchange the general telephone service, local, suburban and long distance, is available in every room and apartment. A complete interior service is also supplied, adding largely to the efficiency, and decreasing the cost of the hotel service proper. No modern Hotel or Apartment House should lack a Private Branch Telephone Exchange.

The New Rapid Transit Route

The interest taken in the new underground rapid transit route shows clearer than anything else how closely the future value of millions of dollars' worth of real estate is connected with this long-deferred enterprise.

So great was the demand for the rapid-transit maps issued recently by the Record and Guide, that the entire edition was exhausted.

A new edition is now ready for delivery; price, 10 cents; postage extra, 2 cents. The map has also been printed on bond paper. Price, 25 cents; postage extra, 2 cents.

Every real estate broker, and all who are interested in real estate, should possess this map. It gives the route of the new transit lines, the location of all stations, sections of the road, etc. Will be needed for constant reference. Order at once. RECORD AND GUIDE OFFICE, Nos. 14 & 16 Vesey St., New York City.

Vol. LXIX. JUNE 14, 1902. No. 1787

EARLY in the week Wall Street thought it saw a prospect of a quick ending of the coal strike, and prices pruned up a little. The most possible was also made of a Government crop report, more encouraging than its predecessors of the year. But buyers failed to respond and a dull drooping market ensued, with a spiriting up at the close of the week. The chief trouble is that most people have stocks to sell and are waiting for the market to advance in order that they may realize the profits they think they are entitled to. This is a familiar situation, the outcome of which has hitherto generally been gradual liquidation through weariness or poverty and finally a lowered scale of prices which attracted new buyers. For the time being, however, holders of stocks are confident that the advance they want will be provided for them, but the time has been extended until after the holiday and when the July disbursements will have gone the rounds that end in the stock market—sometimes, not always. Meanwhile, however, the strike goes on and we are having a foretaste of summer dullness.

THERE is little new in the foreign situation, and of what is new the most significant is the high rate of reserve at the Bank of England, fifty-two per cent., at a time when money was in unusually sharp demand for the periodical settlement. This looks as if the bank was strengthening itself against some expected contingency of heavy demand, and may be in connection with the liquidation which must inevitably result from the cutting off of govermental purchases for the army in Africa. The gold production of the Rand continues to increase. The report for May was of 138,602 ozs., which compares with the monthly returns since mining was resumed as follows: April, 119,588 ozs.; March, 104,127 ozs.; February, 81,405 ozs.; January, 70,340 ozs., and December, 1901, 52,897 ozs.; also with a maximum production made in May, 1899, of 444,933 ozs. It is pointed out that the present production benefits the world at large only indirectly, because the requirements for new mining capital in South Africa will more than offset the production for some time to come. But as, commercially speaking, we live so far ahead of the times, this argument is of limited application. The topic of most earnest discussion in financial circles is what has become to be called the Ship Combine, and it is apparent that now John Bull's teeth, to use Lord Salisbury's inelegant phrase, are no longer in South Africa, or, as we should put it, the Boers' teeth are no longer in John Bull's flesh, there is apparent an intention to fight the American competition, though in what way is not so clear. Germany, however, is congratulating herself upon being both in and out of the Morgan combination, but her satisfaction is not quite unaccompanied by fear of her shipping future. It is said that the negotiantions were closely followed and scrutinized by the Kaiser and that he gave his approval to the final terms. At the same time, the Hamburg-American Company have amended their statutes or by-laws to forestall attempts to put their line under foreign control. The amendments require that all directors and members of the Board of Overseers shall be German citizens living in Germany, and that this new provision can only be expunged from the statutes by a four-fifths vote of the stock, repeated at a second meeting. Of all the German industries the electrical and the cement seem to to be in the worst condition. The iron trade has picked up somewhat on foreign orders. Regarding cement it is stated that the tendency toward the dissolution of the various price combinations in the industry is quite marked. The associations in Northern and Western Germany have become practically ineffective; and it is doubted whether the South German association can preserve its existence. One of the worst annual reports of all the German companies is that of the Adler factory, which is one of the best-known concerns in Germany. It has just declared a dividend of two per cent., against seventeen last year, and twenty-five per cent. two years ago. In 1900 the company issued new capital at 231; the quotation to-day is 107.

The Art Commission.

THE Art Commission occupies at present a somewhat anomalous and experimental position in the administrative machinery of New York City. It was constituted in the beginning in order to exercise a general supervision over all questions of municipal art—chiefly for the purpose of preventing the acceptance by the city of ugly and perverted "works of art." But "works of art" as defined in the first charter of the Greater New York did not include any public buildings, and while as a matter of history there was some justification in this peculiar definition, it did not make allowance for the fact that the conditions, under which public buildings were designed might be improved. The revised charter included within the definition of a "work of art" all structures erected by the municipal government, which cost as much as $1,000,000, a provision which seemed to imply that it was only big buildings which could obtain any artistic character. In addition to this supervisory function over "works of art," however defined, the Commission is empowered to offer "pious opinions" on artistic matters, whenever a head of a department needs it, which, apparently heads of departments never do. As a kind of corporation counsel in aesthetic matters, the Commission has not been over-much troubled with work. It is only recently that it has obtained any appropriation staff or official habitation. During the past week, however, its rejection of the Horgan and Slattery plans for an extension to the Court House shows of what use it may be to the city even under present conditions.

An Art Commission is so much of an innovation, and the aesthetic problems involved in a matter of municipal policy are still such an easily negligible aspect thereof, that at present any attempt to enlarge the functions of the Commission so it shall have some powers of initiative would be hopeless. The Commission must win its way to public approval and recognition by means of public services. It is so hampered by its constitution that it cannot undertake such services except when called on for that purpose; and it is to be hoped that the present administration will give, as it can very well give, to the Art Commission, a chance to be of actual use to the city. The Mayor has shown in the case of the Rapid Transit Commission, a disposition to call to his assistance the knowledge and good judgment of expert commissions. Why not give the Art Commission an opportunity to justify its existence and the extension of its powers by making use in some important matter of its knowledge and good judgment?

Such an opportunity is offered by the very important question of the Brooklyn Bridge terminus. The Art Commission already has authority on the premises, in that under the revised charter, it must give its consent to the plans for any "public structure" costing over $1,000,000. Why should not the advice of this Commission be asked as to the whole treatment of the space between the City Hall, the new Hall of Records and the Brooklyn Bridge terminus? This is one of the most frequented and important squares in the city. At the present time the enormous traffic going to and from the Brooklyn Bridge traverses it; and in a few years the equally large traffic of the new Subway will flood its spaces with double the number of people now passing through. Yet in spite of its very public character, it is now largely occupied by an ugly and incongruous collection of buildings, and in all the discussions of the terminal problem not a person has suggested that this space should be made into a large and handsome public square. If there is any improvement now pending in this city, in the planning of which aesthetic considerations should not be ignored, it is the improvement of the Brooklyn Bridge terminus. The old buildings, which now encumber the space should all be torn down, and in case a new building is erected, it should be situated so as not to interfere with the freedom of movement thereabouts, and so as to compose architectually with the City Hall and the new Hall of Records. The only one of these old buildings, which some people want to preserve, is the old Hall of Records, but there is not in our opinion any sufficient reason for its preservation. True it is the oldest municipal building in the city; but its past associations are unpleasant, and afford no excuse for its perpetuation. Its present appearance is due to a reconstruction, which took place in 1832, and which while it gave it a more pretentious design from an architectural point of view, only provided an additional reason for its destruction. It was again altered during Tweed times at an expense of $140,000 without adding anything to it, except an unwholesome third story, in which the folio writers in the Register's office have ever since passed most uncomfortable summers. In short the building has neither architectural merit, nor any really valuable associations to testify in favor of its preservation; and since in case it is preserved it would be an absolute bar to any convenient or appropriate treatment of the Terminal Square, it should be torn down together with the two old brownstone buildings. But whatever plan is adopted, Mayor Low should see that not engineers only, but the Art Commission as well should have something to say about the disposition of the open space and the buildings. New York can no longer afford to have one of its most important public squares treated without the slightest regard to the proprieties of its architectural appearance.

The Real Estate Situation

The real estate market continues to be seasonably quiet. There has been enough activity during the past week to testify to the fact that the comparative dullness means a suspension in the process of expansion rather than a decrease of general confidence in the real estate situation. There is every justification for a period in which no new large commitments shall be made; but there is no good reason to believe that the large operations will not be resumed as soon as the market has had time to digest the acquisitions in the way of higher prices and larger buildings, which have been the marked feature of the past eighteen months. The Record and Guide is fully aware that there are promises of eventual trouble in the present situation. The recent activity has been almost entirely the result of speculative buying, and in many cases the increased values, which have been obtained have been manufactured rather than created in an entirely wholesome economic manner. It is true that this process of manufacture has been made possible only by great vitality in general business, and by the growth of New York as the business centre of the whole country. Shrewd speculators controlling abundant capital and knowing precisely the needs and possibilities of New York trade expansion have taken advantage of the lively business activity to cover parts of the city with huge buildings, and to mark up the value of the land on which these buildings are situated; but after the fat years cometh the lean years, and the question is: can these corporations keep up such operations and carry their large burdens over a period in which tenants are scarce and business diminishing? It must be remembered that they are not in the position of investment companies, which during a time of depression can play a waiting game. They live by means of continuous speculation, and if such speculation become unprofitable or in any other way impossible they will have to change their methods or else suffer severely. All this, however, is a matter for the future. There is every indication that business prosperity will continue next winter, and that the many big buildings now being completed will find an abundance of tenants at good rentals. After the coming winter different conditions are likely to prevail. We shall then be entering on the period when the effect of the various new transit improvements will be felt. The real estate market, from being almost exclusively a market for the rich, will again become a market for the moderately well-to-do. And it is about time. The general passenger agents of the steam railroads that enter New York report a large increase of suburban business this spring, due obviously to the less and less tolerable condition of transit facilities in the Greater New York. It will be a great thing for the city when a larger share of this increase can be kept within the city limits.

A Long Look Ahead.

WHAT may be taken as official intimation is given that the city administration have decided to limit the Williamsburg Bridge approach extension by the Bowery. The Board of Estimate in furtherance of this decision passed a resolution to widen Delancey street from Norfolk street to the Bowery 75 feet on its south side, making it thereby 125 feet in width. This proposition will be considered at a meeting of the board which will be reld in the City Hall at 11.30 a. m., of the 27th inst., at which all interested parties are requested to appear. This will be satisfactory news to owners of property in the vicinity. There is one question, however, that still requires to be answered, and that is what is to be done on the two blocks between Clinton and Norfolk streets which were originally mapped out as a plaza terminating the approach? As we understand it, the property included in the condemnation proceedings now under way terminates west at Clinton street. If this strip 75 feet wide is taken from Norfolk street to the Bowery, it will still leave unsettled the intervening two blocks named, unless, as is stated in some circles, it is still intended to take them later on for the purpose for which they were assigned in the original approach plans. For diagrams illustrating this question our readers are referred to the Record and Guide of October 24th, 1896, and November 16th, 1901.

It is not only friends of Columbia College who will rejoice that the "South Field," between One Hundred and Fourteenth and One Hundred and Sixteenth streets, Broadway and Amsterdam avenue, has been acquired in the interest of that institution. Everyone who is interested in the improvement of the appearance of Manhattan will be glad that this large parcel of land has been saved from being covered by speculative apartments and that the architects of the college will eventually have a chance to enlarge the group of carefully-planned buildings which has already been started. In a very short time it would have been too late. Morningside Heights will be a section of the city that will be immediately and profoundly affected by the subway. Within a couple of years its small area will be practically covered with apartment houses; and there would be no longer any chance for an institution like Columbia College to acquire neighboring property. As it is, South Field added to the present area covered by Columbia and Barnard will help very materially to give the whole hill the institutional character it was designed to have. Morningside Hill will be distinguished from every other part of Manhattan both by its conspicuous position and by the large number of public buildings in the large sense of that word, which it will contain. And the location on the west side of an area given over to spacious handsome and impressive public buildings will dignify the whole quarter. The growth of the West Side has been so rapid that, except on Morningside Heights, it has been deficient in buildings of this description, and consequently every new acquisition which looks towards public as distinguished private residential improvements is a matter for congratulation. The provision for the expansion of Columbia is all the more important because it gives that institution a much better chance of remaining where it is for an indefinite period. There can be no doubt that, were it not for this additional room, Columbia would be again crowded for space within the life of students now studying in the Library. But with this increase of possible accommodation proper provision has been made for at least an additional generation of growth.

Morningside Heights.

AS everyone should know the cost of acquiring land for public purposes varies according to circumstances, being in some cases not more than what an ordinary commission for sale or purchase of land would be, and in others entirely disproportionate to the value of the property acquired, the latter are, however, sufficiently numerous to have become a scandal. Reference has recently been made to a proceeding instituted in 1897—presumably the Concourse in the Bronx—to acquire seventy parcels of land. The Commission commenced to holding meetings in January, 1898, and met on 1,201 days, for which their fees amout to $12,010 each, or a total of $36,030. In four years and five months they reported upon sixty-two parcels whose aggregate value was $218,063.50. Costs of counsel, commissioners' fees, etc., make a bill of $61,143.62, or about thirty per cent. of the value of the property acquired. The circumstances must be very exceptional to justify the payment of this bill, which should be closely scrutinized by the Corporation Counsel and the court when application is made for its approval. As far as the Corporation Counsel is concerned, it is only just to say that he has done everything in his power to remove the scandal attached to these proceedings. The amended charter, prepared by the commission of which he is chairman, contains some excellent provisions for the purpose of checking extravagance and preventing delays in condemnations. Mr. Rives has consistently endeavored to enforce these provisions, and ought to have the assistance of the Supreme Court, where final decision lies, in carrying out the object he has in view, which is the object desired by the public, namely, the creation of a more expeditious and less expensive system of taking property for public use, and one that shall be purely business-like in its character and not a means of making pecuniary compensation to political laborers in the field of politics.

WHETHER the public gain or lose by the carrying of freight on the surface railroad lines is a fairly debatable question. Doubtless the residents of the outlying sections find it a great convenience to have parcels delivered within easy access of their homes—and the urbanite, too, may find advantage in the system. It is also equally doubtless that the occupant of a passenger car, particularly of one running in the heart of the city, does not like to have his progress interrupted by a car ahead unloading freight, as has been the nocturnal experience of some. The system of carrying freight and express on the surface lines began in suburbs of big cities. It was in Chicago, we believe, that it had its origin, and it was welcomed there as a blessing. Its introduction into New York has aroused discontent, not from the suburbs, but from the centre. This is natural, because night travel here is greater than in any other populous centre in the world, and the injection of freight or express cars among passenger cars there is, therefore, felt more quickly, and any interference caused thereby to passenger travel resented more keenly. This has gone to the extent of raising the question whether the Metropolitan Street Railway Company has any legal right to operate express vans and cars on their tracks in the Borough of Manhattan. This question was referred by the Board of Aldermen to the Corporation Counsel, who replied as follows: "The Metropolitan Street Railway Company was organized under the General Railroad Law of the State of New York. In De Grauw vs. The Long Island Electric Railroad Company, 43 N. Y., App. Div., 502, it is distinctly held that the street surface railroad corporations organized under the General Railroad Law (Laws of 1890, chapter 565), section 90 of which authorized their incorporation for the conveyance of persons and property in cars for compensation, may operate cars designed and used exclusively for carrying express matter, freight or property. This decision was affirmed without opinion by the Court of Appeals, 163 N. Y., 597. Under these decisions it cannot be successfully maintained that the operation of express vans and cars on the tracks of the Metropolitan Street Railway Company is without authority or unlawful." This apparently disposes of the legal question. As to the others, they depend upon whether the company can profitably carry on their express and freight business without losing more on their passenger business than they gain by the first, and to some extent upon the lengths to which public protests or commendations go.

NEW YORK is geting not merely a sight, but a taste also, because the olfactory and gustatory nerves are as much excited by it as the visual, of what the city would become if the smoke ordinance were habitually violated. It has suddenly become a consumer of soft coal for steam-making purposes, and our beautiful clear atmosphere is polluted by the foul exhalations of thousands of chimneys, picking up as they go other impurities with which to befoul our buildings and persons, making breathing unpleasant and seeing not as pleasant as it has hitherto been. By the exercise of continuous vigilance, the health officers have kept us free of this plague hitherto and our interest in the subjects of smoke and soot has been more in preventing their appearance than in their nature. We will perhaps soon be taking up the later part of the matter. It is in wet, muggy weather that the nuisance is most intense in its effects and does the most damage. The soot in passing through the air gathers up whatever fine particles of other matters may be floating around, and the moisture finally enables it to make of itself a dirty and abominable plaster over everything on the surface. What the exact chemical constituents of this plaster is in New York and the quantity applied on a given surface we have yet to discover. Elsewhere a painful experience has compelled the elucidation of these facts and a statement of what some English chemists have discovered comes opportunely to hand, to warn us of what may be in store for us if we permit the continuance of the disobedience to the ordinances that is now already too painfully apparent. This statement is to the effect that a chemist took a sample of snow from the streets of Manchester, England, melted it and found that the residuum weighed at the rate of three tons per square mile. Its constituents were carbon, 48.6 per cent.; oil and grease, 6.9 per cent., and ashes, 44.5 per cent. Three tons of this mixture of carbon and ashes combined by grease on each square mile, applied at frequent intervals, must soon make a city dingy and keep its atmosphere in the most undesired condition of murkiness. Chemists attached to the London Technological School have also experimented with snow in the same way and found the conditions there much worse than they were in Manchester. We will be able to follow up the inquiry here with probably startling effects if the use of soft coal is permitted to continue long enough. We trust, however, that we will not have occasion.

You will find it in Wants and Offers, on page 1098.

Effects of the Increased Cost of Labor.

WHAT EMPLOYERS THINK OF THE PRESENT SITUATION—THE VALUE OF ORGANIZATION.

When Mark Twain's Yankee, an up-to-date New Englander of the latter part of the nineteenth century, awoke from the effects of a blow to find himself a member of King Arthur's court, he was put down as a dangerous madman for declaring that in his time a skilled laborer was paid $2 or thereabouts for his day's work, a sum which would have bought the services of 200 men equally skilled, according to the demands of the time in Arthur's land. If the Yankee had said that in the spring of 1902 a man who was able to lay bricks atop of one another, with the help of a cord to keep the line straight and a complete set of plans prepared by another man to tell him just how to do it, would command a wage of $5.20, Mr. Clemens might have had considerable trouble in getting his hero safely back to Connecticut without glaring inconsistencies.

There has been, as far back as any records can show, a steady advance in the price of organized labor, especially in the building trades, due partly, undoubtedly, to the natural increase in demand, the greater abundance of circulating wealth, and the decreasing purchasing power of money. But even more than to these natural causes is the increase due to the admirable organization of the men. Every trade has its union, and the majority of the different trades' helpers are organized. But the greatest power comes to the workman through the amalgamations, which make possible the sympathetic strike, the weapon which has done more to enforce the demands of the employed than any other thing. In the not very remote past the employer virtually controlled the situation, because of the ever greater number of men wishing work than the volume of work to give them. The same abundance of labor prevails to-day in almost all branches, but the union fixes, to a great extent, the scale of wages, and as the men, as a rule, abide by the decisions of their organizations, the scale is maintained.

It is not the wage question which is given the most attention by the bosses, however. Of much more importance in the minds of men familiar with the question are the rules governing the amount of work, the kind of work and the manner in which the work shall be done which the various unions establish, and which, to the present time, they have in most cases been able to enforce. An instance in point is the rule laid down by the plasterers' union and the organization of the plasterers' helpers, which practically renders it impossible for New York city master plasterers to compete for out-of-town work. This rule is that a local plasterer who is doing any work away from New York city must employ on the job only members of the unions in this city, must pay them New York wages, which are considerably higher than those of the unions elsewhere, and, in addition, must give their employees car fare to and from the job and pay their board while at work. This seems to the master plasterers as unfair in the extreme, especially when out-of-town contractors are treated on jobs in this city on equal terms with the local bosses. The penalty to be incurred by the master plasterer who employs out-of-town men on out-of-town jobs is so great as to make him unwilling to run any risks. Not only would his local jobs be struck, but the workmen in the other trades would go out in sympathy, unless his sub-contract was surrendered to another master plasterer who had obeyed the edicts of the labor union. Another case in point is the trouble which has been experienced for so long a time on the trim work at the Ansonia Hotel, for which Watt & Sinclair are the contractors. Carpenters, painters, varnishers, etc., refused to work on trim which came into the city in a too finished condition; that is, nailed together in such a way that all the local men would find to do would be to hammer the trim into place. Mr. Dennivelle, of Hammerstein & Dennivelle, plasterers, stated in a conversation a short time ago that the conditions were such in his branch of the building trades that a foreman who tried to push his men a little in their work would be ordered removed by the laboring union under whose provision the case came upon the complaint at headquarters of the workman affected; and such is the power of the delegate that the employer must discharge the man, no matter what his desire to keep him in his employ. The power of the union is not so strong in all the building trades, however, the Mason Building Association and the National Electrical Contractors' Association being organizations with more than the usual power. The members of these associations pay their men wages on a par with the other building trades, but are partly exempt to a great extent from the troubles of which the other employers complain. The primary cause for the formation of the master trades societies has been stated by contractors to be the direct result of the increasing power of the labor unions, which necessitated the formation of an organization to meet the workmen's demands. There is now considerable likelihood of an amalgamation of employing organizations or of contractors in all lines of work for the purpose of greater strength. Employers, as a rule, are willing that wages should advance with the general prosperity, but they wish these advances made at stated times, or at least upon sufficient notice to save the employer loss on contracts figured at a certain scale of wages. This is, in the minds of the bosses, a most important point. A master plasterer, for instance, who is carrying out contracts necessitating the employment of 100 men a day, at, say, $4, is put to a very considerable loss should a new scale of wages go into immediate effect by which he is compelled to pay his men at the rate of $5 per day. If he is given a three or six months' notice, and the general building conditions will permit, he would receive the new scale without much opposition.

When asked his views of the present day labor question as applying to the building trades, Charles A. Cowen said:

"I believe the wages paid to be on the whole only what they should be when one takes into account the present abundance of money in the United States, together with the marked increase in the cost of living within the past few years. It is true that a man cannot now, as he could in the past, build one tenement house and rest content for the remainder of his days on the income derived therefrom. I do not ascribe this so much to the increased cost of labor and building material as to the conditions natural to a country which has outgrown its extreme youth and has come to a general narrowing down of its financial interest. As the wealth of the country has increased the revenue to be derived from capital has decreased correspondingly. Money is not now in such great demand as formerly, and the interest to be obtained thereon has decreased as a consequence. The Mason Builders' Association is a strong organization. It is fair in its dealings with its employees, it pays them good wages, comparing very favorably with any of the other building trades, and in return it receives from them equitable dealings. Our men receive 65 cents an hour for an eight-hour day, and the hod-carriers are paid 35 cents per hour. We have a yearly agreement with the masons, taking effect May 1 of each year, which is strictly adhered to by both employee and employer. Thus we know sufficiently far ahead of the demand for an increased scale of wages to prevent loss on contracts from that source. The price of labor is really of secondary condition to the other points of contention constantly arising between an employer and his men. The Mason Builders' Association was formed ten years ago, at the time of the great nine-hour strike, and has been in active existence ever since. The initiation fee is $500 and the yearly dues $100. The penalty for breaking the conditions every member must agree to upon his admission to the association is expulsion, which leaves him at the mercy of the labor union, as the agreement of the men is with the association and not with its individual members. As a result a firm stand is invariably made to uphold any action of the association. Our journeymen are not affiliated with other labor unions, which means a great deal to us, and we do not recognize officially the hod-carriers' union."

C. T. Wills said: "The increase in the cost of building in 1901 over 1900 was about 13½%. Of this amount but 3½% is to be accredited to building material, the remainder resulting from the increased cost of labor. In the present year there has so far been a further advance of about 5%. The result has been to make speculative building almost out of the question. It is impossible at the present time for a builder to realize 5% on his investment, which is as low as the figure of the returns on the outlay can well be placed. There is only one remedy for this state of affairs, should it prove to be permanent, and that is to enlarge the income on the investment by the increase of rents. The mason builders are less subjected to the annoyances which result from misunderstandings with the journeymen and helpers of the building trade than the great majority of the other associations, as a result of their better organization and more stringent rules covering their own body. The last great strike was ten years ago, to meet which the association was formed, and we have every reason to believe that, beyond the petty misunderstandings which are apt to arise between employer and employees, trouble will be avoided in the future."

The Master League of Cement Workers have been having considerable trouble with their men this spring, but according to the views of E. Smith, Secretary of the Association, the recent lockout on the employers' part has been productive of good results. Mr. Smith said: "An advance of from 28 to 33 cents per hour has been given the laborers, and in return the journeymen have signed an agreement containing no radical changes from the old arrangement, which covers the period of eighteen months instead of twelve, as has been the rule in the past. The agreement with the laborers covers the period from May 1 to May 1. It looks now as though there would be no serious difficulties with the men, at least until the expiration of the present agreement, on May 1, 1904—a condition which is naturally very pleasing to all parties concerned."

The feeling existing between the Enterprising and Progressive steamfitters of New York and the master steamfitters is seemingly a cordial one. Mr. Baldwin, of the Baldwin Engineering Co., said: "There is an agreement between the employers and workmen which is made yearly, and lived up to closely by both its parties. An example is the refusal of this company to employ local steamfitters on a job in Jersey City, even though it resulted in considerable trouble to us and the other contractors on the work through local sympathetic strikes."

Edwin Outwater looks upon the situation of the master carpenter as being bad in the extreme as the result of the demands of the carpenters' unions, and his opinion coincides with that of many other bosses in that line of the building trades. In discussing the recently proposed demands of the carpenters' unions for a wage of $4.50 or $5 per day in place of the present scale of $4, Mr. Outwater said: "The course pursued by the carpenters' unions in the past few years has resulted in the driving away of a large proportion of the shops in New York. The union insists upon virtually telling a man how and when he may conduct his business, and makes the conditions so hard as to render the conducting of shops almost out of the question. It is the better class of contractors, those who do work on the large buildings, who suffer the most. Employers who have only small jobs can do the work with non-union carpenters, but general contractors on large jobs are compelled by the combined unions working for his sub-contractors to have his carpentering done by men employing laboring union workmen, not only on that job, but on all his others. This leaves the master carpenter in a position where it is impossible for him to compete with non-union sub-contractors on the smaller jobs."

Charles L. Eidlitz, President of the National Electrical Contractors' Association, said: "It is true that there is a great deal of trouble between employer and employee in many branches of the building trades, but the master electricians are almost entirely free from it, due to the strength of the employers' organization. The association of the master electricians is conducted on lines at variance with those adopted by most combinations of employers. There are in New York city 380 master electricians, and of these but sixteen belong to our association. We have found in the past that an unweildly association is bound to have among its members men who have only their own individual gain at heart, and not the general good of the whole. The sixteen members of our organization control 70% of New York's electrical business, they stand firmly together on all points decided upon by the majority, and we are able to control the situation to the extent at least that no unfair conditions are forced upon us by our workmen. The association has been in existence eleven years and has constantly gained strength.

"The manner in which the association met the last strike on the part of the men would seem to assure us more trouble. That was in May, 1900. The union made demands upon us which we decided not to grant. Information reached us from a reliable source that a general strike was to be ordered by the union known as the International Electrical Workers' Local Union No. 3. As an aggressive measure we hunted up the president of a defunct electrical union, composed of about twelve Brooklyn electricians, known as Local Union No. 12, whose Central Labor Union charter was still in effect, although the union itself had long ceased to be active. The president and a secretary were established in an office in New York, together with a representative of the employers' association. Then an advertisement was inserted in all the newspapers within a radius of 200 miles of this city for electricians willing to come to New York and work at wages which were in excess to what they were receiving. Next morning there were 490 journeymen from out of town waiting at the doors of the defunct Electrical Workers No. 12 anxious to join the employers' labor union and go to work immediately. An applicant was first examined as to his fitness by the employers' representative, then passed on to the president of No. 12, who asked him if he wished to join the union; then on to the secretary, to whom he gave a call upon his first week's salary for $5 initiation fee to the union. From there the man was sent direct to the boss who required his services. The result can readily be imagined. The back-bone of the strike was quickly broken, the members of No. 12 were admitted to No. 3, and since then there has been no trouble of a serious nature."

C. F. Bond said: "On the whole, I believe the situation to be better this year than it was last. It would seem that the threatened strike of the carpenters will not materialize. Taking it as a whole, their union is a rather weak one. There is a general shirking on the part of master carpenters in general of paying the union wages, which is made possible by the over supply of carpenters to the demand. I believe that, so far as the carpenters are concerned, the strike on the employment of non-union men exists a great deal more in theory than in practice, the union having been weakened by admission into its ranks of "handy" men, who are in reality not carpenters in the proper sense of the word."

H. W. Miller, Secretary of the Employing Plasterers' Association, in a conversation recently, described the situation between the master plasterers and their men as being in a very bad shape. He said: "The advance to $5 per day given to the journeymen plasterers and that to $3.25 per day for the plasterers' laborers does not seem to have smoothed the situation out as well as we would wish. We are subjected to annoyances continually, Philbin, Beekman & Menken write us, stating that the story circulated this week that a butcher shop would occupy the store of the building to be erected by the Madison Avenue Building Co. at the southwest corner of Madison av and 63d st is absolutely untrue.

The city is proceeding to have the old unused horse-car tracks torn up. Orders have been given with reference to those on Amsterdam av between Broadway and Manhattan st, and owners and residents on other thoroughfares where these nuisances exist are proceeding to agitate for their removal.

Max Marx this week transferred to James Stanton Nos. 145 West Broadway and Nos. 4 and 6 White st for $66,500. He paid $44,500 for the property, showing a profit of $22,000 which the builder must pay in order to be accommodated with a building loan.

The Bowling Green District Board of Local Improvements have recommended the purchase of Fraunce's Tavern and ten city lots thereabout to be used as a park. The Board of Estimate have yet to pass upon the proposition. The estimated cost of the property is $370,000.

Just when work on the so-called "Chelsea improvements," along the North River front from Gansevoort Market to the south side of West 23d st, will actually begin, and just how much will at first be attempted, is not definitely known. Chief Engineer Bensel says the Mayor has the details of the project before him, but that he has not yet advised the Dock Department of his decision, if indeed, any has been reached.

The transfer this week of No. 151 and Nos. 158 and 160 Green st apparently show a loss in the re-sale by an operator to a speculative company. According to the revenue stamps on the deed, Mr. Lese paid $130,000 for the property and resold for $100,000. The stamps, however on the first deed, include a mortgage of $50,000, which he probably had to assume, making the price actually paid by him $80,000.

The Toch Realty Co. have bought from Niels Hansen, builder, the 6-sty apartment house Elsinore, at Nos. 502 and 504 West 151st st, giving in exchange, with other considerations, Nos. 337 and 339 East 125th st, two 5-sty brick flats, and No. 844 3d av, a 5-sty brick tenement with store. The Elsinore, which Mr. Hansen completed last year, was built under the new law, and has a large central court, as well as side courts, giving light and ventilation to every room.

It will not escape attention that the auction announcements contained in this issue all affect Brooklyn unimproved property. The inference from this is that the owners of the land about to be sold consider the market released from the supplies created last year and the year before, and that a new demand for land for improvement along the lines that made real estate and building in this borough so active for a year or two. The prospect of an early underground railroad connection with Manhattan, it being officially stated that the contract will be let by July 15, doubtless is an important factor in this new movement, and will stimulate demand. It must be borne in mind that a great deal of acre property has been subdivided and passed into the hands of investors of late years, and that the charges for speculative purchases of vacant land grow smaller as time goes on, and that the process of appreciation correspondingly affects the land in small owners' hands. These considerations add importance to the sales announced elsewhere in this issue, and recommend the announcements to the careful attention of would-be buyers.

Another of the many instances that property owners give of belated and, consequently, ineffectual action is afforded in the organization of owners of the property along Church and Flatbush avs against the proposed straightening of the thoroughfare from Flatbush to Brooklyn av. They are opposed to the scheme for several reasons. The principal one is that the straightening will necessitate the destruction of all the shade trees along Church av, some of which are fifty years old. The courtyards and lawns will also be destroyed and cut away. Other objections are that the assessment of $8 a foot levied against each piece of property is considered excessive, and the area of assessment is confined to 100 feet on either side of the avenue. The Holy Cross Catholic Church is opposing the scheme on account of the assessment of $2,000 levied against the church property. The improvement was decided upon long since, and already the Commission of Estimate and Assessment are nearly through with their work, and it is rather late now to rise up in opposition.

DIVISION AV.—Albert W. and Elizabeth C. Both have sold to Helena Richter No. 161 Division av, a 3-sty building with store, on lot 21.5x97.5.

Street Opening Assessments.

It will be remembered that at the close of last year the Board of Public Improvements (now defunct) reduced a number of assessments for street openings; that is, they first fixed one percentage of the cost the property owners should pay, and, on reconsideration, another and a lower one. Their later action has been condemned by the present administration, particularly by Comptroller Grout, and the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, in whose province such matters now are, called a public hearing to discuss the matter of revising the action of the former Board of Public Improvements reducing these assessments. At the instance of some interested property owners, Justice Gaynor issued an injunction on the Board of Estimate restraining them from reviewing the assessments in question, and as the matter now stands action by the Board of Estimate will depend upon the final decision of the court as to whether they have power to review the action of the late Board of Public Improvements. The street openings affected with the first and second percentages of cost assessed on the property owners by the Board of Public Improvements in the several cases are given in the following table. It will be noticed that the first determination, represented by the first column of percentages, was to place the whole cost in each case on the properties benefited. Second thoughts, represented by the second column of percentages, greatly modified these decisions. The differences between the percentages in the last-mentioned column and 100 is the proportion of the cost that will have to be borne by the city if the later decisions of the Board of Public Improvements are sustained:

The Rapid Transit Railroad and Bergen Avenue.

Wm. Barclay Parsons has written a letter to the Board of Aldermen, which the Committee on Bridges and Tunnels now have under consideration, explaining the position of the Rapid Transit Commission toward Bergen av. In it he says:

The present route is laid out to pass from 149th st by a sharp reversed curve into Westchester av, and as soon as it reaches Westchester av, to begin to emerge by an open cut and then by a fill between the retaining walls, so as to become an elevated structure at Brook av, closing Bergen av.

With the present width of Westchester av, after the cut and fill are made in the centre of the street, and the trolley tracks moved outward so as to permit the cut and fill to be made, there will not be room enough for vehicles to pass comfortably between the sides of the trolley cars and the curb. The Rapid Transit Board, therefore, recommended to the Board of Aldermen that the sidewalks should be narrowed from 20 feet to 12 feet, thus widening the roadway 8 feet on either side of the trolley tracks. This will permit the line to be carried out according to the present route. On the other hand, a number of the property-owners have petitioned the Board to change the route to continue straight across 3d av, remaining under Bergen av, so as not to close it, and then by an easy curve across private property between 149th st and Westchester av, as above. This would close no streets and not interfere with any existing street traffic. The Board would have adopted this had it not been that the cost of right-of-way across the private property seemed to be extravagantly high, and, therefore, the Board requested the Board of Aldermen to widen the sidewalks on Westchester av.

The World of Building

The Labor Situation.

The trouble between the Journeymen Stonecutters' Union and the Machine Stoneworkers' Union over who should control the planing machines, hitherto controlled by the machine men, was decided at a meeting of the employers held this week in the favor of the Journeymen Stonecutters' Union, who have virtually controlled the situation for years. It is the general opinion of those familiar with the prevailing conditions that the Machine Stoneworkers' Union will accept the decision without dispute. Under the new arrangement the bosses will be compelled to pay skilled labor prices for what is considered by them unskilled labor.

It was decided at the Central Federated Union meeting this week that unions coming within its protection must cease interfering with one another. This decision arose as the result of a dispute between Delegates Foley, of the Tile Layers' Union and Laudermann, of the Brotherhood of Painters, over the declaration of the former that non-union men were working on an uptown building.

The Master Painters' Association has taken drastic action on the demand made by their workmen for an increase in wage from $3.50 to $4 a day for the plain painters and $4 to $4.50 for the decorators and goldleafers. Instead of agreeing to the increased scale, which the union wishes to go into effect on August 1, the master painters sent to the union a notice on June 9 saying the wages of the plain painters on June 16 would be reduced to $3. A delegate of the painters, who wishes not to be quoted, said that there were already about 500 men out and that a general strike would be ordered.

Henry D. Moeller, Secretary of the Master Painters' and Decorators' Association of New York City, said that, contrary to the reports which have been circulating in the city this week, the strained relations existing between the master painters and the journeymen have not resulted either in a strike on the part of the union or a notice of a reduction in wages on the part of the master painters. The notice of a reduction in wages has been to the cabinet varnishers. The varnishers' and the painters' unions amalgamated last winter, and as a result the varnishers' wage advanced from $2.50 a day to that of the painters', $3.50. The master cabinet makers find that under this scale of wage they are unable to compete with out-of-town houses, and as a consequence wish the cabinet varnishers to work for $3 a day, which is still 50 cents per day more than they have been receiving.

The iron work bosses throughout the city who are affected by the recent strike of their workmen report the loss of only a few days' work as a result. Enough new men applied for work in each case to carry on the business.

Builders, read Wants and Offers. See page 1098.

Material Market.

More life will be given to trade, it is hoped, before the end of the month by the delivery of iron and steel orders that have been held back. The brick and glass manufacturers, lumber, stone, slate, lime and paint dealers are all held back, more or less, because the iron situation has stayed building activity. Quotations have been held firmly, except for a slight weakness in some kinds of lumber.

D. C. Overbaugh, President of the Overbaugh-Camp Company, said to the Record and Guide representative: "The transportation question hurts business. It enters into building operations everywhere. The strike in the coal regions gives an uncertainty to the situation that is troublesome. Coal is an essential in almost every step of building, from the smelting works and the kilns to the power for the hoisting elevators. So far the season has not been up to the standard of preceding years. Not as many hotels and theatres as usual have been built in Manhattan. If the coal strike is settled and iron and steel deliveries become easier, I look for much improvement about July 1."

IRON AND STEEL.

Quiet reigns in the pig iron market, because there is little to be sold for the remainder of the year, and some furnace men, not wishing, as a rule, to open their books for next year's delivery, are practically out of the market for the present. The Pennsylvania furnaces are resuming work, which was interrupted by the strike.

Domestic iron brings higher prices than foreign, being sold at Pittsburg in such small quantities as may be had at $33 to $34. Foreign steel billets are quoted there at $33, but domestic steel is of superior quality and is preferred.

Muck bar is firm at $36.50 to $37 a ton, Pittsburg. One consumer bought 2,000 tons at the minimum price during the week.

Buyers say that a large proportion of the iron now sold is simply diverted from those who bought it long ago in order to deliver it to those who are willing to pay fancy prices for immediate delivery. In this way $22 to $22.50 is paid for No. 2 X foundry June and July shipments, and other grades bring proportionate prices.

No change in prices was made by the steel pool. Members continue to ask more than the official quotations, so that the agreement is of little effect at present.

An Eastern mill reports the sale of a quantity of plates at $2.40, New York.

Roll iron bars are sold on good orders with a concession from the fixed price of $1.80, Pittsburg.

There is a fair supply of English and German steel billets here. Orders are being placed abroad for extra low phosphorus, extra Bessemer and Scotch pig. Reports of American buyers are the cause of advances in the foreign market, which is sensitive even to rumors.

Iron ore shipments from Minnesota for the season up to June 1 were about 1,800,000 gross tons, the largest ever made from the State.

Cast iron segments in the Pennsylvania Railroad tunnel under the North River will be furnished by the Bethlehem Steel Company, which is building a special plant for the work.

In the port of New York during the week ending June 3 there were imported 5,225 tons of steel billets, 250 tons steel beams, 301 tons steel wire rods, 668 tons steel, 750 tons pig iron, 1,000 tons scrap iron, 270 tons ferromanganese, 10 tons structural steel.

The American Bridge Company is said to have booked work ahead as far as 1904. Other structural works, it is reported, have a large start in 1903 orders.

Contracts for structural material closed by the American Bridge Company in May aggregated 70,000 tons.

Few of the sheet and tube mills have employment beyond the summer months.

A maximum of $2.10 per 100 pounds of steel plate was reached in New York this week. This is 32 cents above the pool's minimum.

ZINC, LEAD, TIN, ETC.

Spot tin is scarce and prices have gone up. Arrivals in the first ten days of the month amounted to 1,254 tons and the amount afloat June 10 was 2,668 tons. During the last week of May 21,703 boxes of tin and black plates arrived.

Both production and consumption of copper are said to be larger than ever before.

Spelter has sold as high as 5 cents in New York this week, the market being agitated by reports of Western strikes.

A Joplin dispatch states that the highest price for zinc ore during the week was $34 per ton. Lead ore sold at $44.50 per ton. Last year, in the corresponding week, zinc sold at $27.50, lead at $47.50.

It is stated that the New York promoters of the lead pipe and sheet lead combination are encouraged by the progress being made. The banking firm in charge of financial details is having an examination made of the properties.

BRICK, STONE, CEMENT.

New brick has been available for some time in the New Jersey yards. Some of the manufacturers have almost exhausted their supply of coal and may not fire any more kilns until the coal strike is settled.

It is stated that the manufacture of artificial tile according to foreign patents is increasing in domestic works.

In some of the high grades of cements there is a pronounced scarcity, and dealers hardly accept any large contracts, because they cannot promise to deliver. Prices are about 25 cents per barrel higher than they were in April.

From Jackson, Miss., and other Southern points reports of brick famines are being received. Local manufacturers say there is no way of reaching the Southern market from here so as to leave a margin above the cost of transportation.

PAINT.

Prizes may be offered by the Pennsylvania Railroad for the best painted groups of houses in hamlets along the lines.

Paints and oils are selling steadily, with no changes in quotations.

Prices of common lime are firmer because of the strike in Glens Falls, and there is little to sell.

LUMBER.

In hardwoods the factories have orders on hand for the next three or four months. They are not as far behind as the iron men, but they are getting in almost the same situation. Prices are unusually stiff, and an advance at any time would not be unexpected. The associations fix the schedules, but the members say that the official rates are more in the nature of recommendations than anything else; that the real prices depend absolutely upon the law of supply and demand. A representative of H. Herrman said it is difficult to get the timber required to fill orders, and all the factories are rushed with work to an unprecedented extent. He ascribes this largely to the tendency toward a finer class of buildings in which hardwoods are used exclusively for finish and trim.

About 500 hardwood lumber men, with a capital aggregating $61,000,000, have organized in order to secure more consideration from the railroads on rates and classifications.

Orders for lathes can scarcely be placed for delivery before July 4. There are no lathes in the yard and none have arrived lately. The demand has exhausted the supply, and dealers are looking to the mills to relieve the situation.

Pine, spruce, hemlocks and ash are in fair demand, with no changes in quotations.

GLASS.

Jobbers and dealers are pretty well stocked up with window glass. An agent of the Pittsburg Glass Company described the situation as follows: "In the early part of the year much glass was sold at low prices. At present the demand is rather slight, and most of the orders that come in are for shorts. In the plate glass market prices are firm. Quotations this week are at discounts of 80 and 5 to 80 and 10. In Manhattan the demand for all kinds of glass is better than elsewhere, because of the tall buildings, which require a great deal of glass. The use of wire glass is increasing because architects, engineers and building authorities are recognizing more and more its valuable qualities in resisting fire."

A Pittsburg dispatch says that the American Window Glass Company has advanced prices from 12½ to 20% above the prices at which the National Window Glass Jobbers placed their last order for 500,000 boxes. The trade here has not heard officially of any advance.

It is announced that the American Window Glass Company is experimenting with a machine for blowing window glass, and if successful it will be installed in all its plants, decreasing the cost of production by doing away with the services of blowers, gatherers and snappers. The machine is now at Alexandria, Ind. President James A. Chambers says that $10,000,000 has been offered for the patents.

At Morgantown, W. Va., a new factory will be built for the manufacture of prismatic glass according to a new process invented by Prof. F. L. O. Wadsworth, of the Allegheny Observatory, reducing the cost to that of ordinary rolled plate.

Building in Other Cities.

Further reports received this week confirm the impression gathered from those published last week, that building throughout the country is not as active as it was at this time last year, strikes and lack of structural materials being the reasons most generally assigned for the difference.

Thus, Denver reports a total of $308,205, with the remark that this is a small month's amount, the average for the past six months having been $500,000, and that there is a general strike on.

Milwaukee issued 253 permits in May for work valued at $651,442. The previous month 286 permits were issued, and the estimated value of the work involved was $1,000,880.

Indianapolis issued 299 permits in May for work estimated to cost $270,057, to compare with 283 permits and a cost of $266,942 for May, 1901.

Allegheny, Pa., issued 83 permits last month for buildings, etc., to cost $207,950, as against 91 permits for buildings to cost $202,975 in May, 1901.

Owing to the increasing demand by architects and builders for antihydrine as a dampproofing and stainproofing coating, and the facilities being inadequate for handling the enormous supply required, T. Cockerill & Son have transferred their agency for the sale of the antihydrine in Greater New York to Geo. W. Grote, manufacturer and dealer in paints, oils, etc., No. 605-613 West 39th st, New York city, who will keep on hand at all times a large stock of the material and is prepared to serve the trade promptly upon terms that will be found in an advertisement in to-day's issue of the Record and Guide.

William E. Putnam, Jr., a graduate, Class of '98, of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston, drew the accepted designs of the Athenaeum Building, which will cost about $350,000. The exterior of the new building was particularly desired by the members of the society to be grand. An architectural treasure, to be one of the city's "sights," was the enthusiastic hope of thousands of Bostonians. A competition was decided upon, and thirty-two fame seekers entered. Young Putnam secured the prize, and at the outset of his career is the architect for what will be the home of a distinguished society.

The size of the well-equipped yards of the Thomas Krekeler Co., contractors for the removal of buildings and dealers in second-hand building materials, on Fulton and Herkimer sts and Vesta av, Brooklyn, have been doubled within a year, to better accommodate the extensive business carried on, until now they cover two acres of ground. The company recently removed an elevator building at the foot of Joralemon st, Brooklyn, and many other structures for the New York Dock Co. St. Mary's Church, covering a block at Erie and 2d sts, Jersey City, was also removed, owing to having been struck by a cyclone, and School No. 2, at Erie and 3d sts, Jersey City, a 4-sty building, 100x100, owing to structural weakness, was also demolished and removed. Builders and others requiring second-hand materials will find a large assortment of the best kinds in the yards of the Thomas Krekeler Co., whose office is at No. 2280 Fulton st, Brooklyn. Telephone, 269—East New York. The safe and rapid removal of old buildings will receive prompt attention.

A system of heating houses and cars, which combines the hot water and electrical systems, says the Boston "Transcript," has been devised by a New Haven inventor. It is claimed to represent high efficiency and to give a uniform and most pleasant heat. The heater itself is made up of but few parts and is yet durable and inexpensive. It is composed of castings which form the connecting heads and circulating flue or water chambers, around which are placed the electric coils of high resistance. The latter are perfectly insulated by lava and specially prepared cement. The heads of the castings are made to receive iron plates, which are held in place by screws, and form a casting around the coils. The heat is controlled by a switch made to use in connection with this heater, and with its use the current is reduced without the aid of any external resistance, thereby keeping all the heat within the heating apparatus. In the application of this system the electric water heater is placed in the cellar in place of the ordinary coal burner, the rest of the plant being the same as with the ordinary water heating installation. The controlling switch may be located in any part of the house that may be desired, from which point the temperature of the entire structure may be regulated.

THE AMERICAN GENTLEMEN'S TOWN HOUSE.

In no other city in the world can be found such up-to-date establishments as the New York residences of the rich. The telephone service, with connections in all parts of the house; the artistic little electric elevator, richly upholstered; the electric bells and lighting; the perfect ventilation equipment and the baths are some of the late additions to the modern city house. The thoroughly up-to-date home has a bathroom for every sleeping room. P. H. Gilbert, who has designed a large number of town houses for the wealthy, in speaking of the bathroom demand for new houses, cited a case which illustrates the point. "About fifteen years ago," said he, "I planned a costly dwelling for a wealthy client. It had one bathroom. Seven years ago I planned a home for the same gentleman which had three bathrooms, and now, this past year, I planned a modern residence for him which has fifteen sleeping rooms and fifteen bathrooms." The telephone has taken the place of the old speaking tube for inside use, and the modern house is equipped with both a local and regular telephone service, which is installed in chambers, library and halls. The electric "push-button" for servants and lighting are found throughout the house. The American basement is now the vogue in city homes, and Mr. Gilbert accounts for its popularity as follows: "The second floor, or floor above the entrance, might appropriately be termed the entertainment floor, and consists generally of hall, parlors, music and drawing rooms, dining room and library. On the occasion of a social function the entire floor is used. Should any one call at the house, their entrance onto the scene of the festivities would be from the elevator, if an invited guest, and if not a guest, they would be received below and the affair would not be interrupted by their calling. The chief objection to the American basement house comes from the servants, who, before its adoption, used the front basement room of the old high stoop house as a sitting room. Now the servants' sitting room is below the sidewalk surface, facing a narrow court, or in the interior of the basement floor.

Decisions By Art Commission.

At the meeting of the Art Commission, held in the City Hall last Tuesday, President John De Witt Warner presiding, a number of important matters were considered and passed upon by that body. The designs by H. K. Bush-Brown for dormer windows for the Hall of Records were approved, as were also the design and location for the wonderful Sherman monument, of which McKim, Mead and White are the architects and Augustus St. Gaudens the sculptor. This is to be located in the Circle, at 59th st and 5th av. The plans for the proposed extension and alterations of the County Court House which were submitted to the Commission by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment were next considered. After having been carefully investigated by a special committee of the Commission, which committee reported unfavorably, the Commission has for several reasons rejected the plans submitted. If the proposed plans were adopted practically all of the old building would be removed, with the exception of the court rooms and the offices on the extreme east and west sides. It was also proposed to construct an addition which would enlarge the area of the building by fully 50% and increase it in height to 181 feet. The new structure would extend 75 feet to the south beyond the main lines of the existing building, bringing its south wall to within 60 feet of the City Hall. The Commission is of the opinion that the contemplated encroachments upon the park area, especially upon the thoroughfares to the bridge, constitute a serious objection to the plans. Furthermore, the new structure would not harmonize with the part of the old building left standing. The Porter monument, by the Gorham Manufacturing Co., to be placed in Van Cortland Park, was passed upon favorably by the Commission, as was also the "Maine" monument, to be located in Longacre sq. Two new matters were brought before the Commission by the Mayor, viz.: plans for public comfort stations to be placed near Borough Hall in Brooklyn, and plans for a new court house to be built on Gates av, Brooklyn, at a cost of about $40,000.

City Contracts—Remission of Penalties.

BOARD OF ESTIMATE MUST RECOMMEND BY UNANIMOUS VOTE.

A question having arisen as to where the authority rests to remit penalties under contracts with the city and to extend the time within which such contracts must be completed, application was made to the Corporation Counsel for his opinion thereon. Mr. Rives, in response, wrote stating that the only provision of the charter which relates at all directly to the question is contained in Section 418, and is as follows: "It shall not be lawful for the Board of Aldermen to release any contractor with the city or with any of the departments, boards, bureaus or officers thereof from any fine or penalty incurred under his contract, save upon the unanimous recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. And it shall not be lawful for the Board of Aldermen to extend the time for the performance of any such contract save upon the unanimous recommendation of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment." He added:

* * * * I think the Legislature intended by Section 418 of the Charter above quoted to give the Board of Estimate and Apportionment authority to recommend to the Board of Aldermen, but only by unanimous vote, the remission of a charge against a contractor for overtime. Final action, however, rests with the Board of Aldermen. But it does not necessarily follow that the question of remitting overtime rests exclusively with the Board of Aldermen. The head of the Department having jurisdiction over a contract has power, under Section 356 of the Revised Ordinances, to extend a contractor's time so as virtually to remit or forgive any charge against him for overtime. I think the underlying motive for the enactment of Section 418 of the Charter was to provide for an appeal from the refusal of a head of Department to remit overtime and to guard against hasty or ill-considered action on the part of the Board of Aldermen upon such an appeal.

Section 418 of the Charter, therefore, may be deemed to permit an appeal to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment by a contractor who feels aggrieved at the refusal of a head of a department to extend his time for completing work under his contract so as to avoid a charge of overtime against him. While no procedure whereunder the matter may be brought to the attention of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment has been prescribed either by the Charter or ordinance of the Board of Aldermen, yet this omission does not prevent the Board from acting upon an application presented by a contractor. I think such an application may be presented to the Board either directly by a contractor or through the head of department having jurisdiction over the contract. * * *

Upon receipt of this opinion, the Board of Aldermen, at their last meeting, adopted the following resolution: "That all matters now pending before the Board looking to the remission of penalties for overtime be referred back for further examination and report to the heads of departments concerned." An ordinance was also introduced and referred to the Committee on Laws and Legislation to amend Section 356 of the revised ordinances by striking out the following language at the end thereof: "Provided, however, that the head of any department or officers aforesaid, by whom any such contract shall be made, may, on good and sufficient cause, extend for a reasonable time the period fixed for the completion thereof" and substituting in lieu thereof the following words: "Provided, however, that the time for the performance of any such contract may be extended by resolution of the Board of Aldermen, preceded by the unanimous recommendation of such action by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment."
